The general public has but slightly felt the effect of the freight tie-up. For the most part essentials of life have been brought through the congestion in time to save inconvenience and suffering but to the manufacturers waiting for deliveries of raw materials, and facilities to ship manufactured products, and especially to the building industry which has been all but halted for lack of structural materials, the situation is today just about as serious as it could possibly be and has disheartened an industry that for some time has had almost more than its share of economic burdens.

Inquiry among prominent building interests and dealers in materials of construction reveals a scarcity that is not approached in any other line of business. At the present time Portland cement is impossible to obtain. Dealers are entirely out of stock and have orders piling up on their books that will require months to fill. During the week cement in relatively small amounts has been brought in from the Hudson River mill district but the quantity available from this source can only supply but an insignificant part of the demand. Buyers have been clamoring for the product and in a number of instances premiums have been offered for any quantity obtainable. Reports from the Pennsylvania mills indicate that the producers have plenty of cement in stock and also a large amount of this material already on the rails. Shipment of mill stocks is impossible because of the lack of freight cars, and arrival of that in transit, some for many weeks, is prevented by the congestion in the yards in New Jersey.

During the past week New York dealers have been sending their motor trucks to various points in New Jersey, Newark, East Orange and even as far as New Brunswick, wherever they were able to locate cars consigned to them, and are trucking in the cement in order to do their part to relieve the tension of the builders.

This week a slight improvement was noticed in the condition of the situation in the Lehigh Valley railroad yard, in which a number of cars were moved, and material dealers are hopeful that they will be able to bring in cement over this line in quantity sufficient to supply the immediate demand.

Conditions in the lime market are substantially the same as those applying to Portland cement. Manufacturers would be able to supply any quantity necessary to fill the demand but are prevented from making shipments from producing points because of the shortage of freight cars. For the shipment of both lime and cement box cars are required in order to prevent deterioration by rain and dampness. These cars are most difficult to obtain at present and some producers are preparing to ship lime on flat cars, covering this perishable freight with tarpaulins, and making the consingees responsible for spoilage and also for the value of the covers. This will likely increase the cost of lime to the consumer but may possibly relieve the stringency to some extent. At this writing a number of operations nearing the final stages of completion are being held up because no lime is to be had and contractors are liable for severe penalties for non-completion within a specified period. For this reason they are willing to assume the risk of shipments in open cars for the time being.

Discussing the material shortage this week with a well-known dealer in this city, a representative of the Record and Guide was told that reports from freight agents of the various railroads now suffering from congested yard conditions indicate some measure of relief in at least ten days. This promise of relief is nothing to become optimistic over, however, as it would require at least six to eight weeks of the hardest kind of work on the part of the building material dealers to supply the current demand and fill up their reserve bins again, provided the railroads could commence the normal movement of freight within the specified period.

Office Building Near Columbus Circle to Cost $7,000,000

Twenty-Five Story Structure to House Automobile Accesory Interests—To Be Erected by Fred T. Ley & Co., Inc.

ACCORDING to the terms of negotiations completed recently one of the largest building projects to be undertaken since the war will be immediately launched. The structure will be an office building twenty-five stories in height, with basement and sub-basement, and will occupy the entire block front in 57th street between Broadway and Eighth avenue. The proposed building will have a frontage of 240 feet in 57th street and the Broadway and Eighth avenue exposures will be, respectively, 54 and 100 feet.

The Fisk Rubber Company will control the entire building under a lease for a term of years, using considerable space in the building for the principal executive offices and salesrooms, subletting whatever accommodations they do not utilize to tenants in the automobile and allied industries. Although there have been statements that a large improvement on this site was contemplated, it was not until the early part of this week that the construction of this building was absolutely assured.

Carrere & Hastings and R. H. Shreve, Architects.

PROJECTED BUILDING FOR FISK RUBBER COMPANY.

The ground and building will have a combined valuation of $7,050,000, on which S. W. Straus & Co. have underwritten a first mortgage 6 per cent. serial amortized bond issue of $5,000,000. The borrowing corporation is the 1767 Broadway Company, Inc., the principal stockholders of which are Fred T. Ley & Co., the Willys-Overland Rubber Company, the Willys Corporation and the Fisk Rubber Company. The building will be constructed under a general contract by Fred T. Ley & Co., Inc., 19 West 44th street, from plans and specifications prepared by Carrere & Hastings and R. H. Shreve, associated architects, 52 Vanderbilt avenue.

The building will be constructed with set-backs, in accordance with the new zoning law, thus giving a maximum of natural light and ventilation and adding to the imposing appearance of the structure. The first and second floors will be devoted to stores and salesrooms and the balance of the building will be planned as offices. The location is an especially attractive one. It is in the heart of the automobile district, where real estate values in recent years have shown a rapid increase and where the rental demand is heavy and of assured permanency.

The general trend of the development of the city is northward, 57th street and Broadway being the natural traffic arteries leading toward the upper West Side, and police traffic counts at Columbus Circle show a heavier automobile traffic at this point than at any other street intersection in the world. Contributing vitally to the growth and activity of the locality is the exceptional transportation facilities. Two subway lines are close at hand, while the Fifth avenue buses pass directly in front of the building, in addition to elevated and surface transportation.

S. W. Straus & Co. announce that nearly four-fifths of the $5,000,000 loan will be paid off and canceled out of the earnings of the property, through serial payments, prior to the final maturity, fifteen years. Under the terms of the lease the Fisk Rubber Company, after paying all taxes, insurance and operating expenses, this building will pay a net annual income of $600,000. This is twice the greatest annual interest charge and is more than ample to meet both the interest and the principle.

Two New High Class Brooklyn Apartments

Park Slope, in Brooklyn, has been selected as the location for two large multi-family dwellings that will be erected and owned under the co-operative plan that has lately grown so rapidly in favor in New York City. This type of ownership is no new thing in Brooklyn, a number of apartments having been operated successfully under this plan for some time past but the project now under consideration is important as it is to be started at a time when so much activity in this line has been noticeable, particularly in Manhattan, where during the past month or so a number of prominently located structures have been sold to tenants who will operate them under the group ownership plan.

The new co-operative apartments will be built from plans and under the direct supervision of Shampan & Shampan, architects, 50 Court street, for the Prospect Park West Apartments, Inc., owners, which includes in its list of share holders the following individuals: S. W. La Frentz, president of the American Surety Company; E. G. Horthorn, who is associated with a large copper smelting firm; C. P. Schlicke of the Hoffman LaRoche Chemical Works; C. W. Mannie, treasurer of the Remington Arms Co., L. M. Umsted, fiscal manager of the Commonwealth Corporation; and Charles S. Aronstam, who is the president of the owning company.

These apartments will be six stories in height, equipped with electric elevators and will be located at the northwest corner of Eighth avenue and Third street and the northwest corner of Prospect Park West and Third street, respectively. The latter site overlooks Prospect Park and will be particularly desirable. Both properties have ground dimensions of 95x97½ feet.

The final plans for these buildings are now nearing completion and it is the intention of the architects to award contracts as soon as possible in order that construction may be finished in as short a time as is compatible with good building practice. Both houses will be equipped with the most modern labor saving and safety devices in order that the servant problem may be reduced to the minimum.

Actual Construction Work Under Way May 1, in Bronx

Total Living Quarters Provided Will Accommodate Less Than 9,000 People—Aggregate Cost Is $13,843,100

PATRICK J. REVILLE, Superintendent of Buildings, Borough of the Bronx, has prepared for the Record and Guide a statement showing the actual construction in that section of the city under way on May 1. The showing is of especial interest with reference to what is being done to relieve the housing shortage.

There are now under construction 33 apartment houses which will furnish homes for 1,362 families, or approximately 7,600 people at an estimate cost of $4,375,000. The number of one and two-family houses is 302, with accommodations for 384 families, costing $2,240,000. These will care for another 1,900 people, so that the total increase in housing aggregates space for less than 9,000 people.

The details relating to apartment houses follows:

Public garages being built number 30 at a cost of $813,500, while there are 48 private garages under construction which will cost $59,950. In addition to the foregoing items there are 14 miscellaneous buildings under way to cost $35,550.

The total work actually under construction on May 1 in the Bronx aggregates 500 buildings to cost $13,843,100.

The building program disclosed by the preceding figures does not seem to indicate any marked improvement in the rental situation this summer. The probabilities are that all rents will be advanced with the new leases made October 1. There is not much probability that with labor and the price of building materials so uncertain that building can catch up with the demand for some time.

Gains Noted in Newly Projected Residential Building

Figures of F. W. Dodge Company Indicate No Recession of Planning Because of Serious Structural Material Shortage

STEADY and consistent improvement in the volume of proposed building and engineering construction has been noted during the past month or more in the territory, including all of New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton. The significant point in connection with this is the fact that architects and engineers are rapidly maturing their plans for new structural operations despite the growing scarcity of building materials and supplies in the Metropolitan district and the recent advances in both wages and material costs that have substantially increased construction costs. It is quite evident that the demand for new buildings of practically every type and description has lost none of its intensity and that prospective builders have not as yet been frightened by mounting costs. At the present moment there is a vast amount of new construction already under contract that will be started just as soon as the building material supply situation readjusts itself so that contractors may be assured of a steady supply of essentials as the work proceeds.

According to figures prepared by the F. W. Dodge Company it is shown that during the week of May 1 to 7 inclusive a total of 536 new building and engineering projects were reported as being planned by architects and engineers in this territory. This construction will involve an outlay of approximately $26,394,500. During the same week 277 contracts were awarded that call for a total expenditure of $18,637,400. In connection with these figures it is well to note the growing sums set apart for residential construction; projected housing accommodations being valued at $8,642,900 and contracts actually placed for buildings of this character to the extent of $4,802,300.

Among the 536 operations for which plans were announced during the week of May 1 to 7 were included 119 business buildings, $4,909,700; 12 educational projects of different types, $1,208,100; 6 hospitals and institutions, $850,000; 44 factory and industrial buildings, $3,664,000; 7 public buildings, $85,000; 50 public works and public utilities, $5,360,300; 4 religious and memorial projects, $75,000; 275 residential operations including apartments, flats and tenements and one and two-family dwellings, $8,642,900, and 19 special and recreational buildings, $1,599,500.

The list of 277 operations for which contracts were awarded during the week is grouped as follows: 68 business buildings such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $5,108,500; 25 educational projects, $2,011,000; 2 hospitals and institutions, $9,700; 23 factory and industrial projects, $1,961,400; 6 public buildings, $23,400; 34 public works and public utilities, $3,720,100; 4 religious and memorial projects, $300,000; 107 residential operations of various types, $4,802,300, and 8 social and recreational projects, $701,000.

This is a highly specialized line, and far more than a superficial knowledge is required—an intimate and thorough fund of information must be at command if the trade is to be served in the right way. Mr. Oldershaw was formerly an official of the Universal Compound Co., which he organized with W. E. G. Mitchell, vice-president of the Mitchell-Rand Manufacturing Co., and William Zaisser; this company engaged in the sale of various waterproofing compounds as manufactured by the Mitchell-Rand company. The operations in the field were under the direct supervision of Mr. Oldershaw. The Mitchell-Rand Manufacturing Co. is now putting out these same compounds and taking contracts direct for their application in waterproofing and dampprofing work. The products include Universal Dampproof Compound, Universal Waterproof Plastic, Exhydroplastic, etc. In assuming direct charge and responsibility for this branch of the Mitchell-Rand Mfg. Co. business, Mr. Oldershaw will continue in his intimate and friendly relations with those in the trade and the same satisfaction in work executed is assured.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

BUILDING activity during the past week has been largely confined to those jobs about the city that were fully supplied with materials already delivered and the remainder of the operations have been forced to shut down for the time being owing to the material shortage. The freight congestion is the prime factor responsible for the condition, and although prompt relief is promised it does not seem as though the freight situation can be untangled for some weeks to come unless drastic steps are taken immediately. Meanwhile the building industry is standing by at a time when it should be engaged to its fullest capacity, and unless some relief is speedily accomplished the best part of the current building year will be wasted and hope of relieving the housing famine for another year will be lost. There is a vast amount of construction planned and ready to proceed, with cost a secondary consideration, but as it cannot go ahead until materials are available the entire situation reverts back to the transportation situation.

Common Brick—The local wholesale market for Hudson River common brick is somewhat heavy because the shortage of cement and lime has tied up a large amount of active construction and thereby shut off the demand for brick. Another cause for this condition is the fact that manufacturers have been making heavy shipments of brick to New York in order to utilize the men who have come to the yards to start the season's manufacturing and who have been put to loading barges pending the time the yards are in a condition to commence brick making. Although there is a large amount of brick on the market prices are holding firmly to the $25 level, and there are some producers who are exerting pressure in favor of advanced common brick prices, but it is the general feeling of the market that the common brick market will continue to be stabilized at the existing level for some time to come. Brick producers report that for the most part the yards along the Hudson River are now in shape to start brickmaking. There is likely to be a shortage of labor, however, that will curtail the output to a large extent.

Summary—Transactions in the North River common brick market for the week ending Friday, May 14, 1920: Condition of market: demand lighter; prices firm and unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $25 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 27; sales, 28. Distribution: Manhattan, 13; Bronx, 1; Brooklyn, 8; New Jersey points, 4; Astoria, 2. Remaining unsold, 24.

Portland Cement—The supply situation continues serious and dealers feel hopeless in the face of the great demand for this material. There is a vast amount of Portland cement available at the mills but freight cars for its transportation to this city are lacking, and the congestion on the lines entering New York is such that what cement is now in transit is being held up all along the lines. During the past week some insignificant shipments have arrived from the Hudson River mills, but this was only sufficient to aggravate the demand. It has been said that the Lehigh Valley Railroad has cleared up its congestion and it is hoped that cement can be brought through on this road. The advance in price has not affected the demand, and it is not likely to, as prospective builders are now willing to pay practically any price within reason for materials in order to get their structures completed and rented at the existing favorable rates.

Roofing and Building Papers—Demand for these materials have slowed down to some extent, but dealers anticipate increased business just as soon as the freight congestion is relieved and essential building supplies are released so that new construction, already planned and in a number of instances under contract, will be able to proceed. Because of the serious shortage of cement, lime and other commodies prospective builders have been afraid to go ahead with their projects, and this is the prime reason for the reduced volume of business in this line. Prices vary considerable according to memand and dealers' stocks.

Lumber—Tension in both wholesale and retail branches of this market has reduced somewhat because building operations have been halted by the general scarcity of building materials and also because of the fact that stocks are in better shape today than they have been for months past. A number of lumber producers have been shipping by water, and the arrival of these new supplies coupled with the slower demand has relieved the local lumber market of much of its recent intensity. Prices are well sustained, however, and there is no immediate prospect of a recession from the levels now established, as it is felt that the current market quietude is but a reflection of the general building attitude, and that just as soon as all materials are available in quantity the building movement will be revived and that all interests concerned will return to activity with renewed vigor.

Electrical Supplies—Jobbers report favorable business conditions with better volume of sales because supplies have become more easily available from the producers. The recent arrival of quantities of conduit, armored cable, wire and porcelain fittings has made it possible for local dealers to take care of considerable new business. Demand for electrical apparatus and supplies is strengthening and will be much heavier just as soon as the new construction which is now being held up because of material shortages is able to proceed. From all accounts the outlook, provided the freight congestion is speedily relieved, is excellent. Prices are generally firm but with slight advance announced in certain lines.

Structural Steel—Locally the steel situation is quiet and the condition is wholly the result of the freight congestion. There are many plans fully matured for new building and engineering projects that will require fabricated material in vast tonnages, but architects and engineers are holding them in abeyance until such time as material deliveries of all kinds are assured. At present fabricators are very short of material and are unable to go ahead with the work already under contract. Prices are firm.

Nails—There is no change in the nail situation, and the outlook for improvement in the near future is not bright. Jobbers are pessimistic as they are being forced to turn away large amount of profitable business because they have no stocks and no idea when supplies will be available. The demand is heavy for both cut and wire nails and dealers would be able to immediately dispose of all they get from the mills on current orders were conditions better, but, as it is, with a vast amount of business already on the books that must receive preference when supplies are to be had, the prospects are not comforting to the man who has not already registered his orders. Current prices in this district vary considerably, and range from $4.25 to $8 base per keg for wire nails and from $7.75 to $9.50 base per keg for cut nails, but even at these prices the supply is limited to scattered lots.

Cast Iron Pipe—Both orders and inquiries for this material have slowed down during the past week, but the manufacturers are satisfied, as this respite will permit them to get caught up with back orders, which have been exceptionally heavy during the month. Although municipal business has been lighter this season than was anticipated last winter, private buying has been active and is likely to continue so throughout the balance of the season. Prices are firm and unchanged, with New York quotations $76.30 per ton for 6 in. and heavier; $79.30 for 4 in. Class A and gas pipe, $2 per ton additional.

Linseed Oil—The demand for this commodity is not particularly brisk and, as a rule, the crushers are overloaded with stock. The condition is largely brought about by the limited volume of active construction resulting from the serious freight tie-up and the fact that a large amount of repair work is being held in abeyance in the hope of a general reduction in material prices. Although at present linseed oil prices are holding firmly it is anticipated that some reduction from the current levels will occur before summer.

Hollow Tile—The supply situation is serious; local dealers in terra cotta blocks, flue lining, and other similar items are entirely cleaned out of reserve stock and orders are accumulating on the books that will require weeks of the hardest kind of work to fill. Manufacturers are generally in a position to supply the demand, but are prevented from relieving the local famine because no freight cars are available to transport this from its place of manufacture to a point where it can be trucked by material dealers.

Seeking a Way Out

Drastic action has become the order of the day in dealing with the industrial situation, not only here in the metropolitan district but throughout the country. Conditions which for a long time were disconcerting have become acute. That often abused but always useful class of citizens, known as the Captains of Industry, are grappling earnestly with a situation which, if it is to be righted, will require the best thought and planning and energy of which these leaders are capable.

Building construction has been greatly retarded and many industries have had to stop through lack of materials. The railroads, almost completely demoralized when they were turned back to their owners by the government, have been unable to correct with sufficient promptness the deplorable conditions created under government control. Not only were the lines and equipment of the railroads in sorry condition when government control ended, but the railroad employes were a thoroughly-dissatisfied lot. They insist, despite former increases, that unless they get higher wages their families cannot cope with the high cost of living. Higher wages means higher transportation charges and at the end of the chain there must be further additions to the cost of living.

But, perplexing as is this phase of the situation, the developments of the last few days have shown that unless conditions are to go from bad to worse there must be an immediate resumption of shipping even with the unsatisfactory facilities available. The managers of the big trunk lines are now engaged in a commendable effort to rush thousands of empty freight cars from points where they are not needed to other points where they can be used for the hauling of steel and coal and other materials which must be had without further delay in many important industrial centers. Embargoes on certain classes of freight are being declared for a short period in the effort to ease up this situation. The fact that industrial leaders regard such plans as vital merely serves to indicate the extent to which the situation has been allowed to get out of hand.

A diverting development has been the wave of price reductions in retail stores which has swept over the country. Suddenly it has become possible to buy clothing and shoes and other wearing apparel at very much lower prices than have prevailed since the United States entered the World War. But thus far price reductions have not affected the high cost of food. Until food products can be supplied in larger quantities, or at least until such time as the supply can be transported to the centres of population, the net gain to the public at large must remain a matter of doubt.

One encouraging sign of the times is the evident resolve of the public to buy nothing but absolute necessities while the present high prices continue. To a lack of interest on the part of the buying public is attributed by some authorities the sudden decision of retailers to reduce their prices on wearing apparel. If the fact becomes established that the people will not buy goods at the high prices recently prevailing then retailers either will have to dispose of their stocks at lower prices or else go out of business. That would indicate the beginning of the end of the era of high prices.

Leaders in American industry and finance always have been equal to solving the nation's problems in the past, and it would seem the part of wisdom to assume that they will be able in time to work out the present problems, serious as they have become. The real difficulty of the present situation, beyond a doubt, is that our industrial and financial captains did not take hold of the situation sooner. Official incompetence and lack of foresight must prove a very serious handicap to overcome as promptly as existing conditions call for.

Realty Values Maintained

Just because the banks are tightening up their purse strings when automobile buyers and other luxury seekers ask for loans is no reason why those interested in real estate should join the calamity chorus. The banks have been bears on realty investments for several years, so that their present reported conservatism in the matter of business credits has no new terrors for the building industry or for those trafficing in real estate. Tight money has not had so much to do with holding back a building boom as have wage troubles, lack of workmen, scarcity and high cost of material due largely to transportation difficulties and threats of unfriendly legislation. Whenever the unions would let the men work, and when there were enough of them, and when brick and cement and steel and lumber were to be had the money to start work seemed to come from somewhere. Not that more money would not have made things look brighter, but it is still a fact that a considerable amount of building has been done in New York and its immediate environs whenever conditions other than those of financing have permitted.

So it is hardly worth while for men in the building and real estate fields to allow themselves to become pessimistic over the future possibilities when there are so many reasons for confidence.

Notably May 1 has passed without either a widespread rent strike or a gigantic hegira of renters to other localities leaving many vacancies in apartments, tenements and houses. Nobody is sleeping on the sidewalks of New York and no livable room is unoccupied. There is doubling up, uncomfortable crowding, disagreeable inconveniences—but a grin-and-bear-it attitude on the part of most everybody, because it is apparent that neither landlords nor builders nor financiers are entirely responsible for the existing state of affairs, and a sane consciousness exists that, given time, conditions will become better.

Real estate owners were fearful that prohibition would destroy values of many pieces of property formerly occupied by saloons. Whatever may be said for or against prohibition itself it is a fact that reports received from time to time by the Record and Guide show the contrary has been more often true, and the probability is that with the experience of the last year to guide them owners of saloon buildings throughout the city will be able to obtain greater returns than before July 1, 1919. Certainly the appearance of the city, where these saloons have been remodelled into stores and restaurants, has been enhanced, and this cannot but have a helpful influence on realty values in the neighborhood.

The new laws passed by the last legislature to regulate rentals have proved to be not so detrimental to the landlords as was feared. They must have a deterrent effect on new building, but it is likely that the demand for new buildings will be so insistent and the returns from proper investments in new buildings so large that the new laws will not in themselves prevent construction work on a large scale when other condtiions are favorable.

Labor in the building trades seems, at last, to be in a satisfied mood if only materials can be had. And the government and the railroads are working to lift the congestion of freight. Meantime, the Mayor, the Governor and the legislatures of New York and New Jersey have sanctioned the measures necessary to start the vehicular tunnel under the Hudson and to improve the harbor of New York.

There is so much to be said of things that are moving in a way to help the building and real estate situation in the metropolis that it is unwise to worry about the flurry in Wall Street or the panicky perturbations of the merchants of the country. They have been making so much money that they can stand a little "healthy reaction," and with loans to profiteering speculators curbed there may be money for the legitimate business of building and realty.

Vehicular Tunnel and Harbor Improvements Now Provided For

[Special to the Record and Guide.]

Albany, May 20.

AMONG the bills accepted by Mayor Hylan and sent back to the Governor for final action are the Walters' measure appropriating $2,000,000 for the New York-New Jersey vehicular tunnel and the Hamill bill providing that the total expense of widening Elm street, Manhattan, shall be borne by the city.

Another bill accepted by the Mayor and immediately signed by the Governor is the Lynch measure permitting the New York City dock commissioner to erect warehouses, coal pockets and other structures within the lines of any marginal wharf or street. This bill will permit the dock commissioner to lay out and put into effect a railroad terminal with warehouses in connection with the city's $25,000,000 pier development.

The New York City Board of Estimate is authorized to direct the altering and closing of such streets and thoroughfares as may be necessary to aid in the construction of the New York-New Jersey vehicular tunnel and to make such streets conform to the grading growing out of such improvement when completed, under the terms of another bill signed by the Governor.

The Governor signed the Dowling bill appropriating $2,500,000 so as to enable the state to furnish the United States with the right of way necessary for the rectification of the bend in the Harlem Ship Canal. In a memorandum accompanying the approval of this bill the Governor declared that the appropriation will warrant the immediate undertaking of the work of improving the Harlem River and the completion of a barge canal terminal at 136th street and the East River, provision for which was made in 1911. The work on this terminal is contingent upon the improvement of the river.

Dock Commissioner Murray Hulbert recently appeared before the Governor in the interest of this bill and stated that the commerce of the Harlem River is exceeded only by the combined foreign and domestic commerce of one other port on the Atlantic seaboard, namely, Philadelphia. Last year it amounted to $1,700,000,000, and when the barge canal is put in full operation and the projected improvements are made, it will doubtless greatly exceed this amount, the Commissioner said.

Under the Knight bill, signed by the Governor, all variations from rules or regulations of the State Industrial Commission affecting construction or alteration of buildings used for manufacturing purposes in New York City will be published in the City Record. Where such variations affect buildings outside of New York City publication will be made in the bulletin issued by the Industrial Commission.

The New York City Board of Assessors may proceed to make awards for damages growing out of the grading of Atlantic avenue in Brooklyn, under a bill recently accepted by Mayor Hylan, and signed by the Governor this week.

Another bill approved by the Governor is the Sutherland measure amending Section 951 of the Greater New York Charter relative to awards of damages to lands and buildings arising from grading of streets. Under this bill the word "lessee" is defined to include only such persons whose leases do not expire in less than three years from date of completion of improvement and acceptance by the city, instead of ten years as at present. Specific provision is made to exclude from the application of this new law any claims for damages resulting from grade changes which are now pending before the assessors.

Governor Smith has also signed the Karle bill accepted by Mayor Hylan last week, which provides for the inclusion of computations for assessments for city improvements all property within the area of benefit, notwithstanding statutory exemptions from such assessments.

Following Mayor Hylan's acceptance of the Cotillo Board of Purchase bill, Governor Smith signed the measure this week. The board created by this bill has its counterpart in the State Board of Purchase, which has been operating now for two years at a saving to the state in the cost of supplies estimated by the State Comproller's office at 30 per cent. a year. Sponsors for this bill claimed that it would appreciably cut down supply costs for New York City by systematizing purchase and distribution of the necessities of the various institutions, boards, departments and commissions.

Under the Cotillo bill the Mayor is directed to appoint three New York City commissioners or department heads to constitute the Board of Purchase. One of these he shall designate as chairman. They will serve without compensation, but may name a secretary who may be paid as well as other necessary employees. The board shall make rules and regulations for the purchase and storage of supplies and equipment for all city departments, boards, bureaus and commissions. These regulations will be subject to approval by the Corporation Counsel.

The board may advertise for proposals or bids for furnishing materials, supplies and equipment under contract at public letting, but when a real emergency exists and the best interests of the city can be more advantageously served, the board may obtain bids without advertising, "and may combine various quantities of similar materials or supples requred by two or more departments, boards, bureaus or offices for the purpose of economical and judicial purchasing."

Computing Depreciation of Real Estate for Income Tax

Present Methods May Result in Taxation as Income of Receipts from Realty Which Should Be Considered as Return of Investment

BY JOHN W. ROBERTS, C. P. A., N. C.

[The author of this article, after many years of accounting experience, served during the war as Assistant Reviewer of Excess Profits Taxes in the Bureau of Internal Revenue at Washington, examining returns, reviewing the findings of Revenue Agents, and hearing taxpayers' appeals. Since then he has been specializing in income tax work, and is now associated with the accounting firm of Lawrence Scudder & Company.]

UNDER the present heavy income taxes owners of property and those contemplating building should carefully consider whether the usual methods of computing depreciation are adequate, or whether some other method, not now generally applied to buildings, is founded on sounder logic and better adapted to conserve their interest. The Supreme Court has shown in the stocks dividend case a disposition to limit income taxation to taxation of real income. The question to be determined here is to what extent the high rentals of the next few years are real income, and to what extent they constitute return of capital.

New York and other congested centres are confronted with an unprecedented situation in the real estate market. The demand for apartments and space in other buildings is abnormal. All of our cities are in need of housing facilities. The rise in rentals can only be checked by new construction and every man who promptly builds will be rendering a substantial service to the public which should be well recompensed in the high rentals he may command before construction reaches the point where the demand will be fully supplied. If after it is supplied, a man misjudges the situation and continues to build structures that are not needed, he will be rendering the public a dis-service in wasting labor and material and will be heavily punished for it by the operation of natural laws.

The law of supply and demand will inevitably work toward a condition where the contending forces will be equalized and where the investor in real estate will make only a normal and reasonable profit. But the pendulum never stops still at the bottom of its swing; its momentum carries it past the point of equilibrium. And so with the building problem. It is almost certain that the present abnormal profits will in the course of a few years turn to sub-normal profits or even losses. The important thing for every man contemplating building to consider is the time when this change will occur.

The risks involved are great, but the immediate outlook is so attractive that many feel they should be able to recoup enough in the first two or three years to cover a large part of the cost of the building. The greatest of these risks is that after the present building boom has subsided construction costs may fall. No one can with confidence predict how the value of the dollar will fluctuate in the next ten years, nor what may be accomplished by inventions in construction methods. If construction costs should ever fall to their pre-war levels, the values of buildings constructed at present costs would also fall, and the rentals thereafter could be expected to be a fair return, not on the cost but on the reduced value only. A prospective investor might anticipate a net return on his investment of 40% in each of the first three years, nothing in the next three years and 4% thereafter, and this outlook might appeal to him as worth while.

But here the income tax comes into play. Let us assume that the building is such as should last at least fifty years, and that 2% has been taken as depreciation in making the above forecast of profits. The profits would be subject to both normal and surtaxes, or, in the case of a corporation, to normal and profits taxes and to surtaxes on each portion as is declared as dividends. How heavy these taxes would be would depend on so many variable factors that each case would have to be determined separately. But in the extreme cases running into the highest profits tax and surtax rates the federal and state taxes might amount to nearly 84.16% of the income. If they should amount to 60%, the tax on the 40% profits of the first year would amount to 24% of the property cost, leaving only 16% to the investor, so the proposition boils down to the prospect of 16% each year for three years, nothing for the next three years and 4% thereafter—a decidedly poor prospect considering the risks involved and the many possibilities of lucrative investment outside of the real estate field.

To make new construction in the present market safe and profitable for those who already have large incomes, enormous immediate returns are essential under existing tax laws. And not only will the public have to pay enormously high rentals on new buildings, but on all the old buildings as well. This unfortunate condition is only aggravated if any portion of the rentals which in reality is a return of capital is subjected to taxation as if it were income.

The investor assumed above, to whom the prospect looks favorable, has in mind that the profits of the first three years will operate partly as a repayment of his investment. The trouble is that it cannot so operate unless the amount which he considers as a return of investment can be taken as a deduction from his income as depreciation. If his theory is right that a large portion of it is a return of investment, then he would be suffering as unjustly as would a man who loaned his money on the understanding that one-half of it should be paid back in three years, if the Government were to take the position that the amount received was income rather than repayment of principal. It comes down therefore to a question of fact as to the amount of his income and this question is dependent mainly on that of depreciation.

The Federal Income Tax Law permits "a reasonable allowance for exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence." The word "depreciation" was not used lest it might be assumed that fluctuations or even permanent declines in market value of property would be permitted as a deduction. The debates in Congress and the resulting wording of the law make it clear that no such adjustment to market values will be permitted as a deduction from taxable income. Although depreciation from the market standpoint is excluded, the words "exhaustion, wear and tear" and "obsolescence" cover depreciation in its ordinary accounting sense.

The theory on which the law is based is that in the absence of an actual bona fide sale it is difficut to determine a market value, and that any appraisal is debatable, reflecting, as it does, an opinion that may have been influenced by ulterior motives and at all events is subject to the personal equation of the appraiser. And an error of 10% in the appraisal may result in an error of 200% or 300% in the amount of a year's deduction for depreciation. Also if a deduction from income for depreciation were allowed when the appraised value had declined it would only be logical and fair to rule that an increase in the appraised value should be added to income. It is evident, therefore, that the appraisal basis would be unsatisfactory in the administration of the law and the wording adopted by Congress was supported by the logic of the situation.

The theory adopted was rather that the cost of any plant property is in the long run an expense incurred to produce the income. If a building is erected that should stand for 50 years and then be worthless, it is evident that to find the net income of the 50 years it would be necessary to deduct from the total rentals received, not only the total expenses of operation and maintenance but also the cost of the building. Depreciation is merely a plan for equitably apportioning that cost year by year so as to cover it during the life of the building.

The two methods most frequently adopted are what are known as the straight line and the declining balance method. In the first of these the cost less the salvage value at the end of the period is divided by the number of years of useful life to find the annual instalment for depreciation. The amount of this instalment is the same year after year. In the declining balance method a percentage rate is found, which, if applied each year to the cost less the accumulated depreciation, will, at the end of the useful life of the asset, bring its value down to salvage value. Under this method the annual depreciation charges are larger at first and gradually decrease.

Other methods, however, are permissible. The Regulations (Regulations 45, Article 165) state that "the capital sum tobe replaced should be charged off over the useful life of the property either in equal annual instalments or in accordance with any other recognized trade practice, such as an apportionment of the capital sum over units of production. Whatever plan or method of apportionment is adopted must be reasonable and should be described in the return."

The man who builds at present builds primarily for the returns he expects in the next three or four years. It is therefore logical to assign against the profits of the first three or four years much heavier charges than against the later years. Assuming again the forecast of profits of 40% per year for the first three years, nothing for the next three and 4% thereafter, and adding thereto the depreciation so as to get the profits before provision for depreciation, then of the total profits for the 50 years 32% would fall in the first three and yet agains those three only 6% of the cost of the building would be applied under the straight line method and 12.9% under the declining balance method. If, under the theory which the law and regulations adopt, the cost of the building is an expense incurred to produce the income of the 50 years, it should follow that 32% of the cost should be considered as chargeable against the income of the first three years. This would make it about 11% per year. Such a percentage is unusual, but so are the conditions which are actually faced.

Although in principle some method like the foregoing would seem to offer the nearest approach to justice, it is hardly likely to be permitted by the Treasury Department, on the ground that if every taxpayer is permitted to estimate for himself the total future profits year by year for the life of the asset, his latitude would be almost unlimited and he would always estimate them in such a manner as to avoid all taxation for perhaps ten years. Cannot this difficulty be overcome by reducing the method to one susceptible of better actuarial proof? Let us assume that the building is an apartment house costing $100,000 with an expected life of 50 years and a residual value of $10,000, and that it can be proved that the average net return on the investment in similar buildings under normal pre-war conditions was 6% after allowing for $1,800 depreciation and $4,000 for expenses including repairs and property taxes. It is not unreasonable to expect that the future net return will in the long run approximate the same 6%. From this it may be reasoned that for the 50 years the aggregate rentals will amount to $457,700 and the aggregate depreciation to $90,000. This would show that for every dollar of rentals received a provision should be made for $0.1966 of depreciation.

The regulations permit an apportionment of the charge "either in equal annual instalments or in accordance with any other recognized trade practice, such as an apportionment of the capital sum over units of production."

Even here, however, the question arises as to whether it is a "recognized trade practice." The Treasury Department may be expected to combat it.

In the recent stock dividend case, the Supreme Court did not permit a possible loss of revenue to influence its decision as to the question of fact whether stock dividends are or are not income. The question of depreciation also is a question of fact as to what is and what is not income, and the question whether the public revenue would be increased or diminished should not enter in.

The principles involved were to a large extent admitted by Congress in that the Revenue Act of 1918 contained certain provisions for amortization of war facilities that were based on the belief that certain kinds of property, though not worn out, would suffer a sharp decline in value and earning power at the conclusion of hostilities, and that consequently justice could not be done without allowing something more than ordinary depreciation. It is interesting to note that the Treasury Department itself, in Article 185, of Regulations 45, chose, as the proper basis for allocating the loss to the respective taxable years, the proportion of net income in the amortization period attributable to those years. This may be described as a net income unit basis, which is so closely related to the rental unit basis here advocated in the depreciation of rented buildings that the principles claimed are strongly substantiated.

If the rentals for the 50 years should work out approximately in accordance with the forecasts assumed above, the annual amounts to be taken as depreciation under the different methods on an asset costing $100,000, and with a residual value of $10,000 after 50 years life, would compare about as follows:

Annual Amounts of Depreciation.

	Straight Line Method	Declining Balance Method	Rental Unit Method
1st year	$1,800	$4,500	$9,043
2nd year	1,800	4,297	9,043
3rd year	1,800	4,104	9,043
4th year	1,800	3,919	1,180
5th year	1,800	3,743	1,180
6th year	1,800	3,575	1,180
7th year	1,800	3,414	1,966
8th year	1,800	3,260	1,966
9th year	1,800	3,113	1,966
10th year	1,800	2,973	1,966
15th year	1,800	2,325	1,966
20th year	1,800	1,880	1,966
30th year	1,800	1,180	1,966
40th year	1,800	745	....
50th year	1,800	470	....
60th year	....	297	....

A word of caution is needed with regard to the figures and percentages used above. They have been assumed for purposes of illustration only, and have not been based on proved conditions. They might not apply to any particular case, since the conditions are bound to vary. The facts in each case would have to be established before any rates could be determined. It is believed, however, that the assumptions made are in approximate conformity with the general trend of events, and at any rate they serve to point out the weakness of the usual methods and the advantages of the production unit method.

Construction of buildings in normal pre-war times was about as safe as any enterprise could be. It was then a true investment. But construction now is more a speculation,

Grand Union Hotel Site To Be Sold at Auction This Week

Plot Consists of Eighteen City Lots on Park Avenue from 41st to 42d Streets in the Grand Central Station Zone

SIX years ago this month, on May 2, 1914, the old Grand Union Hotel was closed. Now, on Wednesday, May 26, at 12 o'clock noon, in the Real Estate Exchange Salesroom, 14 Vesey street, the acre and a fraction of land on which the old hotel stood—one of the most valuable vacant parcels in Manhattan—is to be sold at public auction by Henry Brady, auctioneer, on behalf of the City of New York, by order of John H. Delaney, Transit Construction Commissioner.

The Grand Union Hotel site, occupying the block front on the east side of Park avenue, 41st to 42d street, and having an area of 45,425 square feet, equivalent to about eighteen city lots, is generally conceded to be the most desirable plot of unimproved real estate in the heart of New York, which means the world. The plot extends 197.6 feet in Park avenue, 230 feet in both East 41st and 42d streets. It is to be sold subject to under-surface easement for city transit lines, the area of which is approximately 20,500 square feet. Over and surrounding this underground right of way the city has constructed foundations capable of sustaining a 25-story building.

The Grand Union Hotel was opened in 1868 as the Westchester Hotel, a comparatively small structure, which occupied the corner. The original name subsequently was changed to the Reunion Hotel and then to the Grand Union.

Early in the '70s the father of Samuel T. Shaw, who, with Simeon Ford, was one of the two owners of the Grand Union, bought the property adjacent to the Westchester Hotel, and later on the hotel site itself. Mr. Shaw, senior, although not a hotel man, kept the Westchester open and from time to time built additions to it. Simeon Ford, who was famous as an after-dinner speaker, a collector of sporting and old New York prints, married a daughter of the elder Shaw in 1883 and became one of the proprietors of the hotel. Samuel P. Shaw, the other proprietor, was an enthusiastic collector of paintings by American artists.

It was a tradition of the old Grand Union that the key to the hotel was thrown away the day the house opened. No key was to be found the night of the closing and Simeon Ford said he "never remembered having had one made."

In speaking recently of the forthcoming sale and of the sacrifice represented in disposing of the various "subway" properties involved for whatever they may bring over and above the "upset" prices fixed by the Public Service Commission, Mr. Brady said:

"The City of New York simply had to have these properties in order to reduce the time of travel on the subways to a minimum. The real estate had to be purchased at the price fixed in condemnation proceedings and the improvements removed. Interest on the millions of dollars paid out has totaled a big loss ever since, and the remaining land, minus the improvements paid for originally and since demolished, must be sold now for whatever amount over and above the upset prices the bidders on May 26 may be willing to pay. The sacrifice involved was necessitated by the requirements of subway construction and could not be avoided.

"The time has come, however, when these properties, having served their purpose, must be disposed of without regard to the sacrifice involved."

offering hopes of large profits and risks of large losses. The straight line method and the declining balance method are adapted to conservative investments only. Where the profits are likely to fluctuate widely and the enterprise is more speculative, the rental unit method is much more suitable. It should be remembered also that whatever method is adopted should be consistently followed. Those who built in pre-war times and who have adopted either of the hitherto well recognized methods, would probably not be permitted by the Treasury Department to change their method in income tax returns now, even if the method were permitted when applied to new buildings.

For a long time there has been among many business men a feeling that accountants are sometimest unreasonable in their insistence on depreciation. It is natural that the business man has wanted to make provision for depreciation only after he has seen what his profits have amounted to, and has desired arbitrarily to set aside much or little or none, depending on how he wanted to juggle his profits. He has argued that his plant property was acquired with the knowledge that there would be both fat and lean years, that the only hope of getting back his investment lay in the fat years, and that he was jutified therefore in taking heavy depreciation then, and little or none when times were bad. He also argued that public policy should favor showing consistent moderate profits rather than large profits in fat years and losses in the lean.

There is much truth in his arguments. It cannot, however, be admitted that anyone is justified in making arbitrary provision for depreciation to suit his whim or ulterior motives. Depreciation is a fact that must be expressed before the net profits can be determined. The determination of it must not be based on the amount of profits it is desired to show, but on a consideration of the purpose for which the cost of the asset was incurred.

In order that investors may not be restrained from supplying needed housing facilities by a narrow and inequitable interpretation of the law, two steps should be taken:

First, the various associations of real estate owners and builders should study the several methods of depreciation, and, if they find the arguments here presented sound, endorse the rental unit method for all new buildings, so as to make it a recognized practice of the trade.

Second, a test case, on an income tax return in which the depreciation has been carefully computed under the rental unit method, and involving, if possible, no other disputable points, should be pushed through the courts for an authoritative decision. Since there is every indication that the Treasury Department will oppose the method, the investor cannot be safe in starting construction until the question has been decided by the Supreme Court.

Interborough's Necessity—The Public's Opportunity

The Interborough's Necessity is the result of increased operating costs and a 50% reduction in the purchasing power of the nickel.

The Public's Opportunity is the forthcoming auction sale of the unused real estate belonging to the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. and which must be sacrificed now to liquidate a loan made as of January 1, 1920, to pay the interest due to bondholders. This means that the many valuable properties to be disposed of must be sold for whatever they may bring, regardless of the sacrifice involved. The Interborough Company must sell properties strategically located along the subways, selected long before the effect of rapid transit had become apparent. The Interborough, today, is not in a position to hold this valuable real estate until its possibilities have been realized, and

Interborough's Necessity—the Public's Opportunity

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Large and Varied Dealing Was the Pronounced Feature of the Week with a Brilliant Move at One Wall Street

THE most pronounced feature of the real estate market this week was the variety to the dealing in large properties. Investors and operators, as well as brokers, found big opportunities in all parts of the city. There were some large sales in the Bronx, as well as numerous small ones, and all parts of the borough were represented. Notable among the Manhattan transactions was the sale of a large and choice unimproved plot on upper Riverside Drive and adjacent to a corner. It will probably be the site of a big apartment house within a year. The other large sale of vacant property was in Long Island City, and that part of Greater New York has for some time been distinguished for the sale of large empty plots in an era when the general real estate movement is in improved property. The reason is that the vacant tracts in Long Island City are bought in most instances by large manufacturing concerns for improvement with concrete factory buildings for their particular purposes. Investors and not speculators predominate.

More conspicuous than usual this week was the co-operative buying of apartment houses throughout Manhattan, and one transaction of this character exceeded the million dollar mark. Numerous individual tenants, too, bought their business locations, while the buying of private dwellings by tenants was a marked characteristic.

That many hotels south of 59th street will eventually be remodeled into office buildings, the same as has been planned for the Knickerbocker, would seem to be borne out by the fact that the old Hotel Earlington, in West 27th street, and the Hotel Stephens, adjoining the Hotel Albert, in University place, are to be remodeled for business purposes. Only a short time ago the St. Denis went the same way. History repeats itself. It recalls the era when 23d street was far uptown and when numerous hotels on Broadway south of 14th street were altered into commercial buildings.

Broadway and Wall street, rich in financial and real estate history, contributed the human interest phase to this week's market activity. No. 1 Wall street, at the southeast corner of Broadway, was sold by the syndicate of capitalists, who built it fifteen years ago, to a prominent New York operator. At this time, when the market is at the zenith of strong demand, it is likely that the temptation to sell this strategic holding was irresistible; and it would not surprise us if the buyer soon resold and took a substantial profit. The late Benjamin D. Silliman, who lived to be ninety-six and who was the dean of the New York bar and oldest graduate of Yale, owned this corner, when there was an old four-story building upon it, for more than half his lifetime. When the late John N. Golding then asked him to set a price upon it, he said he had no price and no desire to sell. But Mr. Golding persisted. "Well," responded Mr. Silliman, "my price is the number of dollars it will take to cover the plot put side by side." Mr. Golding figured it up and told Mr. Silliman he would find a buyer at that price. "Ah!" exclaimed Mr. Silliman. "I mean gold dollars on edge placed side by side." Mr. Golding was dazed at the old gentleman's high mathematics, but, if the great paucity of office space downtown continues and rentals jump again as they have jumped during this great real estate year, perhaps Mr. Silliman's golden dream may be realized by somebody.

Another notable phase of the market this week was the sale of the old Smith & McNell property, in the block bounded by Greenwich, Washington, Fulton and Vesey streets, at private sale, after it had been scheduled to be sold at auction. A similar incident happened with another property.

The Battery neighborhood displayed more than its usual activity, Washington and West streets contributing important sales; and other parts of that district now susceptible to reimprovement were features.

There were numerous large leases negotiated in various parts of the city.

Excess Profit Tax Opposed.

THAT property owners associations, following the action of the New York Chamber of Commerce and other influential bodies, are falling in line in opposition to the piling of federal war taxes on to real estate was demonstrated at a recent meeting the United Real Estate Owners' Association, when it adopted resolutions disparaging and analyzing the excess profit tax and the surtax, claiming that they have much to do with the high cost of living, high interest rates and the embarrassment of property owners by the consequent calling of mortgage loans and the tightening of new mortgage money.

The president of the association submitted for the consideration of the meeting a resolution on the subject which he had drafted; and, after amendment, it was unanimously adopted. The resolution declares that the excess profit tax and the surtax are largely responsible for the present high price levels, the high cost of living and that they equal 24 per cent. of the retail price of commodities. It also asserts that they cause the low market for Liberty Bonds and the high interest rates, averaging from seven to ten per cent. Further, it blames these laws for the calling of mortgage loans and the difficulty of negotiating new loans; and that the result is a paucity of building and of housing, with consequent excessive rents.

The resolution asasils the present federal income tax in so far as it affects buying and selling by including the profit on real estate dealing within the scope of taxation. It says that profits are practically akin to stock dividends which the Federal Supreme Court has declared to be principal and not income. It argues that sales that are the realization of the potential value of principal and the real estate business itself are principally mortgages with little cash. And inasmuch as a federal realty tax is proposed, it is timely to emphasize that real estate in all cities bears the burden of nearly all municipal taxation; and, that there is in this state a tax upon mortgages and a state income tax; besides, there are minor taxes for real estate to pay. It is argued that a federal tax on realty will throw upon it a burden it will be unable to bear and that it will be taxed more than any other class of property. It will mean confiscation of the net income of real estate.

Congress and the President are petitioned to kill this contemplated federal measure.

May Pay Part of Transfer Tax.

INTERESTING as a legal sidelight on a real estate transaction was the final closing of the title to the 4-story and basement dwelling at the northwest corner of Lexington av. and East 64th st., which was sold by the Beekman estate through M. Morgenthau, Jr., to the Stability Realty Co. For some time the State Comptroller's office has been accustomed to insisting upon the full payment of an entire transfer tax from an estate when it had sold only one of its many parcels of real property; the estate had to do so in order to be free from the lien of the tax. Such a course by the state at times made it practically impossible to effect the profitable sale of a given parcel owned by an estate.

Litigation was begun to estop the state from the practice and the matter was carried to the Court of Appeals. That tribunal holds that the procedure maintained by the commonwealth is wrong and that an individual parcel of an estate's holdings need pay only its pro rata share of the total tax assessed and that when it is so paid the Comptroller may release the parcel for sale.

At the next session of the Legislature a bill will be introduced providing for the cure of this defect in the law which has been a constant menace to real estate dealing, as many valuable parcels of property throughout Greater New York are owned by estates.

MERRILL N. GATES, of Masten & Nichols, is the buyer of the two old dwellings at the northeast corner of Park av and 75th st, sold recently. He will erect a residence.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 76, as compared with 80 last week and 68 a year ago.

From the Bronx 28 sales at private contract were reported, as against 30 last week and 47 a year ago.

The buyer now controls a total of 16,000 square feet at this point.

Premier Parcel of Realty Sold.

Long famous as the highest priced piece of real property in the world, the 18-story office building known as 1 Wall st, at the southeast corner of Broadway, was this week sold by the St. Louis syndicate that had owned it for 15 years to Max N. Natanson, who is understood to have paid $1,250,000 for it. Occupying a plot only 29.10 feet in Broadway, 39.10 feet in Wall st, and 32.6 feet on the rear line, this property is a rarity in size for such a tall building as occupies it. The structure has been facetiously called the Chimney Building and the Splinter of Masonry. There is in most floors only one office and each brings a very high rental because of superior light and privacy, as well of choice location. The ground floor is under long lease to the United Cigar Stores Co., and it is understood to be the most profitable of its numerous chain stores, while the rental is supposed to be the highest it pays for any of its stores. At the time the site of the present building was bought from the estate of Benjamin D. Silliman it was deemed to be the highest priced parcel of real estate in the world; and it has markedly increased in value since. The selling price at the time, in 1905, was $598 a square foot. The cost of the building now on it was $200,000.

It is believed that Mr. Natanson, the now owner, is negotiating to purchase the 11-story building, 82 Broadway, adjoining, as well as 7 Wall st., a large office building adjoining on the other side of the property.

Composing the selling St. Louis syndicate were Festus J. Wade, Martin Shaughnessy, Lorenzo E. Anderson, Paul Brown, John Sullivan, Daniel G. Nugent, Frank Ruf, James G. Butler estate and the James Campbell estate.

For many years he has maintained an office in New York.

FRANK BAILEY, vice-president of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., William H. Reynolds, William M. Greve and Charles A. O'Malley, who were indicted in New York County, during the second mayoralty campaign of Mayor Mitchel, for conspiracy to mulct the city for excessive profits on the sale of certain lands in Brooklyn to it for marginal railroad purposes, have been exonerated by the Supreme Court recently dismissing the indictments on the ground that the District Attorney had allowed them to lie dormant for three years and apparently lacked evidence on which to prosecute. The court intimated that the indictments were found for political purposes.

CHARLES THORLEY, florist, has had the ban against business lifted from the leasehold property 604 5th av, which was long the residence of Russel Sage and subsequently of his widow. Mr. Thorley bought this property at the recent auction of the Sage property at holdings conducted by Joseph P. Day and paid the round sum of $441,000 for it with a restriction prohibiting its use for business. In other words Mr. Thorley took a chance that the business development hereabouts would aid him in having the restriction removed. The owner of the leasehold, the Dutch Reformed Church and Columbia University, have consented to the lifting of the restriction.

MARCUS M. SCHENCK has removed his real estate office from 16 Exchange pl, Manhattan, to 166 Montague st, Brooklyn.

STEVENSON SCOTT is the buyer of 55 East 74th st, a dwelling recently sold.

Your Building Opportunity

THE Atlantic Terra Cotta for the 13-story Apartment House illustrated was made before the war for an out-of-town customer. The building was stopped by war conditions. We are now permitted to sell at one-half present day prices.

As illustrated, the Atlantic Terra Cotta constitutes two complete 13-story facades on a right-angle corner, with a ground plan of 112 ft. x 70 ft. The material can be readily adapted to a larger or smaller building.

In any such adaptation our drafting department will co-operate with your architect.

The Terra Cotta is Atlantic Terra Cotta, of Atlantic quality and Atlantic service goes with it. It is grey in color, similar to the Terra Cotta used for the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York.

BUILDING SECTION

New Office Building to House Import and Export Interests

Sixteen-Story Structure at Water and Moore Streets, Designed by Deutsch & Polis, Soon to Be Commenced

WITHIN the next two weeks active construction will be commenced on a sixteen-story office building that will be erected at 7 to 11 Water street, through to 8 to 12 Water street, for the National Park Real Estate Corporation of 32 Union Square. The structure will be built from plans and specifications prepared by Deutsch & Polis, architects and engineers, 50 Church street.

This proposed building will occupy the entire block front in the east side of Moore street, approximately 140 feet, and will have frontages of 63 feet 2 inches in Front street and 72 feet 7 inches in Water street. The site is located at a distance of less than two blocks from Fraunce's Tavern, two blocks from South Ferry, and is diagonally opposite the United States Army Building. The building is ideally located for the export, import, steamship and chemical industries.

Deutsch & Polis, Architects.
PROPOSED WATER STREET OFFICE BUILDING.

As there are but few tall buildings in the vicinity of this new structure the tenants will be assured of unusually good facilities for ventilation and natural light. The structure has been designed so that every office will have an outside exposure. By reason of the requirements of the Zoning Law, this sixteen-story structure could not be carried to its full height without a set-back. This set-back occurs at the level of the twelfth floor and another at the level of the fifteenth floor. These set-backs give to the facade a pleasing and effective appearance.

Heretofore but little has been known of the actual ground conditions in this neighborhood owing largely to the fact that no very tall structures have been erected as yet. When test borings were made upon the site of this project it was discovered that bed rock would most likely be found at distances varying from twenty-two to twenty-eight feet below the curb level. For the foundations of the building, steel piles filled with concrete, carried to bed rock, will be employed, and only sufficient excavation below the curb level will be made to provide for a boiler room. The facades of this structure will have a granite base with brick and limestone employed for the upper floors. Up to the twelfth story the front walls are to be carried on the steel skeleton at the various floor levels. Above the eleventh floor the outside walls will be constructed as bearing walls carried on steel girders in the ceiling of the eleventh story.

As a result of several original ideas used in the design and construction of the structural steel framework and floors a very considerable saving in cost over previous designs will be affected. It is because of these economies in design and construction, worked out by the architects, who are also engineers, that the owners were encouraged to proceed with the construction of this operation, notwithstanding the abnormally high cost of both labor and materials.

The first floor is designed for stores and will have a total rentable area of 5,600 square feet. The second to and including the eleventh floors the total rentable area will be 74,360 square feet. From the twelfth to and including the sixteenth floor there is an additional 25,970 square feet of space to be rented as offices. This structure will be equipped with six high speed electric elevators, each with a capacity of 2,200 pounds.

Apartment Dwellers Buying Houses

Amid the housing crisis there is a number of apartment house tenants who, caught in the maelstrom of house shortage, are buying old private dwellings in Yorkville, Harlem, Washington Heights, the Bronx and Brooklyn. The daily records show enormous dealing in private houses. Many old tenants of these houses are buying them in order to make sure of a permanent abode. Besides, many of those who are buying dwellings feel that apartment rentals will be maintained at a high level for a long time to come and that, therefore, it is well worth while to buy an old two or three story and basement private house, which they feel is a better return on the investment than renting an apartment for some years hence on a steadily rising rental power.

In Brooklyn the cooperative apartment house movement is gaining momentum. It is appealing strongly to the apartment house tenant who is paying fifty dollars and upwards monthly for an apartment. The sale of dwellings in Brooklyn is constant. Old frame houses that were considered to be passe are now being bought and overhauled at prices that were deemed impossible of realization one year or more ago. This back to the private house movement in Brooklyn is solving the question of remodeling them into multi-family apartments that had long agitated the real estate mind in that borough.

In certain parts of Queens borough new private dwellings of medium size, and many two-family houses, are being bought by middle-class investors who can live in one part and rent the other part.

Mayor Hylan Outlines Program for Housing Committee

Appoints Chairmen of Committees to Take Up Various Phases of Shortage and Plan Relief Measures

MAYOR HYLAN has announced the appointment of an Executive Committee of the Housing Conference Committee and outlined the functions of the sub-committees of the larger committee. The Executive Committee consists of Henry H. Curran, Robert P. Brindell, Walter Stabler, E. A. MacDougall, Preston P. Lynn, Edward P. Doyle, Wright D. Goss, Laurence McGuire, Burt L. Fenner, James H. Post, Ralph Peters, Victor F. Ridder.

The Mayor's statement follows:

"Each member of the Executive Committee will act as chairman of the particular group or interest he represents on the general committee. Each of these representative groups of sub-committees into which the general committee is divided will endeavor to bring about a plan of action within its sphere that will fit in harmoniously with the plans to be submitted by the other sub-committees, in order to carry out effectively the object of the general committee, namely, to facilitate and expedite the necessary increase of housing.

"Each member of the Executive Committee, by virtue of his designation as Chairman of a particular sub-committee of the general committee, will be asked to take up the following questions and report the findins of his sub-committee to the Executive Committee:

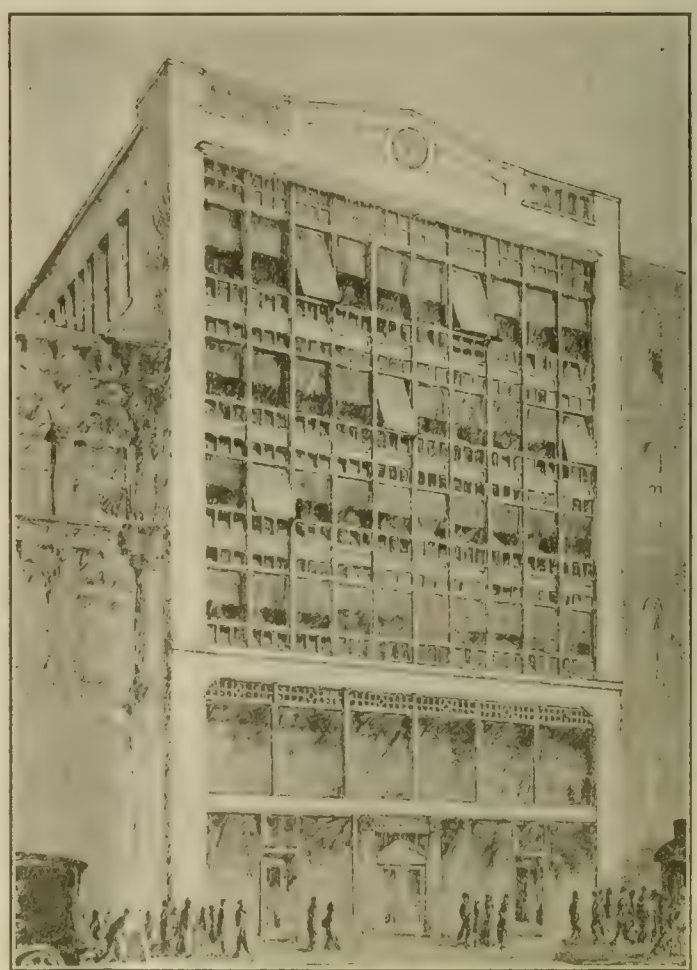
"Instructing the superintendents of buildings to give preference to housing construction of all kinds, including alterations. Retarding, wherever possible, the alteration of houses used for living purposes into buildings for commercial purposes.

"Interesting city employes in the purchase of homes, generally, singly or by the co-operative plan. Arranging for the formation of building loan associations among employes, where some plan might be devised for those who may be willing to invest from their earnings.

"Arranging for the gathering of weekly or monthly instalments by which a considerable fund could be collected every few months, and applications and requests for loans be considered and acted upon in the order of priority to enable such applicants to build or purchase the houses which that money would buy.

"Inquiring from the Sinking Fund Commission or the Comptroller as to the available lots owned by the city or State within the confines of the City of New York, that the city or State might be able or willing to lease out for twenty years, with a privilege of another twenty, for building sites.

"Discussing and considering any legislation that may be required to meet the necessities of the present housing conditions with respect to existing houses, as well as new construction."



Ready to Start Work on New Broadway Office Building

FINAL plans have been prepared by George and Edward Blum, architects, 505 Fifth avenue, for a new six-story, semi-fireproof office building, with stores on the ground floor, that will be erected at 321 to 323 Broadway, near Worth street. The structure will occupy a plot having a frontage of 50 feet 6 inches on Broadway, with a depth of 105 feet 5 inches. The owners and builders are Crystal & Crystal, 47 West street. This project is located in the heart of the white goods district and will replace the structure formerly occupied by Dodd's Restaurant. Some months ago plans were prepared for extensive alterations to be made to these premises, changing the building into a modern loft, but a disastrous fire, occurring during the blizzard that tied up the city and hampered the arrival of fire apparatus, made a change in the plans.

The basement of the proposed new building will be particularly adapted for receiving and shipping dry goods. A sidewalk lift will be installed and the large basement will be lighted by vault lights. The first two floors will be divided into two large stores and the third, fourth and fifth floors, with ceiling heights of 11 feet 6 inches, will be subdivided as offices, showrooms and lofts. The top floor has exceptional head room and in addition receives direct light on three sides which will make it especially desirable to some firm requiring the best possible natural illumination.

The facade of this building has been designed along severely plain lines, with a large amount of the space devoted to windows in order to obtain the best possible lighting. The windows on all floors extend from the floor to the ceiling and practically gives the effect of an entire glass front. The limited amount of masonry that will be visible in the construction of the front of this building will be of imported Travetine stone; the lack of embellishment emphasizing the natural beauty of the material employed. The base course will be of polished pink granite. The entrance has been designed in the Gothic style and the materials employed will be similar to that used in the front. The main entrance corridor will receive a similar architectural treatment, where the Travetine stone will reach to the ceiling height. This ceiling will be valued in mediaeval style. The floors will be of marble mosaic.

During the past week or so announcements have been made of quite a number of large building projects located in this section of Manhattan and although the majority involve the alteration of old structures the movement is indicative of new commercial activity in this neighborhood.

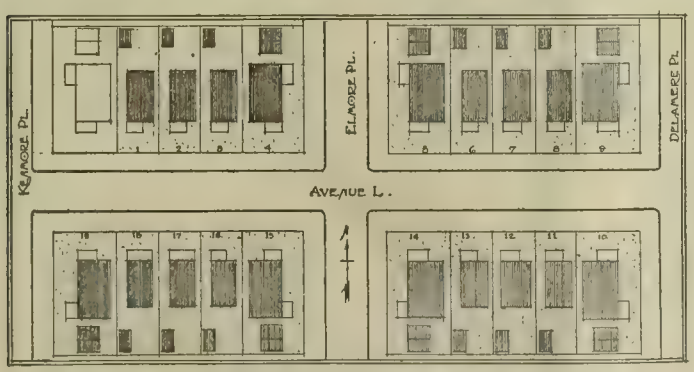
NEW STRUCTURE AT 321 TO 323 BROADWAY

Exclusive Housing Development on Avenue L, Brooklyn

Carucci & Wolpert, General Contractors, Start Work on Project Representing Investment of About $500,000

ALTHOUGH the operation of the recently passed laws designed to prevent profiteering in rents by unscrupulous landlords has slowed down the demand for private dwellings to some degree, the market for buildings of this type is still remarkably active and builders are experiencing no difficulty in disposing at excellent prices of all the residential structures they are able to complete. Everyone at all familiar with real estate conditions in the Metropolitan district, and more particularly that phase of the situation pertaining to housing accommodations for the rapidly growing population of this city, are of the opinion that the present falling off in buying interest caused by the action of the State Legislature is but a temporary condition that certainly will be reflected next autumn in a demand for dwellings that in scope and intensity will greatly surpass that of the past.

Builders who are alive to this situation are now making every effort, notwithstanding the existing scarcity and constantly increasing cost of materials, to get their scheduled residential building operations underway just as fast as possible, so that when the demand reaches its maximum next fall they will be in a position to take full advantage of the situation and have their buildings completed and ready for occupancy.



Throughout the past year Brooklyn led the way for the Metropolitan district in the construction of new homes. One and two-family dwellings have been erected singly and in large groups in various parts of the borough, and all were readily sold at prices which allowed a very fair margin of profit to the builders. There are at present indications that the house building movement in Brooklyn, while not quite so extensive as it was last season, will be extremely active during the remainder of this year and the dwellings to be constructed between now and October 1, will be of material assistance in reducing the famine in living accommodations that has been so troublesome for many months past.

Announcement has just been made of a large building operation that involves the construction of a group of nineteen handsome one and two-family houses in one of the finest residential sections of Flatbush. The site selected for these dwellings is easily accessible to the rapid transit lines and is in close proximity to high class shops, churches, schools, theatres, etc.

Carucci & Wolpert, Builders. James A. McCarroll, Architect.

VIEW OF AVENUE "L" DEVELOPMENT FOR THE LAND IMPROVEMENT AND CONSTRUCTION CORPORATION.

PLOT PLAN OF FLATBUSH DEVELOPMENT.

This project, including both the value of the land and the cost of construction for the nineteen dwellings scheduled will represent an investment of more than $500,000. The owner is the Land Improvement & Construction Corporation, 99 Nassau street, Manhattan, and the houses are to be erected under a general contract by Carucci & Wolpert, builders, 186 Remsen street, from plans by James A. McCarroll, architect, 200 Montague street.

These houses will be located on the north and south sides of Avenue L, from Kenmore place to Delamere place. The plot layout calls for two-family dwellings to occupy the seven corners, and the twelve interior lots will be improved with one-family houses. The buildings will be of frame and stucco construction and each will vary in design so that as a whole the development will present an artistic and pleasing appearance.

In the plans for these houses the architect has spent considerable time and study with the especial idea of minimizing housekeeping effort and the elimination of the servant problem as far as possble. The rooms are all spacious and well arranged in their relation to each other, and in their equipment the dwelling will be models of modern housekeeping efficiency. Large built-in closets abound and ample trunk storage space is provided in the basement and attic.

The overall dimensions of the one-family dwellings are 22 feet front with a depth of approximately 41 feet, exclusive of front and rear porches. The front porches are fully enclosed and will be equipped with radiators so as to heat them during the winter. In these houses the living room and hall extends across the full width of the house and has a depth

Annual Convention of New York Society of Architects

James Riley Gordon for Fifth Consecutive Term was Unanimously Re-Elected President at Enthusiastic Meeting

At the annual convention of the New York Society of Architects held at the United Engineering Society Building on May 19, James Riely Gordon was unanimously re-elected for the fifth consecutive term as president; Adam E. Fisher, of Brooklyn, first vice-president; Edward W. Loth, of Albany, second vice-president; Frederick C. Zobel, of New York, secretary; Henry Holder, of Brooklyn, treasurer, and Walter H. Volckening, of New York, financial secretary. The seriousness of the building, housing and labor situations were discussed at length. Many committees reported and many others were appointed to investigate these conditions.

This meeting was one of the most notable and enjoyable gatherings in the history of the society, now entering upon the fifteenth year of its existence. About forty members were present, out of a total of two hundred and forty, scattered over the United States and Canada. Among the speakers called upon by the president was the society's former secretary, C. Whitley Mullin, who in a brief address mentioned the fact of his being the only member present of the original seventeen who started the organization in Brooklyn in the year 1906.

Mr. Mullen took occasion to urge the necessity of adherence to a few fundamental principles, if the society was to continue to progress as it had done in the past. These principles were, first, loyalty, whether of individual members to the organization as such, regardless of personal preferences; or loyalty to a sound code of ethics; or, lastly, loyalty to the public generally, which is synonymous with public spirit. In the next place Mr. Mullin urged the importance of giving adequate publicity to the Society's proceedings, as affording the most effective safeguard against oppression and other evils too numerous to mention. Lastly the speaker urged full and free representation of the various schools of thought or types of practice, included in the practice of architecture, regardless of race distinctions, or of any other consideration of a secondary nature.

Others who delivered addresses included Vice-President Loth and Adam E. Fisher.

of 16 feet. A large open fire place is the dominating feature of these rooms. The dining rooms are approximately 15x15 feet. The kitchens and pantries are large and one of the unusual features of this operation are the breakfast porches, fully enclosed, that are accessible from the dining room through casement doors and also from the butler's pantry.

The second floors have three master bedrooms and bath, with the main bedroom extending across the full width of the house. In the attic are two bedroms and an extra bath. Laundries and a servant's lavatory are located in the basement of each dwelling.

In connection with these houses the owner has planned to build one and two-car garages. The one-family houses will have a one-car garage located at the rear lot line and the corner houses will each have a two-car garage subdivided by a brick partition. According to the present building schedule it is expected to have these houses fully complete and ready for occupancy before the end of the summer.

New Construction Held In Abeyance for Lack of Materials

Large Volume of Projected Building Reported by F. W. Dodge Company Is Unable to Start Because of Freight Congestion

ALTHOUGH building material shortages, brought about by the railroad freight congestion, have slowed down building construction to a marked degree, the condition has but slightly affected the planning by architects and engineers of new structural projects that will be commenced just as soon as the material situation is readjusted. During the week of May 8 to 14, inclusive, architects and engineers in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, reported plans in progress for 479 new building and engineering projects that will call for an outlay of approximately $18,905,500. During the same week contracts were awarded for 253 operations, valued at $12,604,500.

According to these figures, which were prepared by the F. W. Dodge Company, a vast amount of new construction is piling up pending the arrival of building materials and supplies, and it is certain that the industry will be taxed to its full capabilities throughout the balance of the year in order to get caught up with its structural program.

The list of 479 new operations reported as being planned during the week of May 8 to 14, inclusive, included 114 business buildings, such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $6,651,500; 17 educational projects of various types, $1,659,100; 6 hospitals and institutions, $837,000; 22 factory and industrial projects $1,544,000; 3 public buildings, $71,000; 29 public works and public utilities, $2,552,500; 8 religious and memorial structures, $565,000; 267 residential operations, including apartments, flats and tenements and one and two family dwellings, $4,485,600, and 13 social and recreational projects, $539,800.

Among the 253 operations for which contracts were awarded during the week of May 8 to 14, inclusive, were 55 business projects, $3,120,500; 10 educational operations, such as schools, colleges, libraries, etc., $301,500; 23 factory and industrial buildings, $2,497,000; 2 public buildings, $10,400; 23 public works and public utilities $2,643,300; 4 religious and memorial projects, $180,000; 129 residential operations of various types, $3,733,200, and 7 social and recreational buildings, $118,600.

Marbleloid Co. Executive Dies.

F. Maxwell Page, vice-president and secretary of the Marbleloid Co., contractors for composition flooring, died after a short illness of pneumonia, at his home in South Orange, N. J., Sunday, May 16. He was born in Brooklyn forty-one years ago and was educated in the public schools of that Borough. After his graduation from the Boys' High School he entered the furniture business in which he was engaged for some years. In 1905, in partnership with his father and brother, he established the composition flooring business through which during recent years he became widely known throughout the building industry, not only in the Metropolitan district, but in practically every part of the United States, where the product of the Marbleloid Co. has been installed. The success of the product and its growing use in building operations of the highest character has been largely brought about by the untiring energy and devotion of Mr. Page during the fifteen years he has been associated with the business. Mr. Page is survived by his father and brother, who continue active in the business, a widow and three children.

At this meeting the heavy demand for lime for numerous uses, the critical car supply, and educational publicity will be discussed The program as now outlined will include addresses by men of national prominence in this rapidly growing industry.

Urges Tax Reform.

RADICAL reform in the mode of federal taxation was the keynote of a meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, which held its twenty-fifth annual convention, this week, at the Waldorf-Astoria. More than 1,000 industrial leaders of the nation attended, representing every state.

Urging the abolition of the surplus profits tax, the Association declared that the economic welfare of the country demands its abolition. It asserts that the law discourages new business ventures and it suggests in its place a well thought out gross sales tax. Such a tax, it asserts, would be more evenly distributed.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

REPORTS of the past week indicate that the local building industry is in rather a pessimistic frame of mind. The condition is wholly due to the fact that there is a tremendous volume of new construction in prospect that would have meant prosperous times for the building trades, but work on these operations cannot be commenced because of the famine in building materails brought about by the railroad freight congestion. It was hoped early this week that some improvement would take place, but at the present writing no change has occurred in the freight situation and the material supply situation is further complicated by a lockout of the sand truck chauffeurs and a strike of the harbor towing men against barges that have been loaded in yards where the switchmen and yardmen are still out on strike.

One of the serious aspects of the present building situation is the falling off in house building activity in all boroughs of Greater New York. In Brooklyn and Queens this is most apparent, but activity in other parts of the city has also slowed down to a great extent. Builders are ready to proceed with their projected operations, but are afraid to start work in the face of the material famine and the doubt that maintains as to when conditions will become normal again.

The building material and supply dealers in New York City are now practically cleaned out and are refusing any new business.

Common Brick.—Owing chiefly to the continued scarcity of cement, lime and other building essentials the market for Hudson River common brick has been rather quiet during the past week. The demand is fair and would be much better provided the railroad freight situation could be improved. Common brick prices are holding firmly to the $25 a thousand level, wholesale, plus the usual charges for profit and delivery, and there is no indication at this time of a change in either direction. During the past week shipments from the Hudson River plants have been light and it was this fact that has prevented the accumulation of a large amount of unsold in the New York market. For the most part the Hudson River manufacturers are now engaged in moulding brick, but in no instance is a yard working to its full capacity. Generally speaking, the district is operating now at approximately twenty-five per cent. of capacity, with some of the small plants above this rate and the larger ones not quite so active in comparison. There is quite a large amount of brick left over from last season, however, that is available for any sudden demand from New York builders and the opinion has been expressed that no matter what the demand throughout the remainder of the year there will be sufficient brick easily available.

Summary.—Transactions in the North River common brick market for the week ending Friday, May 21, 1920. Condition of market: Demand fair, prices firm and unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $25 a thousand, to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 22; sales, 25. Distribution: Manhattan, 9; Bronx, 2; Broklyn, 8; New Jersey points, 4; Astoria, 1; Flushing, 1.

Building Stone—The demand is dull owing to the fact that practically all large structural operations in the Metropolitan district have been forced to slow down owing to the scarcity of essential materials and supplies. Quotations on certain kinds of stone have recently been advanced because of uncertain labor conditions and steadily increasing cost of supplies at the quarries. On May 1, Kentucky Limestone, Brier Hill Stone, Buff Wakeman and Buff Mountain Stone prices were advanced 10c. per cubic foot.

Lumber—Demand for lumber products is strong and there would be intense activity in both wholesale and retail branches of the business were it not for the intolerable freight congestion that is holding back the supply. In this respect the lumber market is no greater sufferer, however, than other lines affiliated with the building industry, and as a result building progress in the Metropolitan district is slowed down almost to the point of inactivity. Local lumber stocks in some lines have been greatly depleted during the past few weeks and dealers are uncertain as to when they will be able to refill. Meanwhile building operations are halted for badly needed material and prospective builders are holding their projects in abeyance pending an easier condition in the material supply situation. Lumber prices are exceedingly firm, and although there has been some talk of slight recessions these have in no manner affected the general market stability and it is very doubtful if any decrease from the existing high price levels will occur for many months to come. At the present time the demand for lumber products is considerably in excess of either the available or potential supply and certainly no price concession is possible while this condition maintains.

Portland Cement.—During the past week the cement supply situation has improved to some extent, but the condition is still serious and will remain so until the railroad freight congestion is relieved. Some cement is coming into New York from the Hudson River district and the Lehigh Valley Railroad is moving a few cars, so that the most urgent demands are being cared for by local dealers. During the week an announcement of an advance in freight rates was responsible for an increase of 10c. per barrel on Portland cement making the current quotations $4.60 per barrel, with $1 rebate for returned bags.

Roofing and Building Papers.—Although building activity throughout the metropolitan district has fallen off to some extent during the past few weeks the demand for roofing and building papers is well sustained and dealers generally report good prospects for future business. The supply has been somewhat curtailed by the freight situation, but jobbers have stocks on hand sufficient for all current demand. Prices are fluctuating somewhat and range from $2.10 to $3.45 per roll for 1 ply tar paper; $1.60 to $2.85 for 2 ply and $2.00 to $3.35 for 3 ply. Rubber roofing paper is quoted at $1.95 to $3.15 for 1 ply and $2.95 to $4.40 for 3 ply.

Structural Steel.—Locally the fabricated steel market is quiet, as there is very little new material coming in at present owing to the serious freight tie-up. The potential demand, however, is exceptionally heavy and it is likely that the industry will be flooded with orders just as soon as the situation is readjusted, as there is a vast amount of important construction for which plans are completed, waiting for the arrival of materials. According to the report from the secretary of the Bridge Builders and Structural Society it is shown that during the month of March, 1920, eighty-three and one-half per cent. and in April, sixty-eight per cent. of the entire capacity of the bridge and structural shops of the country was contracted for.

Electrical Supplies.—The building industry is confronted with a shortage of electrical supplies that is likely to hold back a large number of important projects from final completion and there is no prospect of improvement until radical changes are made in the railroad freight condition. Some of the local jobbers have resorted to motor trucks to bring in materials that are in greatest demand, but as trucking charges are excessively high, it is doubtful if complete relief is possible through this channel. The scarcity of supplies and equipment has been responsible for a tightening in prices and the market is likely to remain uncertain for some time to come.

Nails.—The scarcity that has existed for some time still maintains and for the most part jobbers are inclined to be pessimistic. Conditions at the mills have improved somewhat, but the local supplies have not been strengthened because of the inability to get freight through the congested yards in the metropolitan district. Meanwhile builders are suffering through a lack of nails required to complete the projects now under construction. Prices are very firm and altogether dependent upon the supply available.

Linseed Oil.—This market is extremely dull with demand light, but prices quite firm. Rail conditions are hampering shipments of this material and at the present writing no great supply is available in this city for immediate delivery.

Lime.—Many important building projects have been forced to stop because no lime is to be had. Dealers are entirely cleaned out of stock and have no possibility of getting this commodity until railroad freight conditions improve.

Honest Rating

It is quite possible for a 2-ton truck to carry a 4-ton load. But it is still only a 2-ton truck. The extra load is a strain. It is equally possible to develop a higher rating on a boiler than the natural capacity. But this does not change the real rating of the boiler.

Boilers are purchased according to the rating. You cannot distinguish a rating by looking at the boiler. You have to take the manufacturer's word for it.

RICHARDSON & BOYNTON CO.'S Boilers are honestly rated to deliver continuous warmth with the least effort and fuel. Under pressure, this rating can be greatly enlarged. But that is not the way you want to run a heating plant.

Write us for heating manuals which show you how to avoid mistakes in installing an adequate heating plant.

Artificial Stone is growing in popularity

Unlike other Building Units, Artificial Stone is a NON-CONDUCTOR of DAMPNESS, COLD and HEAT. It reduces building costs and expedites construction. A wide variety of facing effects produced with crushed granite, marble, brownstone, Indiana limestone, carborundum, etc., makes it a sightly stone for every type of structure and its durability insures the lowest possible maintenance cost.

We court investigation of the most searching kind, and are always pleased to go over the subject in greater detail with anyone interested in building for permanence, beauty and economy.

Open Port and Open Shop

One very important gain has resulted from the week's discussion of the trucking situation in the metropolis, namely, the point at issue has been defined so clearly as to be easy of comprehension by all citizens.

Nothing could be more concise or more enlightening than the following paragraph from the statement issued on Thursday evening by Mr. Alfred E. Marling, as Chairman of the Citizen's Transportation Committee, representing the business organizations of the metropolis:

"The welfare of the community being dependent on impartial and uninterrupted transportation service, all classes of people and merchandise should be served by transportation and trucking facilities without discrimination, and there should be no interruption to such service through industrial warfare, except as a last resort, when all efforts of adjustment have failed and there is no impartial tribunal available to the parties presenting a grievance."

Equally sound is the committee's further declaration that "Employes on piers, docks, railroads, steamships, lighters, tugs and trucks should perform their usual service, regardless of whether the connecting points which they serve or the facilities or vehicles through which the merchandise is received or delivered are manned by union or non-union men. Impartial service should be extended to all merchandise, regardless of whether it has been worked upon or handled by union or non-union men."

Involved in the controversy, judging from the comments of some leaders on each side, is the question of the open shop. But, even if that be true, there also is involved the question of the open port. If the people of the metropolis, as a result of this controversy, should find themselves in a position where they must choose between the open port and the open shop, there need be no question as to what their decision would be.

There are more than six million people in the metropolis and their interests are paramount. They must have food, fuel and the other necessaries of life, along with an opportunity to earn a living wholly regardless of such disputes as the present one. Mr. Marling and his associates stand on solid ground when they emphasize "the fundamental importance of the interests of the public, that irrespective of the rights of the companies or the rights of the union or other private parties involved, the paramount interest is that of the public."

Chairman Marling, outlining in detail the position of the committee, said: "In discussing the local situation we have reached a definite conclusion as to certain principles which we believe should govern. That declaration is that whether the man on a truck belongs to a union or not, and whether his truck hauls union or non-union goods, the public is entitled to free passage of the goods.

"Our feeling is that those principles are so important for the interests of the public, not only for the present, but for the future, that we intend to stand by them. It is the right of every man to join a union if he wants, or not to join if he doesn't want. In any event, the public has the right to the free passage of its goods, whether handled by union or non-union agencies. There must be a free inflow and outflow of goods irrespective of whether the agency is organized or unorganized."

Whatever else may be open or closed, the great Port of New York must be kept open.

A Very Unsatisfactory Record

Governor Smith finished last Monday the task of disposing of the hundreds of measures passed by the Legislature during the closing days of the session of 1920. Some of the Governor's vetoes have attracted wide attention, comment on them being favorable or unfavorable, according to the political views of the commentators. The Governor cut out various appropriations totalling several millions of dollars, but nevertheless the bills which the taxpayers will have to meet for the current year are many millions higher than at any other time in the history of the state.

Governor Smith, in reviewing the work of the Legislature, very accurately observes that the legislators ignored at their recent session the fundamentals of the housing situation.

"The Legislature," as Governor Smith says, "overlooked the fact that the vital necessity of this situation is construction, the building of more houses. The laws that were passed to prevent rent profiteering only touched one phase of the question. They did not affect the fundamental situation. They merely scratched the surface."

The enactment of laws to encourage investment of money in building operations still remains the vital need of the hour. Governor Smith, while unwilling at this time to say whether or not he would call a special session of the Legislature to consider the housing problem, indicated that early legislation must be had if permanent relief is to be accorded the metropolis and other cities of the state. But it is doubtful if any real benefit would come from a special session of the present Legislature.

The Governor unquestionably expresses the general sentiment in feeling disappointment over the failure of the Legislature to advance constitutional provisions for an executive budget and the consolidation of state departments and commissions on a satisfactory basis. From whatever angle the work of the legislators is regarded, it must be conceded that they accomplished little of benefit to the taxpayers and solved none of the pressing problems which were presented during the recent session.

One Necessary Readjustment

President Wilson's new Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Houston, may be a bit of an optimist, but nevertheless it is interesting to note his prediction that within the next nine months a readjustment of the disturbing business and financial conditions of the country may be looked for. Secretary Houston addressed a group of New York bankers on Wednesday and the general tenor of his remarks was reassuring.

Mr. Houston made it plain that he expects the process of readjustment will be somewhat painful, and in order that the nation may pass through this period in orderly fashion he recommended the husbanding of the nation's resources and steadiness, common sense and thrift on the part of individuals. In repeating the old adage that it is necessary to work and save, the Secretary revealed new statistics of the extravagance of the nation. He said that, according to the income tax data for the last year, the people of this country spent $22,000,000,000, an amount nearly equal to America's war debt, on extravagance. Among the items mentioned were $50,000,000 for chewing gum, $1,000,000,000 for candy, $800,000,000 for cigarettes, $800,000,000 for tobacco and snuff, $810,000,000 for cigars, $750,000,000 for soft drinks, and $750,000,000 for admission to motion pictures and other places of amusement.

Secretary Houston admitted that no one ought to expect the American people to give up all luxuries, but argued that it would be a good thing if they would save and invest more than they do in essential industries and Liberty bonds.

Optimism is a good trait and the Secretary of the Treasury did more good than harm in letting his hearers know that his own optimism extends to the present situation. Undoubtedly it would help if people stopped spending so much money on luxuries, but it would help more if people would go to work. The problems of readjustment can all be solved in time, but they will not be fully solved until workers get themselves readjusted to the old habit of doing a day's work for a day's pay. The financial and business readjustment of which Secretary Houston spoke must be accompanied by this sort of readjustment on the part of individual workers everywhere before the process of national readjustment can be regarded as complete.

Housing Situation to Be Investigated by U. S. Senate

A THOROUGH investigation of the housing problem and of construction work throughout the country is to be made by a special committee of the United States Senate, under the chairmanship of Senator William M. Calder. The other members of the committee are Senator Kenyon of Iowa, Senator Edge of New Jersey, Senator Wolcott of Delaware, and Senator Gay of Louisiana. Mr. Franklin T. Miller, chairman of the board of directors of the F. W. Dodge Company, has been selected as Advisory Expert by the committee.

The scope of the inquiry, outlined in a speech by Senator Calder, follows:

"The specific obligation now confronting the United States is so to increase its facilities for the production and distribution of useful commodities as to adequately meet the needs of its people. The plant development in the United States today is not adquate for its domestic needs. The United States cannot give foreign succor or meet world competition until it has corrected this situation and has facilities for the production of necessities in excess of those required at home.

"We recognize the influence of the introduction of improved means of production and distribution upon the world during the past century and particularly upon the United States immediately after the Civil War.

"It is to be hoped that we are not to have a serious business depression, but if one should come it will, I believe, be of short duration, and after it is over I believe the nation will enter into a period of physical development which will be even greater in magnitude than that period of physical development succeeding the Civil War and which will more adequately utilize its national resources. This reconstruction must be physical in fact. To increase production we must first increase our means of production.

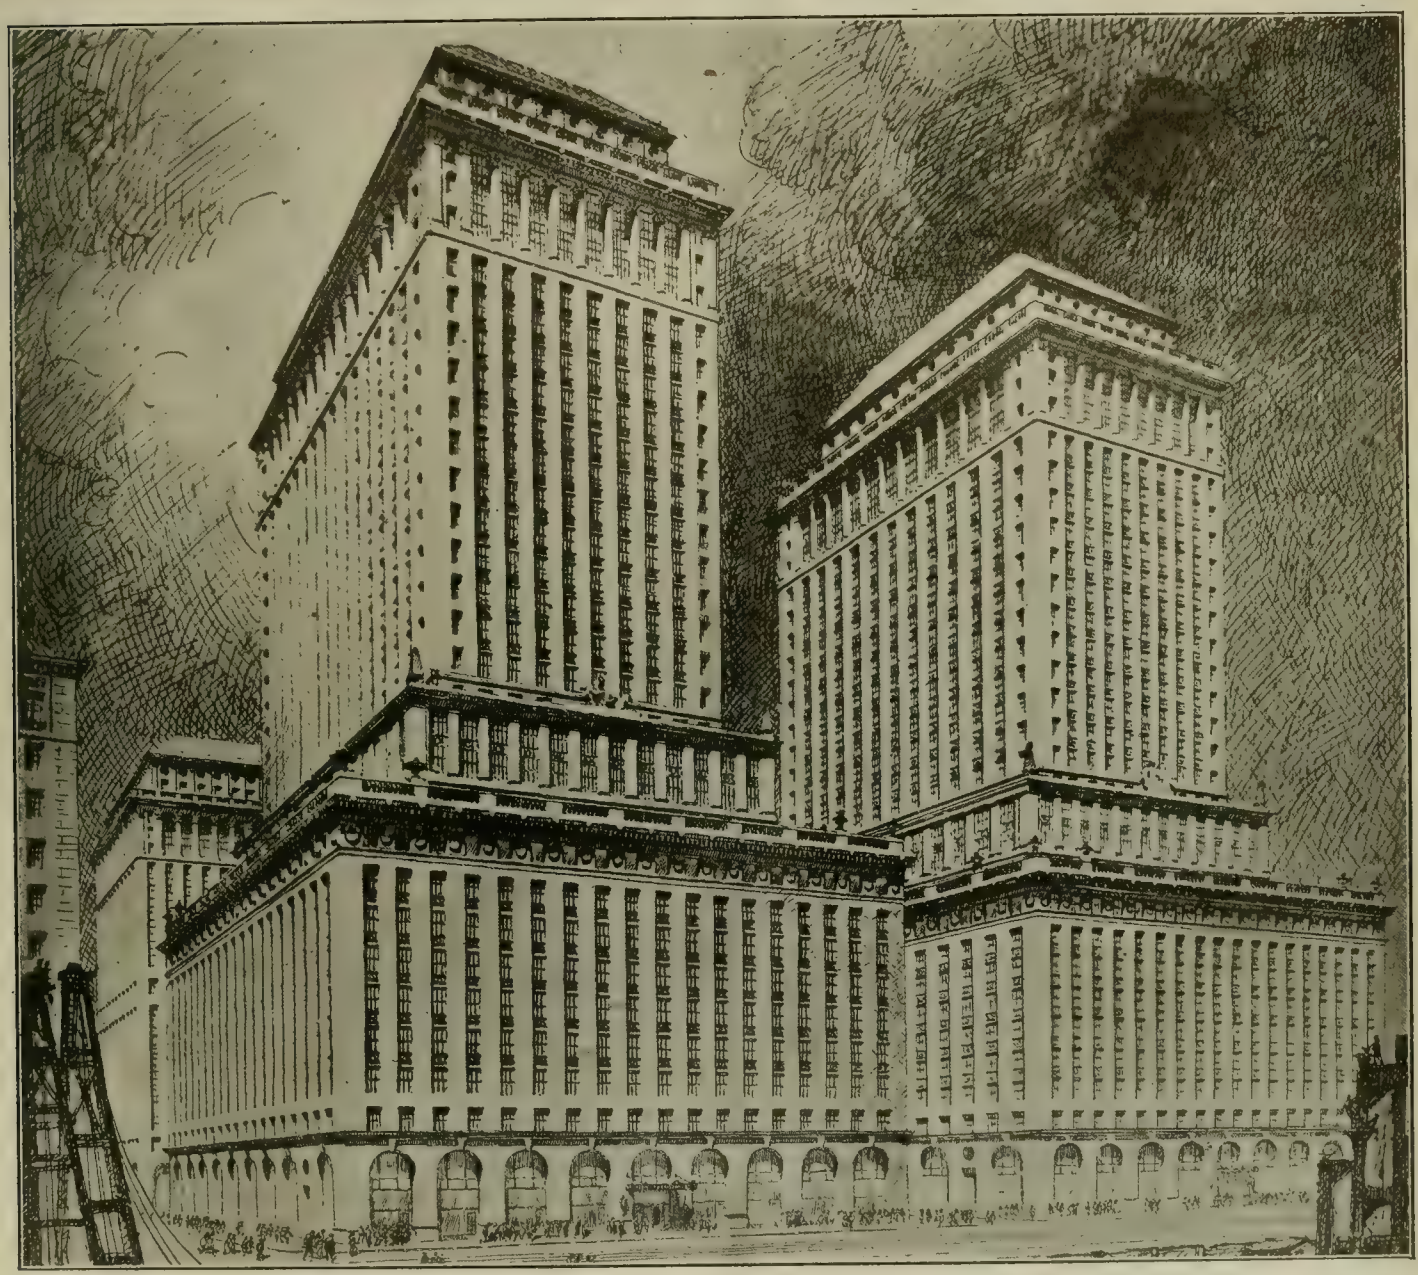
"Senate Resolution No. 350, introduced by me, was adopted by the Senate on April 15. Under the provisions of that resolution a special committee has been appointed to investigate housing and all forms of construction throughout the country, and of industries upon which the construction industry is directly and indirectly dependent. In my opinion the adoption of this resolution by the Senate is a timely act, recognizing as it does that structural development is necessary for the fuller utilization of the nation's resources, for the production of its essentials, and for the amelioration of its housing conditions, and that construction was curtailed by the war and is now hampered by an unprecedented demand for consumables.

"The scope of the committee's work is necessarily extended because of the interdependence of the various factors, it being evident that construction cannot proceed without transportation, labor and capital, and that construction of all kinds is necessary for increased production."

Favorable Attention Given to Mortgage Exemption Bill

A DELEGATION of New York real estate men went to Washington this week to attend the hearing before the Ways and Means Committee of the House on the Calder-Siegel bill, which provides for the exemption from taxation of the income "on an aggregate of principal not to exceed $40,000 of loans secured, under mortgage or otherwise, solely by real estate, and upon bonds or other certificates of indebtedness of equal amount secured by or issued against such mortgage or mortgages."

Among those who were present at the hearing were: Clarence H. Kelsey, president, Title Guarantee and Trust Company; James Frank, president, New York State Association of Real Estate Boards; Stephen Yates, president, Long Island Real Estate Board; Robert Simon, Merchants' Association of New York; John W. Paris, National Association of Real Estate Boards; L. E. Brown, of Rickert-Brown Company; Franklin T. Miller, chairman, board of directors of the F. W. Dodge Co.; Louis V. Bright, president, Lawyers' Title and Trust Co.; Harry A. Kohler, president, New York Title and Mortgage Co., and president American Trust Co.; and John L. Parish, secretary, Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests, and Edward P. Doyle, representing the Real Estate Board of New York.



The hearing developed considerable interest among the members of the Ways and Means Committee. Chairman Fordney and other members showed broad acquaintance with the subject and sympathy with the arguments advanced in favor of the bill. The New York delegation was impressed with the possibility of securing action on the bill at this session of Congress.

At the end of the hearing the committee showed a desire for further information regarding a possible loss of revenue to the Federal Government from the enactment of the Calder-Siegel bill, and asked for briefs covering this point.

Plans for Thirty-one Story Grand Central Building Ready

Work to Start This Fall and Larger of Two Structures Should Be Completed in January, 1922—Many Realty Firms Interested Warren & Wetmore, Architects.

PROGRESS was made during the week in carrying out the plans to erect two thirty-one-story co-operative office buildings in the Grand Central zone, between Forty-fifth and Forty-seventh streets, Madison and Park avenues. Details of the project were discussed at a conference of representatives of nearly all the real estate brokers in New York, who have been invited to participate in it.

Actual work on the larger of the two buildings, to be known as the Grand Central Building, will be started this fall. One of the structures should be ready for occupancy January, 1922, unless present plans fall through.

Real estate brokers were interested especially in the large single floor unit space which will be made available in the new uptown business zone around Grand Central Terminal. Warren & Wetmore, the architects, explained that one of the outstanding features of the plan is the offering of from 15,000 to 60,000 square feet on one floor to large corporations.

The same co-operative ownership plan which has been worked successfully in several large apartment houses in the Park avenue district will be followed in financing the Grand Central Building. Approximately two-thirds of the office

Grand Union Hotel Site Goes Begging At Auction Sale

Unfavorable Terms Fixed by City Authorities Prevent Bidding on This and Four Other Parcels with Subway Easements

THERE were no bids for the old Grand Union Hotel site and for several other pieces of city-owned property at the auction sale Wednesday conducted by Henry Brady and authorized by Transit Construction Commissioner John H. Delaney.

Buyers were found for only two of the six big plots offered at various upset figures and four properties were withdrawn from the sale after ineffectual efforts on the part of the auctioneer to stimulate interest in the offerings.

Real estate men expressed the opinion that two powerful deterrent factors had operated against the success of the sale. The first factor was the unfavorable terms demanded by the city, which called for the payment of the entire purchase price in cash not later than July 26.

The second factor was the recent announcement that the directors of the Victory Hall Association had definitely decided upon the site for the erection of the war memorial building, to be financed by popular subscription in a ten-day drive, beginning on Armistice Day, November 11. Under the law recently enacted at Albany the association may acquire by purchase or condemnation any block which it desires for its purposes. For this reason, it was said, many prospective bidders were unwilling to tie up large amounts of cash in a site which in a very short time might be involved in long and costly condemnation proceedings.

This theory was scouted by Commissioner John H. Delaney, who insisted that the provisions of the Victory Hall condemnation bill did not specify the Grand Union site, and therefore the Victory Hall Association was no more entitled to it than to any other block in the city.

The real deterrent to the sale, Mr. Delaney said, lay in the curtailment of credits by banks which prevented prospective buyers from raising sufficient money on mortgage to justify the purchase of the property. This difficulty might have been overcome, he added, if the city had been able to offer easier terms. His statement was borne out in a measure by the fact that four out of the entire six choice parcels offered at the sale had to be withdrawn for lack of bids.

To carry out its subway construction program the city bought the Grand Union in May, 1914, for $3,577,000, and the work of demolishing the hotel brought the entire cost up to $4,221,000. Since then the city has been losing an average of $1,000 a day, or $365,000 a year, in interest charges and loss of taxes, according to an estimate by one authority. On this basis the loss in the six years has been about $1,990,000.

The block front on West Broadway from Barcley street to Park Place, formerly occupied by the Martin B. Brown printing plant, was sold to John B. Hibbard for a client for the upset price of $325,000. The buyer plans a commercial improvement. This plot, which has an area of 14,583 square feet and foundations sufficient to support a thirty-story building, cost the city $654,000.

Charles F. Noyes, for a client, bought the rectangular plot on the west side of Flatbush avenue extension in Brooklyn, 120 feet north of DeKalb avenue, for $14,250, or $2,250 above the upset price. It cost the city $24,000.

The building site at the northeast corner of William and Beekman streets, a plot with an area of 5,315 square feet, in the insurance district, was one of the plots withdrawn. This plottage, which cost the city $226,749, was offered at an upset price of $185,000. The other properties withdrawn were the block front on the west side of Centre street from Canal to Walker street, which cost $146,775, and was offered for $85,000, and the block front on the west side of Centre street, from Canal to Howard street, which cost $559,000 and was offered for $175,000. The great difference between the original costs and the upset prices were explained by the fact that the city retained in each instance valuable easement rights.

space will be sold to tenants who assume the obligation of purchasing stock in the corporation to the amount of seven years' rent in advance. This initial investment is to be paid in several installments covering the eighteen months in which it is estimated, barring interruptions caused by strikes, shortage of materials and other contingencies of that nature, the building may be completed.

All running expenses, including ground rental and taxes, will be met by revenue from rental of the remaining one-third of the floor space.

Major Weaver has announced to real estate brokers that space will be offered first in the Grand Central Building, the larger of the two skyscrapers. Both buildings will be erected by a syndicate including Major Weaver, William Crawford and Walter Russell of New York, and Edward H. Everett of Washington, D. C. The syndicate has an option on a twenty-one-year lease, with a privilege of two reneyals, on the property from the New York Central and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad companies. Douglas L. Elliman & Company are the agents of the syndicate in supervising the sale of stock and rental of space in the two buildings.

The first one of the twin structures to be built will be known as the Grand Central Building. It will be erected on the two blocks between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets from Madison to Park avenues, but will virtually be two buildings divided by Vanderbilt avenue extension. A series of connecting bridges over the street will make a new marble way of what is indicated on official city maps as the extension of Vanderbilt avenue which now ends at Forty-fifth street.

That section of the Grand Central Building on the block bounded by Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets, Madison avenue and Vanderbilt avenue extension will be thirty-one stories high with the upper floors set back to conform with the building regulations. The section located on the block bounded by Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets, Park avenue and Vanderbilt avenue extension, will be seventeen stories high.

No name has been selected as yet for the co-operative office building to be erected on the block bounded by Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets, Madison and Vanderbilt avenue extension. The architects have made this building thirty-one stories high, so that the twin towers may add to the dignity and impressiveness of this project, the largest single real estate development in the business, hotel and financial zone enveloping Grand Central Terminal.

The site by Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets, Vanderbilt avenue extension and Park avenue is not included in this project.

Among the real estate firms represented at the conference to bring out suggestions concerning the Grand Central Building plan were Stephen H. Tyng & Company, Loton H. Slawson & Company, Pease & Elliman, Frederick Fox & Company, Charles F. Noyes & Company, William Cruickshank & Sons, Albert B. Ashforth & Company, Brown, Wheelock & Company, Frank Veiller, Brett & Goode, Horace S. Ely & Company, Douglas L. Elliman & Company, and others. Leonard Schultz, of Warren & Wetmore, explained the main features of the architectural plan which brings the co-operative office buildings in harmony with other buildings in the Grand Central group.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Commercial Buildings Throughout the Downtown Area Loomed Strongly and Cooperative Apartment Houses are Attracting More Tenant Investors

SINCE the previous issue of the Record and Guide much has happened in the real estate market of interest to business men as well as to investors and operators. The week shows a larger number of sales than is usual in the west side of the city south of Fourteenth street. Old buildings in the Battery district, in the neighborhood of the St. John's Park terminus of the New York Central, in Greenwich Village and in the old wholesale drygoods district figured in the movement. There is a pronounced mercantile movement to these parts of the city. A notable instance of it transpired recently when a wholesale stationery firm that had been in the William street neighborhood for a century bought a building in Washington street for its own uses and occupancy. And there are other similar cases. The Seventh avenue and Varick street subway route has given the lower west side an accessibility that will cause a complete structural and commercial change in it during the next decade. Demand for particular business sites must necessarily cause an upward trend of property values.

The passing of the Hotel Woodstock, in West Forty-third street, into the hands of the Du Pont interests would seem to show that this syndicate, which controls much hotel space adjacent, believes that the Times Square neighborhood is not going to be captured altogether by loft and office buildings, even though the Knickerbocker is a victim of the mercantile movement thereabouts. There was a rumor that another famous large hotel in the district had given way to business invasion, and while it seems possible, there was no confirmation of the rumor.

Co-operative buying of high class apartment houses continues fairly active. The news columns will show the transactions of that character. It is likely that the movement will gain impetus.

Numerous good-sized loft and office buildings changed hands during the last seven days and a notable transaction was the leasing by George Ehret of a valuable plot of his in East 125th street for renovation and improvement for varied business purposes. Another break in the row of private dwellings in West Fortieth street, overlooking Bryant Park, was made by a business firm that will remodel the building for its own purposes.

There were numerous fine dwellings sold north of Fifty-ninth street, notably on Riverside Drive and in West End avenue. In the face of excessive apartment rentals the circumstance would seem to show a reversion to good private houses. Perhaps, after all, there may be a renaissance of fine dwellings, as there seems now to be of middle class individual homes.

Maiden lane contributed an impressive sale of the week when six ownerships in one block were transformed into two ownerships. Two parcels in upper Sixth avenue changed hands. A Beaver street parcel was bought, while an important Liberty street corner and a Front street corner changed ownership. A large corner office building on Madison avenue was bought.

The capacity of the market was reflected at private sale. One prominent auctioneer has been conspicuous lately for the number of sales he has made at private contract.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week was 118, as against 126 last week and 79 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 60, as compared with 50 last week and 24 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 58, as compared with 76 last week and 55 a year ago.

From the Bronx 33 sales at private contract were reported, as against 28 last week and 48 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 717.

Career of Henry Brady.

HENRY BRADY, the auctioneer who offered for sale Wednesday, the surplus properties of the city of New York that were taken over in connection with easements for subway construction, including the old Grand Union Hotel site had been long identified with the auction and private phases of the real estate business before he went into business for himself. Born in New York on August 8, 1882, the son of a man bearing the same name as himself, Mr. Brady started his business career as collector for Joseph P. Day, with whose interests he was identified for seven years and became manager of the Day office when it was at 258 Broadway. Mr. Brady held the first voluntary auction sale for Mr. Day and the latter congratulated him upon the skill with which he handled it for him. That was in 1904.

Leaving Mr. Day in 1905 Mr. Brady started in business on his own account at 200 West 23d street, where he remained until his removal on May 1 to 139 West 33d street, within one-half block of the Pennsylvania station. One of his notable sales at auction was that of the Century Theatre. An auction sale that drew considerable attention was the sale, in 1917, for the State Banking Department of 2,000 lots, many of them at Grantwood on the New Jersey shore, opposite Grant's Tomb. It was recognized as the largest sale of lots that year. Mr. Brady served as Sheriff's Auctioneer for Sheriffs Harburger and Smith, and he is now auctioneer for Sheriff Knott. He is almost a daily figure on the auction block.

A distinctive phase of his career, too, is that of an appraiser of real estate. In 1914 Mr. Brady appraised all the real estate of private bankers on the east side of the city for the State Banking Department; and the outcome of his work was the prosecution of numerous private bankers in that part of the city by District Attorney Whitman. He was an expert witness called by the District Attorney during their trials. He has been an expert appraiser for the State Banking Department since 1914.

During the acquisition of the new Court House site Mr. Brady was chosen as city expert for the appraisal of the various lots assembled for the site; and he was Commissioner of Appraisal in the matter of the widening of Seventh avenue and of Varick street.

HENRY BRADY.

In real estate inheritance tax matters Mr. Brady was appraiser for State Comptroller Sohmer; and he is now appraising real estate for the Internal Revenue Estate Tax Division. He is aiding City Chamberlain Johnson in appraising real estate for the Internal Revenue Estate Tax Division. He is aiding City Chamberlain Johnson in appraising the value of city real estate on which the city holds mortgages. He was appraiser for the city in the exchanges of property at Inwood Hill for Fulton Market, and many of the old downtown firehouses and schoolhouses during the Mitchell administration.

Among some of the large private estates appraised by Mr. Brady were those of Benjamin Altman, Isidor Straus, Peter Doelger, Jacob Ruppert and John Jacob Astor.

Auctioneer for the United States Marshal for the Southern District of New York, Mr. Brady is also a member of the executive committee of the Real Estate Auctioneers' Association.

Report of Charles F. Noyes Co.

CHARLES F. NOYES CO.'S annual report has been announced. Paul B. Warner & Co., certified accountants, state that the business aggregated nearly $75,000,000 for the 12 months ending April 30,1920. This represents the company's biggest year, with transactions aggregating nearly $250,000 daily. The record is remarkable when it is considered that the business was mostly made up of a large number of relatively small transactions in leasing and selling. The Warner report also shows that the agency business of the company made its greatest increase during the fiscal year, both in number of buildings secured and increase of tenants. The company manages all types of business property from the Battery to the Harlem River. The mortgage department, under Edwin C. Benedict's management, made a substantial gain over the year 1918-1919, and Mr. Benedict states that he expects a decided improvement in mortgage conditions early in the fall, and at the present time he has sufficient mortgage funds to satisfy the clients of the company.

The Charles F. Noyes Co. was organized in 1898, and from the beginning has been under the active management of Charles F. Noyes. It is one of the few businesses of its type operated and owned by an individual. Following his custom of 11 years, the company distributed a few days ago among its employes the yearly cooperative fund. Every employe participated.

Features inaugurated by the company, and other matters of interest to the company's clients affecting the organization for the past 12 months include: The purchase by Mr. Noyes of 118 William st., a plot of 3,200 square feet, adjoining the 20-story building at the northeast corner of John and William sts., and which is now being improved with a modern 6-story office building from plans of Clinton & Russell at an expense of nearly $350,000. Early in the fall a portion of the building, including the ground floor, will be occupied by the company. The organization, with regular meetings and monthly luncheons of a Board of Control, consists of Col. M. S. Keene, chairman; William B. Falconer, Joseph D. Cronan, Frederick B. Lewis Francis W. Gridley, William J. O'Connor, Edwin C. Benedict, Charles F. Heller, Thomas Christie, H. S. Ford, F. S. Weillert, Walter J. Cashel, A. B. Himmelman, T. D. McBride and E. H. Hesse. All company matters are regularly taken up and discussed at the meetings of this board. The following Executive Commitee was appointed for the coming year: Col. M. S.

Keene, chairman; William B. Falconer, F. B. Lewis, H. S. Ford, F. S. Willert and W. J. Cashel. Col. M. S. Keene, a trained executive, recently came to the company as office manager, and takes charge of the organization. The coming year a life insurance feature, by which every employe of the company will be insured at the company's expense will be introduced.

Mr. Noyes states that the demand for space is as brisk as ever, and there are no recessions in rental values at any downtown point, and that the buying demand for buildings for occupancy remains undiminished. It is his opinion that there will be no material difference in occupancy conditions in 1921, and the company advises its clients whose leases are expiring on May 1, 1921, to take up the matter of renewal or securing new space, either by lease or purchase, at an early date.

Du Pont Interests Buy Hotel Woodstock.

The Hotel Claridge Co., which controls the hotel at the southwest corner of Broadway and West 43d street, formerly known as Rector's, has bought the 12-story Hotel Woodstock, 127 to 139 West 43d street, on a plot 144.4x100.5, from the Hotel Woodstock Co., headed by Henry G. Smith, and in which former Governor Clement, of Vermont, was also interested. The Woodstock was built in 1903 and practically rebuilt in 1909. The Claridge Co., which is headed by the Coleman Du Pont interests, also bought the three 4-story and basement brownstone houses adjoining the Woodstock at 141 to 145 West 43d street, on a plot 60x100.5.

These houses were acquired by the Woodstock in December, 1918, as a site for a future annex, and it is understood that such an annex will now be built by the new owners of the property, connecting the Hotel Woodstock with the Claridge.

Only a few weeks ago the Hotel Wallick, on the northeast corner of Broadway and West 43d street, and the Hotel Yates, at 147 to 151 West 43d street, were taken over by the Claridge interests, who now control a Times Square plot which measures 203.9 feet on Broadway, 131.5 on West 44th street and 389.8 on West 43d street, taking in about one-half of the entire north block front between Broadway and Sixth avenue. Extensive alterations are now being made to the Wallick and the Yates.

The Woodstock will not lose its identity, but will be operated as an independent unit of the chain. With the ownership of the Woodstock the list of hotel and restaurant properties controlled by Coleman du Pont and L. M. Boomer includes the Waldorf-Astoria, the McAlpin, the Annex, formerly the Martinique, the Claridge, the Woodstock, the Yates, the Bellevue-Avenue Restaurant and the Cafe Savarin in this city.

Touring by Electric.

Electric vehicle tours to points within radius of 250 miles of New York are described in a booklet which the New York Edison Company has just published for free distribution to electric car owners. The booklet also lists all electric automobile charging stations and garages in and around New York. Two route maps are included showing trips which may be made in an electric starting from New York City to points as far away as Buffalo, Albany, Pittsfield, Mass., Hartford, Conn., Atlantic City, N. J., or Philadelphia.

Owners have come to realize that the electric is capable of making much longer trips than it has generally been called upon to make. It was to give information about such trips and to comply with constant requests for up-to-date lists of charging stations around New York that this booklet was published. A great deal of very valuable information on the care of batteries is included in the book.

Mayor's Housing Conference Committee Is Instructed

Plans Outlined to Various Groups That Will Assist in Relieving Famine in Living Accommodations in Greater New York

THIS week Mayor Hylan made public the specific requests he has made to the various groups in the Housing Committee named some time ago. The plans thus outlined inaugurates the extensive campaign that will have for its objective the construction of many hundreds of homes in an effort to relieve the famine in living accommodations so general throughout the city.

The Public and Press Committees have been asked to recommend legislation that may be feasible to bring speedy relief in the present crisis, as, for instance, the exemption of new construction from taxation for a limited number of years, exemption of mortgages from income taxes and giving some elasticity to the Tenement House law with a view to increasing the number of apartments available for home seekers.

The request to the Real Estate Committee involved encouragement to clients in favor of the construction of new houses and the alteration of existing old-fashioned dwellings into modern living quarters, and even to discourage work on non-essential construction, and also to help in the formation of corporations, building and loan associations and other co-operative organizations for joint ownership.

The Architects' Committee was asked to give preference to house plans and to engage in any plan that may increase and better living conditions, particularly in multiple family dwellings, and to bear in mind that the class of houses most needed in the community at the present time is the house for working people as well as for the so-called "middle class," and that all efforts should be directed to planning living accommodations that will be available at a minimum rental per room.

The Transportation Committee was urged to give preference to all building materials and supplies used for the construction of living quarters and to see that all such materials is transported and released expeditiously and at the lowest possible expense; to release, wherever possible, building materials now held up by the railroad freight congestion, and to get into direct touch and contact with railroad and other transportation companies, as well as with the Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, etc., through Vice-President M. J. Cashel, who is a member of the Labor Group of the Mayor's Housing Conference Committee.

The Manufacturers of Building Materials Committee has been asked to give preference to the production and prompt delivery of materials and supplies for the construction of additional housing accommodations, to stabilize and get down to the minimum the price of essential building materials and to produce as intensively as the needs may require.

The Statistics and Information Committee was asked to gather the necessary information, and to provide for and encourage its publicity wherever the same may be beneficial to the purposes of the Housing Committee.

According to a recent announcement by the Interracial Council, of New York City, approximately 275,000 emigrants have left the United States since the armistice, taking $550,000 with them, while during the same period immigration has consisted largely of war widows and other women or industrial non-producers.

Remodelling Hotel Earlington for Business Purposes

Alterations Already Under Way Will Change Well-Known Hostelry Into Modern Store and Office Building

THE Hotel Earlington, a ten-story and basement structure, located at 49 to 55 West Twenty-seventh street, between Broadway and Sixth avenue, is being altered into a modern business building containing stores, offices and showrooms, as a result of a deal recently closed. This hotel, which contained about two hundred rooms and occupies a plot 100 by 100, was sold by Benjamin Menschel to a syndicate represented by B. L. Shiverts and David Strausman, attorneys, for a sum said to be approximately $500,000. The new owners contemplate the expenditure of about $200,000 in remodelling the structure for business purposes, thus making the entire transaction involve a total outlay of approximately $700,000.

Until recently the Hotel Earlington was used by the War Camp Community Service as a hotel for visiting soldiers and sailors, and since demobilization the building has been used by the Pennsylvania Railroad to house its workmen.

J. G. Siegel, Builder. Bloodgood & Sugarman, Architects.

HOTEL EARLINGTON IN WEST 27TH STREET.

The alteration of this building is from plans by Bloodgood & Sugarman, architects, under the supervision of J. G. Siegel, general contractor, who recently completed the Pennsylvania garage at 146 to 154 West Thirtieth street for Stern Brothers, from plans by Starrett & Van Velck, and who also lately finished remodelling the five-story mercantile building at 471 to 473 Fourth avenue, for the Rhinelander Estate. He also has successfully altered a number of high class private residences. Mr. Siegel was for a number of years in charge of the estimating department for Bing & Bing and later was associated with J. E. R. Carpenter in a similar capacity.

The work on the Hotel Earlington will involve important changes to the front of the structure, providing for stores on the first floor and the creation of offices and showrooms on the upper floors by the removal of existing partitions. The building now contains an old-style electric elevator which will be replaced by a new high speed machine and two additional electric elevators will be installed in existing shafts.

New plumbing and electric wiring will be installed throughout. Among the special conveniences planned for tenants of this building will be shower baths and hand ball court located on the roof.

It is planned to have all work completed and the building ready for occupancy by early autumn. Already preliminary negotiations are underway for space in this building to be leased for long terms. The owners stated to a representative of the Record and Guide that rentals in this building will average from $3 to $4 per square foot and it is likely that the structure will be fully leased long before completion.

Governor Blames Legislature for Not Aiding Building

Ignored Fundamental Conditions Which Have Resulted in Housing Shortage and Passed Rent Laws Which Touched Only One Phase of Question

(Special to the Record and Guide)

Albany, May 28, 1920.

THE Legislature ignored the fundamentals of the housing situation at the last session. The Legislature overlooked the fact that the vital necessity of this situation is construction, the building of more houses.

"The laws that were passed to prevent rent profiteering only touch one phase of the question. They do not affect the fundamental situation. They merely scratch the surface.

"Houses and more houses and the enactment of laws that will encourage investment of money in buildings and building operations and the adoption of the suggestions incorporated in the report of the Reconstruction Commission which made a broad and comprehensive survey and investigation of the housing situation in New York City and up-state localities, will remedy the present situation. Of this I am convinced, and communications I have received lately strengthen my convictions."

Governor Smith made this statement when asked this week whether he was considering the recall of the Legislature in extra session for the purpose of enacting legislation to solve the housing problem. The Governor replied directly that he was not prepared to say at this time whether or not he would reconvene the Legislature, but he indicated that it was his belief that at the next session something practical should be done in the way of encouraging building and transforming tenements in New York City into habitable abodes.

"The housing situation in New York City constitutes a problem that will force itself upon the Legislature," the Governor declared. "If we continue as we have there will be no living quarters on Manhattan Island the rent for which will be in accord at all with the conveniences afforded.

"Under present circumstances the old law tenements—I mean tenements which were built before the enactment of the Tenement House Law, offer a problem in themselves. Practically all of these old law tenements occupy the entire lot upon which they are located. And a majority of them are in such condition that people will not live in them. This is true on the east and west sides of Manhattan and in the Bronx, as well as in Kings and Queens. The Reconstruction Commission's report contained a solution for the problem these tenements constitute and provided simple plans for their conversion into habitable quarters. But the Legislature did not give the proposed solution serious consideration.

"It might be necessary in years to come to tear down these old tenements and build anew, thus utilizing the land and giving it greater value. The housing situation in New York City is such as to make this project feasible in the long run.

"Tenements built since the enactment of the Tenement House Law and old one-family dwellings must also be converted into living quarters for families, and this will require legislation.

"I believe that legislation which will encourage investments in building operations and carry into effect the plan provided by the Reconstruction Commission's report will do much to remedy the situation all over the state. This report urges the creation of a commission in New York City which will map out and plan new buildings and provide for the alteration and transformation of present structures which for various reasons are not habitable."

The Governor's views on the housing situation are in striking accord with the proposals favored by the New York City Real Estate Board so far as reconstruction and new building is concerned.

The Governor indicated that the failure of the Legislature to take the steps which would lay before the people the constitutional propositions providing for the establishment of an executive budget and the consolidation of state departments and commissions, supplanting the present 187 state bureaus with something like twenty departments and abolishing many useless departments, was not at all satisfactory to the people. He added that he predicated this statement upon numerous communications he had received from civic bodies all over the state, expressing dissatisfaction with the substitution measure introduced in the last days of the session, ostensibly designed to effect this reorganization of state departments. The Governor declared that these measures do not go far enough and would leave the Legislature with the power to increase the departments at will, with the result that after a time the departmental organization would be numerically the equivalent of the present organization of the state government.

Before the expiration of the thirty-day period in which the Governor must act upon all legislation left with him at adjournment, Governor Smith vetoed two dozen or more bills which would have placed upwards of $3,000,000 upon New York City in the way of additional pensions for various department officers and employes. Some of these bills proposed changes in the present system of retirement and others called for enlarging the pension rolls by additions of more officers and employes.

One of the last bills signed providd an appropriation of $25,000 for preliminary work on the State Psychiatric Institute on Ward's Island for the construction of which an appropriation of $700,000 is authorized. The Governor vetoed the so-called Subway Constructor's Relief bill.

The New York City Budget bill providing for publication of all departmental estimates in the City Record before September 20 each, and prescribing the layout of schedules in the budget, was also vetoed by the Governor. The veto followed the disapproval of Mayor Hylan and was based upon the contention made by New York City fiscal authorities that the innovations proposed by this bill could be initiated without the enactment of a mandatory charter amendment. Comptroller Craig opposed the enactment of the bill while it was pending in the Legislature.

Large Clubhouse for Teamsters and Chauffeurs Is Planned

A PROJECTED building operation of more than ordinary interest, scheduled for erection in the mid-town section of Manhattan, was recently disclosed through the announcement that Slee & Bryson, architects, 154 Montague street, Brooklyn, were preparing plans and specifications for a combination clubhouse and office building that will be used as the headquarters of the Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' Union. This structure will be located on a plot, 50 by 100 feet, recently purchased at 250 to 252 West Twenty-fifth street, and it is proposed to commence construction just as soon as the plans are finished and estimates can be taken. This building will represent an outlay of approximately $250,000.

The preliminary plans for this project call for a structure four stories in height, with basement. The frontage will be 50 feet and the building will have a depth of about 90 feet. The facade has been designed in the Renaissance style and will be constructed of Indiana limestone, terra cotta and face brick. Throughout the construction will be strictly fireproof and the building will embody a number of unusual features in its plans. The basement and part of the first floor will be used as an auditorium seating approximately one thousand, in which union meetings can be held. The upper floors will be devoted to executive offices, general offices and private meeting rooms.

Vast Amount of New Construction Work Is Projected

Figures Prepared by F. W. Dodge Company Show Steady Gain in Volume of Proposed Building Throughout Metropolitan District

THE local famine in building materials seems not to have affected the preparation of plans for new building and engineering projects in the metropolitan district. Architects and engineers are exceptionally busy on plans for a large number of important structural operations, and although at the present moment it would seem as though the major part of this work must be held in abeyance for a while, at least until the railroad freight congestion is relieved, the building industry is optimistic for the future. There is no doubt but for the exsting scarcity of lime, cement, terra cotta products and other essential structural commodities, the building industry would now be engaged to its full capacity, and this part of the country experiencing a building boom of greater proportions than ever before known.

According to the statistics compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company, showing the number and value of projected building and engineering projects in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, the week of May 15 to 21 inclusive will go on record as the best of the current year. During this period reports of plans being prepared for 472 new structural operations were obtained and this construction will involve the outlay of approximately $36,921,400. During the same week and in the same territory, contracts were awarded for 254 building and engineering projects that will require an expenditure of $13,877,400.

The list of 472 projected operations is divided as follows: 105 business buildings such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $24,388,700; 21 educational projects of various types, $749,100; 10 hospitals and institutions, $736,400; 47 factory and industrial buildings, $2,077,800; 1 structure for the U. S. Navy, $100,000; 4 public buildings, $120,000; 52 public works and public utilities, $2,458,900; 8 religious and memorial buildings, $198,000; 208 residential projects including apartments, flats and tenements and one- and two-family dwellings, $5,114,500; and 16 social and recreational projects, $978,000.

The list of 254 contracts awarded during the week of May 15 to 21 included 45 business and commercial buildings of various types, $1,395,000; 11 educational projects, $548,600; 1 hospital, $25,000; 35 factory and industrial buildings, $2,140,800; 1 public building, $200,000; 45 public works and public utilities, $5,972,400; 2 religious and memorial buildings, $150,000; 105 residential operations of different types, $2,655,000 and 8 social and recreational projects, $890,600.

August Gross, who died May 26, first entered the employ of Toch Brothers, manufacturers of the R I W Damp Resisting Paints, Varnishes, Chemicals, etc., in 1889. Mr. Gross was very well known to architects, builders and engineers throughout this city, in fact, throughout the country. He was loyal and faithful and always had his firm's interests at heart, and developed a great following. His passing away is a distinct loss not alone to the firm and their staff, but to all those who knew him, for everybody he came in contact with held him in the highest esteem. He is survived by a widow, three sons and a daughter, two of the sons having served during the war.

Laminated Glass.

Serious consequences are especially to be feared from the accidental breaking, in collision or otherwise, of automobile windshields, back and side curtain lights, street car doors and windows, railroad passenger car windows, locomotive cab windows, port hole and other window lights on ships, die cutting, grinding, polishing, loading and other types of machine guards, office and bank partitions, revolving doors, doors and windows generally in dwellings, stores, factories, etc.

Science has come to the rescue with a laminated glass consisting of two sheets of ordinary glass between which is interposed a thin sheet of pyroxlin plastic. Hydraulic pressure and the application of the proper degree of heat welds the glass and pyroxylin sheet together into a solid unit. The pyroxylin binder prevents any scattering of fragments in the event of violent breakage. The transparency of the glass is reduced but 2½ to 3 per cent. by the insertion of the plastic sheet. This would never be noticed by the ordinary person not especially looking for a difference. If life and accident insurance statistics were consulted to get a record of the vast number of accidents in the aggregate resulting from broken glass, it could readily be shown that the increased first cost of laminated glass to be used in exposed places where experience has proven accidents are most likely to happen, would be more than offset by savings in death and injury insurance payments, loss of wages due to lost time while recovering from wounds and damage to property. Then, too, the suffering and disfigurement caused by cuts should be considered. Laminated glass has its place in the world. As its virtues become known, it is undoubtedly going to be specified in many industries in which it is now unknown.

At this meeting the heavy demand for lime for numerous uses, the critical car supply, and educational publicity will be discussed. The program as now outlined will include addresses by men of national prominence in this rapidly growing industry.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

A NUMBER of important building operations throughout Greater New York have been forced to stand idle during the past week because of the famine in cementment, lime, terra cotta, fabricated steel and other structural essentials. The supply situation is serious and will not be improved while the railroad freight congestion remains unrelieved or while strikes prevent the hauling of supplies to the jobs. The building industry has been extremely patient during the crisis and has made full allowance for the inability of the building material and supply dealers to promptly fill all orders for structural commodities.

In Brooklyn there has been a sudden falling off in house building activity due entirely to the shortage of materials and speculative builders declare they will not commence projected operations until fully assured of an adequate supply of all materials required to complete the jobs. The same situation applies to Queens and the outlying sections of Long Island. Here the building material famine has been felt more keenly than in Manhattan and the Bronx, and a vast amount of construction is being held up. Contractors from the eastern end of Long Island have expressed a willingness to send motor trucks into the city and haul their supplies fifty or one hundred miles to the jobs, but even at that they could not be accommodated because nothing is available for them, or any urban project either.

Building material prices for the most part are purely nominal, as none of the local dealers have anything in stock to sell, and will not have until the railroads are back to a normal basis and the harbor lighterage situation is improved.

Common Brick—As a result of the many factors operating to prevent local building progress, the past week in the New York wholesale market for Hudson River common brick was practically without feature. Sales were relatively light for this time of the year, but prices are holding firm at the $25 a thousand level. A total of 19 barge loads of brick arrived during the week from up-river points, and at present there is a large amount of unsold common brick on the market. Although practically all of the Hudson River brick plants are now in operation the shortage of labor is likely to seriously curtail the 1920 output, and from all accounts common brick prices will be advanced next autumn owing to the increased manufacturing costs of this year. Brickyard labor is exceedingly scarce and producers as a rule are paying at least twenty-five per cent. more today than they did one year ago for the same class of labor. The advance has effetced all grades. Another wage advance was recently allowed the barge captains, and the unloaders have obtained the increase recently demanded. In both cases the brick manufacturers have assumed the burden without advancing the wholesale price of common brick.

Summary—Transactions in the North River common brick market for the week ending Friday, May 2, 1920. Condition of market: Demand decreased; prices firm and unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $25 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 19; sales, 15. Distribution: Manhattan, 4; Bronx, 2; Brooklyn, 4; New Jersey points, 5.

Lime—Local building materials state that the supply situation has not improved during the week and that according to the present outlook conditions will not change until the railroad freight congestion is relieved, and furthermore until the yardmen's strike is settled and the roads are back on a normal basis. At present the market is entirely out of lime, and a number of important building operations in this district have been forced to shut down pending the time this material is again available.

Portland Cement—Although dealers have been able to get one or two cars of cement through the blockade that have to some extent relieved the famine, the situation is still serious and cannot be materially improved while the railroad congestion lasts. It has come to a point now where local dealers are ordering cars sidetracked at Newark, East Orange and other points and trucking in to the jobs. This naturally increases the cost considerably and is not likely to be done to any great extent. Cement manufacturers are badly in need of cars to ship their product, which has now accumulated to a point where production is retarded. Another factor is the shortage of bags. Dealers are unable to ship empty bags back to the mills and producers are short of containers in which to send their product to market.

Face Brick—There is a good demand for this material but the shortage of freight cars is keeping back shipments from producing points. Manufacturers generally have their plants going to the full extent of the available labor supply, and if the delivery situation was normal would have extreme difficulty in keeping up with the demand. Plans have been prepared for a large amount of country house work in which face brick is to be used in quantity, and good business is anticipated during the remainder of the year.

Structural Steel—During the past week there has been a decided drop in both inquiry and awards in the structural steel market. This is entirely due to the fact that prospective builders are unwilling to commit themselves while the general building situation is so uncertain and materials are as scarce as they are today. If the railroad freight situation were improved the building industry would be tremendously stimulated, and it is certain that the Metropolitan district would experience a building boom of unprecedented proportions. The plans for a vast amount of new construction are already completed, and in a number of instances the contracts have been placed but active work is being held up pending an adjustment of the material supply situation.

Roofing and Building Papers—The demand for these materials have improved to some extent during the past week but it is in nowise up to the normal for this season of the year. The fact that cement, lime, lath, and other building essentials are practically out of the market at present is responsible for holding a vast amount of projected construction in abeyance. Prices range considerable, but have not advanced above the levels of one week ago.

Cast Iron Pipe—Buying activity has dropped off to some extent but the market is healthy and manufacturers are confident of the future. Producers are reporting an output of about fifty per cent. of maximum capacity, and this is largely due to inability to obtain sufficient labor and to get full efficiency from those who are employed. Prices are firm with, New York quotations as follows: 6 in. and heavier, $76.30 per ton; 4 in., $79.30, with $2 per ton additonal for Class A and gas pipe.

Nails—The shortage that has now existed for months still maintains, and although some jobbers hope to get shipments during the next week or so the outlook for a full supply is not promising for months to come. Builders are now being forced to shop about in various hardware stores in order to pick up nails in ten-pound lots, and as a consequence operations are being seriously delayed. Prices are uncertain and vary considerable according to the supply and the intensity of the demand.

Window Glass—There has been practically no change in the plate or window glass market situation during the past few weeks. Jobbers are almost entirely out of stock and buyers are willing to take almost anything in order to finish up their buildings. Manufacturers are months behind on their orders, and what little stock they have been able to accumulate is being held back on account of difficulty in obtaining freight cars for transportation and the local yard congestion. Prices are uncertain and entirely dependent upon the available supply.

Lumber.—Locally the market has been greatly affected during the past two or three weeks by the railroad freight embargoes, which have practically precluded the movement of building materials. The supplies of lumber products are therefore lower than they have been for some time past, and in the face of this situation there is a steadily increasing demand resulting from the growing number of active building projects in the Metropolitan District. There would be a tremendous volume of business in the lumber market if adequate supplies could be provided, and the outlook is considered excellent if the transportation difficulties can be untangled within a short time. Lumber prices are exceptionally firm, and in some lines an advance is shown over the levels that maintained one month ago.

Building Stone—Owing to the general conditions demand for this material is not heavy and contractors are experiencing difficulty in getting stone ordered some time ago on account of the freight congestion. Prices are firm.

Work Resumed

Interrupted by unsettled conditions during the war, work on the twenty-story office building at William and John Streets has been resumed, and soon one of the largest buildings in that section will be completed

The original plans provided for a private generating plant, but a close study of the electrical needs of the building showed the economy of Central Station Service. Accordingly, current for 3000 lamps and 550 horsepower in motors will be supplied by The New York Edison Company

Included in the equipment are seven high speed electric elevators, and the usual ventilating system and house pumps. Edison Service not only provides the maximum in reliability and convenience, but invariably it is more economical than the service of the private plant. If you are planning a big building we should like to discuss its electrical requirements with you

Fulton Market a Garage.

Rose Street Warehouse Corporation leased to the Namrab Corporation for a term of 18 years the west part of the block bounded by Fulton, Front, Beekman and South streets, formerly known as Fulton Market. The tenant proposes to alter and improve the premises into a garage with warehouse facilities. The rental for the term with the cost of improvements, aggregate $330,000. The plans for the improvement have been made by Leo Feibel, C. E., who estimates the cost at $10,000. The excessiev demand for garage space for auto trucks that have had to be stored in Brooklyn and other remote locations have necessitated the rebuilding of this familiar landmark.

Let Us Tell You Something

Nobody can tell the rating of a boiler by looking at it. And nobody knows whether the rating placed upon it by the manufacturer is adequate or not until the boiler gets into actual operation. By that time it is usually too late to make a change.

RICHARDSON & BOYNTON CO.'S boilers are honestly rated. Besides that, they are famous as economical heaters. In the buildings that you are concerned with, it is important that you make no mistake on the rating of your heating system.

Write us for heating manuals which show you how to avoid mistakes in installing an adequate heating plant.

THE Annual Number of the RECORD & GUIDE QUARTERLY contains in this, the final issue of the year, all the data contained in the preceding three plus those of the fourth period, making in one compact volume, a complete transcription of all Conveyances, Miscellaneous Conveyances, such as Release of Mortgages and Dowers, Contracts, Agreements, Consents, Assignments of Rents, Power of Attorneys, Designation, Resignation and Appointment of New Trustees and Executors, etc., Mortgages, Extension of Mortgages, Participation and Subordination, Agreements of Mortgages, Assignments of Mortgages, Satisfied Mortgages, Leases, including consents, assignments, cancellations and surrender of leases; Real Estate Appraisals, Auction Sales, Wills, New Buildings and Alterations with cross references for the entire year, Borough of Manhattan. These records are arranged geographically, chronologically and alphabetically, so that the subscriber may, at a moment's notice, find the desired information. In order to make these records more complete the attorney's name is inserted in all Mortgages and a geographical cross reference to the Real Estate Appraisals is given. This permits the user in searching for the appraised value of a given parcel, and not having the name of the deceased, to obtain the information instantly. Years of experience have demonstrated that by using the RECORD & GUIDE QUARTERLY time and annoyance are saved. It is equally valuable to the broker who maintains an elaborate system of keeping records, or the man who must condense his plant.

EDITORIAL

Mr. Tyng's Excellent Suggestion

Mr. Stephen H. Tyng, president of the Real Estate Board, calls the attention of the 225,000 real estate owners of the city to the importance of their mobilization into a compact, aggressive organization for the protection of their interests against attacks which tend to decrease realty values. Co-operation of investors is necessary if hostile legislation and unreasonable gouging of taxpayers for superfluous "improvements" and exhorbitant salary grabs is to be sucessfully combatted.

"Real estate is on the defensive," declares the statement issued by Mr. Tyng. "The positive action taken by the Legislature proves this. It is proved no less by the negative performance of the Legislature and again by the tendency at Washington. Real estate is a shining mark for every legislator who wishes to become popular at the expense of the property-owner. It is a short-range target for every legislator who sees in it a sure source of revenue to support class legislation, factory workers' bills, welfare measures—anything, in short, that looks like a vote getter."

If real estate owners had been organized, Mr. Tyng rightly insists, the new rent laws could not have been passed as they were at the instance of a comparatively few vociferous agitators who had only a semblance of organization. Instead the bills providing for the exemption of the income up to $40,000 from mortgages, and the measure licensing real estate brokers, as well as other constructive legislation in the program of the Real Estate Board might have been passed. To show that real estate has been unjustly treated, Mr. Tyng brings out figures tabulated by the National Industrial Conference which prove that rentals throughout the country rose approximately 35 per cent. from July, 1914, to November, 1919, whereas the increase in the cost of clothing was 135 per cent.; food 92 per cent., and fuel, light and heat 48 per cent. In New York City for the same period the figures prepared by the United States Labor Department show increases in rentals of 23.39 per cent.; 219.66 per cent. for clothing; 172.92 per cent. for furniture; 90.95 per cent. for food, and 50.63 per cent. for fuel and light. These official statements indicate that landlords have not been "profiteering"—have not even been just to themselves in the safeguarding of their own interests.

Unless the deplorable situation is to continue and real estate owners be subjected to further intolerant criticism and vituperation they must join and support a central organization for the exertion of unified efforts for their mutual protection and betterment. The Real Estate Board, the directorate of which include some of the foremost realty men in the city, already with a well-seasoned organization and having an envious record for substantial work advantageous to all property-owners, offers the best medium for the unification of efforts to secure just laws and equable administration of the state's and city's finances so that realty shall again become, as it formerly was always held to be, a safe and conservative medium for investment.

It is therefore the duty of every property-owner to enroll in the membership of the Real Estate Board. Mr. Tyng points out that there are 225,000 real estate owners in the city, with a potential voting power of approximately 1,000,000. It must not be overlooked that this whole subject concerns not only real estate owners and lenders but millions who are depositing in savings banks or who hold policies in life insurance companies, the security back of which consists chiefly of real estate.

All of these have a responsibility as taxpayers and good citizens growing out of the ownership and use of real estate, upon which the whole financial structure of the city and the state is based. Part of this responsibility is to see that, while good and economical government is secured, legislative and official powers are not abused. For these abuses react on the whole community.

Must Be Settled Right

Leaders in the movement to keep the Port of New York open at all times have decided to form a permanent organization, backed by $5,000,000 of capital. Under this plan, it is believed by the Citizens' Transportation Committee, the commerce of the metropolis can be insured against such frequent interruptions as have occurred recently because of labor disturbances.

This is the outstanding feature of the week's developments in the local situation. Governor Smith, after making a personal investigation as to the facts, reached the only logical conclusion possible in the circumstances, namely, that the rights of the public must have first consideration. The Governor, while insisting that the primary step must be the return of the strikers to their work, offered to appear personally before the Interstate Commerce Commission to urge an increase in freight rates so that the wages of the coastwise workers could be put on the same basis as those of the deep sea men. Although Governor Smith made this public-spirited offer early in the week the strikers had not taken advantage of it up to Friday.

Before this issue of the Record and Guide reaches its subscribers the strikers may have voted to return to work. In that event, of course, the metropolis will gain the advantage of getting business along the water front moving once more. Helpful as that development would be, however, careful students of the problem will not be misled by such a temporary solution. The Citizens Transportation Committee and the important commercial bodies back of it have reached the definite conclusion that this matter will never be settled until it is settled right. The leaders in the movement to keep this port open at all times have indicated their reluctance to wage a contest for the "open shop" principle, but they also have made it very clear that if the labor leaders force them into such a contest they are prepared to take up the challenge and fight it out along those lines.

The position of the business interests of the metropolis is clearly outlined in the committee's declaration that "regardless of the attitude of the striking longshoremen and other employes of the coastwise shipping lines and the sympathetic efforts of the teamsters, the committee is resolved to continue its work in order to keep the channels of commerce freed of all obstructions and maintain to our citizens the rights guaranteed to them by the Federal and State constitutions."

Urges Upon Federal Reserve Board Relief of Housing

M. MORGENTHAU, JR., past president of the Real Estate Association of the State of New York and a nephew of Henry Morgenthau, recently nominated as Ambassador to Mexico by President Wilson, who has been engaged in the real estate and allied businesses in New York and Florida for over twenty years and is president of the M. Morgenthau, Jr., Co. and vice-president of the Associated Realty Investors, Inc., has addressed a public letter to Governor W. P. G. Harding of the Federal Reserve Board criticising his omission of housing from his list of the basic necessities of life which should be given preference in loans and urging him to issue a ringing statement to the Federal Reserve banks to correct this.

In Mr. Morgenthau's letter he says:

"In your statement dated May 24 you are quoted as saying: 'The board is insisting that all banks use discriminating judgment in making loans, giving preference to those which are necessary for the production and distribution of the basic necessities of life, such as clothing, food and fuel. In the exercise of this discrimination it is necessary to have the restraining influence of a rate.' It certanly is strange that you do not include among the 'basic necessities of life' housing.

"Unless something is done, and done quickly, to encourage a revival of the building industry, in so far as it pertains to housing, we will soon face a situation beside which the present hue and cry against the high cost of living will be insignificant. Under these circumstances it seems evident that it is the patriotic duty of the Federal Reserve Board to make a study of this situation and to assist in preventing just such a crisis. There seems to be an entirely unjustified prejudice among the Federal Reserve banks against loans to those engaged in the building industry and collateral lines. This prejudice should immediately be removed and builders be supplied with the necessary credit to encourage them to go ahead with the construction of more houses.

"I realize fully that the Federal Reserve banks cannot undertake to finance the construction of homes with permanent mortgages. Their funds must be kept liquid, while it is the function of the savings banks, insurance companies and other institutions which have funds for permanent investment to take care of these permanent loans.

"On the other hand, there is absolutely no reason why the Federal Reserve banks should not be encouraged to make the temporary loans which these builders require during construction and which will afterward be refinanced with permanent loans by these savings banks and other institutions. They should also lend liberally to builders who are constructing homes on contract and who require temporary credit to carry out these operations.

"May I not urge upon you the importance of a ringing statement to the banking fraternity calling attention to the critical condition of the housing situation and the imperative need for additional construction, together with a statement that you did not intentionally omit housing from your list of basic necessities of life? It may also be advisable for you to state clearly that housing construction is dependent on bank credits and that you consider loans to those engaged in the industry which is supplying this necessity 'essential loans' and worthy of every encouragement at this time."

New Building on Fifth Avenue for Banking House

MARKING the steady march of structural improvement north of Fifth avenue, a plot 100x180 at the northeast corner of the avenue and 46th street, and forming part of the site of the Windsor Arcade, which marked the site of the destroyed Hotel Windsor, will be improved with a nine-story mercantile building by the banking and brokerage firm of S. W. Straus & Co., who have leased the land from Robert W. Goelet for a long term of years. The lessees are now at 150 Broadway, and the improvement will mark the moving of a firm from the Wall street neighborhood to a part of the city that has been characterized as "Little Wall Street."

The new building will involve the expenditure of $4,000,000 and its owners will occupy three floors of it for their own business purposes and also the basement, the latter of which will be devoted to safe deposit boxes and vaults. There will be a broad marble stairway leading from the Fifth avenue entrance to the main banking floor. With a 41-foot ceiling, the counting room will be of striking design. The main floor will be the size of the plot, 100x180 feet. There will be two mezzanine floors. On the roof will be an inclosed playground, lunchroom and recreation quarters for the employes of W. S. Straus & Co. The street floor will be divided into shops for retailers.

Because they are retailers in finance, S. W. Straus says that the Fifth avenue neighborhood they are to be in is more advantageous for his firm than the nation's wholesale section in and near Wall street. During the last five years numerous financial firms have moved uptown in order to be in a district more accessible for their clients. The building that S. W. Straus & Co. will put up on the Fifth avenue corner will be, too, a more permanent advertising feature for their business as well as a choice location.

So much of the building as remains unused by the owners will be rented for business offices. It is probable that other financial firms will take quarters in the building.

Enormous Increase in Telephone Traffic and Installations

LANDLORDS as well as tenants will be interested in the reasons given by the officials of the New York Telephone Company for the conditions of service at the present time.

J. S. McCulloh, vice-president of the company, has issued an explanation of the company's inability to fill 64,843 applications for telephones.

He said that the increase of telephone traffic this year over that of 1919 is equal to the total of a city the size of Philadelphia. He said that 35,418 new telephones were installed in January, February, March and April, but the shortage of fabricated material, with other industrial handicaps over which the company had no control, prevented it from immediately meeting the increased demand for service.

"We have increased our force of operators from about 8,600 on January 1, 1910, to over 14,000 on May 15, 1920. We have improved the quality of the service rendered. Our operators answer calls to-day in one-half the time it took at the beginning of the year. We have added 100,000 miles of wires to our system, and have put in 138 sections of switchboard.

"Our program this year in New York City alone calls for an expenditure of more than $32,000,000."

REAL ESTATE SECTION

Direct State Tax on Realty and Personalty $2.69 per $1,000

Highest Rate on Record Fixed by Commission in Order to Raise Money to Pay Increased Salaries to Teachers

(Special to the Record and Guide.)

Albany, June 3, 1920.

THE State Tax Commission has announced that the direct tax to be levied on real and personal property for 1920 will be $2.69 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation. This is an increase of $1.63 per $1,000 over the rate for 1919, and is made necessary chiefly by reason of the 1½ mills tax to provide salary increases for school teachers.

There will be raised the sum of $35,000,000 through direct taxes, as compared with $14,000,000 required last year. Of this about $20,000,000 will go to the teachers. The 1920 tax rate is the highest in thirty years.

There is also a sweeping increase in assessment valuations throughout the state. This advance is due to the manner of distribution of the income tax moneys among the various localities. An incentive for high assessments is furnished because the income tax receipts are distributed upon a basis of assessed valuation.

The total assessed valuation of property in the state is fixed at $12,989,433,000, an increase of $321,000,000 over last year. Of this valuation $12,625,190,000 is on real property. There is a drop in the assessed valuation of personal property of about $60,000,000, due to the income tax law, which removes from local assessment all intangible personal prop-

As the average assessment rate in the state is fixed at 85.93 per cent., the five counties comprising Greater New York will be given considerable reductions from the new rate. This is done to apportion properly the state tax. The deductions to be made are:

Bronx, where the rate was fixed at 95 per cent., $57,000,000; Kings, where the rate was 94 per cent., $166,000,000; New York, where the rate was 95 per cent., $494,867,000; Queens, where the rate was 89 per cent., $21,908,000, and Richmond, where the rate was 89 per cent., $3,849,000.

This total of more than $700,000,000 of assessed valuations is to be made up in upstate counties, where assessment rates were below the equalization of 85.86 per cent.

The increase in assessed real property in New York City, including special franchise property, over last year is $158,975,480. Of the $60,000,000 decrease in personal property assessments Greater New York carries about $51,000,000.

Auction Sale of 2000 Lots in Queens Next Saturday

IN Jamaica, the gateway to Easterly Queens Borough, Nassau and Suffolk Counties (L. I) on Saturday, June 12, and Monday, June 14, will be held one of the most important and interesting sales of real estate, by public auction, ever held in the fast growing Borough of Queens.

The property to be sold by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, consists of the remaining portion of Jamaica Estates, comprising the heavily wooded, highland section that rises north from Hillside avenue, extending to the Union Turnpike, and that lies between Midland Parkway on the west, Holliswood avenue on the east.

This highly elevated northerly section of Jamaica is distant about nine miles from Columbus Circle, via the Queensborough Bridge, by trolley or motor, and accessible from the Hillside (Jamaica) and Hollis Stations on the L. I. R. R., as also the Grand St. (Jamaica) terminal station on the Jamaica Ave. (B. R. T.) elevated extension, at a five-cent fare.

A city commission, appointed by the City of New York, more than twelve years ago, was the first official body to whom this richly endowed estate appealed as a future Park site. But the present site of Forest Park was chosen, because of its then closer proximity to the more congested centres of Brooklyn, as well as Queens. The Jamaica Estates property had been widely advertised, however, as a result of the negotiations conducted by the commissions, and the late Timothy L. Woodruff, formerly Lieutenant Governor of the State of New York, seized the opportunity to form a syndicate and purchase it. One result of the purchase was the expenditure of large sums of money on physical improvements, and the investment of additional large amounts, by men of prominence, in the erection of all-year and summer homes among the tree-clad hills by which the estate is characterized.

The reason for the forthcoming absolute auction sale is that the present owners, to whom the 2,000 lots now about to be sold reverted under foreclosure proceedings, deal exclusively in acreage and are not organized or equipped to dispose of separate lots through the medium of the private sales market. The property must be sacrificed therefore at absolute public auction.

According to Joseph P. Day, the auctioneer, no such New York City property ever again will be disposed of, by public auction, for the simple reason that Nature has failed to provide prospective home-builders with another such available, accessibly located tract of high and heavily-wooded land within the limits of the Greater City.

Acreage in that part of Jamaica Estates lying west of Midland Parkway—where a number of costly residences have been erected—sold during the years 1909 to 1914 at the rate of $1,000 to $2,500 a lot, while lots immediately to the west have been sold and are selling now, at prices ranging from $25 to $60 a front foot. At Jamaica Hillcrest, the average 20-foot lot value is in the neighborhood of $950 to $1,000.

The 2,000 Jamaica Estates lots are to be sold for whatever they may bring, even though the selling prices, on the days of sale, range downward to as low as $50 to $500 a lot.

The sale will be held, rain or shine, under a large tent, on the premises, at noon on Saturday, June 12.

Tests were made last year by the United States Bureau of Standards on cement which had been stored for a considerable period. In some cases the storage period amounted to more than a year. Several such samples were submitted for tests. The results of tests indicated reduction in strength for the storage cement, but this change was not marked for material which had been stored on the job for less than one year. One lot, which had been in storage over two years, gave the same strength of compression for 1:1½:3 concrete as was obtained for a 1:2:4 concrete made with the same brand of new cement. The old cement was with a 5 per cent. calcium chloride solution.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Fifth Avenue Led In Large Transactions, While There Was Wide Diversity of Dealing in Medium Sized Parcels

THERE was much to interest the operator as well as the investor in New York real estate this week. The pronounced feature was the wide dealing in medium sized buildings, uptown ordinary sized apartment houses and single flats, with a good admixture of dwellings; in the Fifth avenue district selling was confined primarily to dwellings made over into small business buildings, but this was relieved by the leasing of part of the Windsor Arcade site to a banking firm for a modern store and office building to contain banking room accommodations for itself, and the sale of a modern office building not far distant from it.

Owned by the Goelets, the Windsor Arcade site is now one of the most valuable leaseholds in the city; and, yet, during revolutionary and other early days of this city the Arcade plot formed part of the common lands of the municipality. Time has wrought greater real estate wonders on Manhattan Island than elsewhere. The Windsor Arcade was built as a "taxpayer" about twenty years ago, after the destruction of the Hotel Windsor, which stood on the site, by fire, because Fifth avenue was about to undergo a transition period from residential to commercial character; but, no one could exactly diagnose how long it would be, so a "taxpayer" was built that met the demand for store space on the avenue and the then slight demand for office space in that part of the thoroughfare. During those two decades Fifth avenue, north of Thirty-fourth street, has exceeded all expectations as regards the rapidity with which trade has invaded it. Fifty-ninth street is now the northerly boundary of business.

Cooperative apartment houses increased in number during the week, several large buildings passing into that kind of ownership; and, in one instance negroes formed a group and bought one. The movement, so far, has made more headway among apartment houses than it has among commercial buildings.

The sale of medium sized commercial buildings south of Fourteenth street contributed considerably to the week's total of sales. Several tenants bought their business quarters, in one instance a tenant firm of 30 years occupancy buying their location. Greenwich Village attracted attention by the sale of two valuable corner plots within its borders.

There is a marked movement still in the numbered streets from Fifty to Seventy on the East Side in the vicinity of Lexington and Third avenues, where many 16 and 20-foot front 3-story dwellings that were becoming antiquated have been bought by persons of considerable means for rehabilitation and occupancy. This movement has been caused by the very high prices, for residential purposes, nearer Fifth avenue. It means an upward trend of values for good residential purposes farther East in the city than was anticipated two years ago. Block upon block of ill kept dwellings have been transformed into well kept ones. Syndicates as well as individuals have been busy buying here. Resales, at a profit, have taken place in many cases.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week was 100, as against 118 last week and 93 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 46, as compared with 60 last week and 37 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 54, as compared with 58 last week and 56 a year ago.

From the Bronx 20 sales at private contract were reported, as against 33 last week and 49 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments will be found on page 749.

New Home of Taxpayers' Association.

NOTABLE as an instance of the increasing usefulness of taxpayers' associations, when properly handled, is the growth in membership and resources of the Greater New York Taxpayers' Association, which recently removed from comparatively small rented quarters at 144 Second avenue into a modern 6-story stone front building of its own at 266-268 Grand street, near Forsyth street. The association owns the property free and clear and occupies two floors of the six for its own uses. One floor is given over as an assembly room for meetings of the association, while the other contains its general offices.

The entire two first floors and basement are leased, for a term of years, to the Guaranty Trust Company of New York for its East Side branch. The association took title to the property on November 17, 1919. In the heart of the East Side, the new building is also easily accessible to and from the Second and Third avenue elevated lines and numerous surface lines, while the Lafayette street branch of the rapid transit road is only a few blocks distant.

Organized in 1898, the Greater New York Taxpayers' Association has grown from a small membership to a total of 3,000 members who represent all parts of the greater city. Its assets are $200,000. Its activities are varied. A special branch of its work during the last six years has been protection to its members against accidents through general liability insurance. The association has stood strongly against profiteering by landlords, but it has championed property owners getting a fair return on their equities in real estate. Its new building was formerly the home of the Mutual Alliance Trust Company.

The association issues monthly a small pamphlet publication, "Real Estate News," which it states is for the good of the taxpaying public. It circulates primarily among its membership.

Officers of the Greater New York Taxpayers' Association are: Meyer Goldberg, president; Elias Diamond, first vice-president; Louis Roosin, second vice-president; Julius Feinberg, treasurer; Max J. Ferber, secretary. Isidor Berger is general manager.

Officers of the protective and defense committee are Samuel S. Isaacs, chairman; I. Reich, first vice-chairman; Charles Meyerson, second vice-chairman; A. J. Dworsky, treasurer; Max Kahn, honorary secretary.

Enlarged Quarters For Title Co.

To accommodate its expanding business, the New York Title and Mortgage Co. has taken over from former tenants additional floors of its building at 135 Broadway.

The enlarged quarters of the Title Company on the second floor are reached by a direct stairway from the street door, which opens into the main room of the company. A large space will be occupied by the desks of officers and staff who deal with the public, and directly in front will be the directors' room with windows upon Broadway. On this floor will be located also the mortgage department, where applications for mortgages can be filed, the accounting department, where taxes and interest may be paid, and a large space for the closing department, where ample provision has been made for private rooms to be used in closing titles. On the floor above will be situated the clerical and stenographic force.

Simultaneous with the enlargement of the New York office the Brooklyn office of the New York Title and Mortgage Co. is occupying its new building in Montague street. This office of the Title company has been enlarged by the purchase of an entire building at 209 Montague street, adjoining its present offices, and giving the company a total frontage of 100 feet in the heart of the financial section of Brooklyn. The second floor of the building will now be occupied by the company. The remainder is held under existing leases.

An increase in office space has doubled the facilities of the White Plains office, at 163 Main street, White Plains, N. Y.

The other offices of the New York Title and Mortgage Co. at 375 Fulton street, Jamaica, Bridge Plaza, Long Island City, 3 South Third street, Mount Vernon, 24 Bay street, St. George, S. I., remain unchanged.

Brightwaters Receivers Appointed.

County Judge George H. Furman, of Suffolk County, and John A. Weber, have been appointed receivers of the T. B. Ackerson Co, that developed and improved Brightwaters, a thousand acre shore front home colony near Bayshore, L. I. The office of the receivers is at 26 Court street, Brooklyn. A selling campaign is about to be begun.

The inventory shows miscellaneous accounts receivable, a few dwelling houses, 22 centrally located home sites, each containing seven to ten city lots, two office buildings and building material plant with large storage buildings and railroad sidings, stock of doors, sash and other building material, tools, wagons, road making machinery and stock in Brightwaters Water Co., which has a profitable franchise and owns water and gas pipes, fittings, pressure water mains and fire hydrants.

Kennelly to Sell Lots.

BRYAN L. KENNELLY, who for two generations has conducted auction sales of real estate, and his father before him, has completed arrangements for two large auction sales next week, one in the Spuyten Duyvil section and the other in the eastern part of the Bronx. The properties to be offered in both parts of the city are adjacent to rapid transit routes.

The eastern Bronx property will be sold next Monday at the Exchange Salesroom, 14 Vesey street. It is a liquidation sale of the former estate of Leonard Mapes, deceased, and comprises 552 lots and four dwellings on East Tremont avenue, White Plains road and adjacent streets, known as Park Versailles. The 177th street station of the Lexington avenue-Pelham Bay Park subway is two blocks from these lots.

The Spuyten Duyvil sale is next Wednesday and comprises 157 lots on Broadway, West 230th, 231st and 232d streets, Kingsbridge avenue, Corlear avenue and adjacent streets, and two large frame dwellings and a 2-story brick garage for four cars. The entire property is ready for improvement, and the Broadway and 231st street station of the subway is right at the property. The city has grown up to it. This sale will also take place in the Exchange Salesroom, for the estates of Isaac A. Singer, Joseph H. Godwin and others.

Both sales are of property within the five-cent fare zone.

Alliance Realty Controls Block.

NOTABLE among the recent activities of the Alliance Realty Company was the purchase of 1103-1105 Park avenue, two 5-story apartment houses, on a plot 54x82, that was acquired from the 1103-1105 Park Avenue Corporation. This proprty is in a neighborhood that is susceptible to reimprovement along more substantial lines.

Another purchase of the Alliance Company was the 5-story apartment house 105 East 89th street, on a lot 26.8x100.

The company now controls, as a result of these purchases, the entire block front on the east side of Park avenue, from 89th to 90th street, consisting of eight 5-story apartment houses on the avenue and six similar houses at 104 to 110 East 90th street and 103-105 East 89th street. It has owned most of this property since 1914; it covers a plot embracing more than 32,000 square feet and forms the largest plot on Park avenue now available for immediate reimprovement. With a frontage of 201 feet on the avenue, the plot fronts 133 feet on East 89th street and 186 feet on East 90th street. Leon S. Altmayer represented the Alliance Realty Company in the various transactions.

Report of U. S. Realty Company.

All of the officers of the United States Realty & Improvement Co. were re-elected at the recent annual meeting. Harry S. Black was appointed chairman of the board.

A pamphlet has been issued showing the financial status of the corporation for the year ended April 30, 1920. It shows a surplus, after Federal taxes and charges have been paid, of $897,092. This is the equivalent of $5.55 a share earned on the capital stock of $16,162,800, as compared with $9.15 a share in the preceding year.

Big Cooperative Purchases.

Jacob Axelrod, who three years ago built the 6-story elevator apartment house known as Woodrow Court, on the block front on the east side of Broadway, from West 169th to West 170th street, and its junction with St. Nicholas avenue, on a plot 176.7x100, has sold it to a syndicate of tenants composed of Alonzo Abrams, Philip V. Brown, J. C. Collins, Walter E. Hawley, Mr. Hahn, Abraham Kleinman, Lawrence E. Kohl, Dr. Samuel B. Lyon, Harry Levin, M. N. Shogry, J. W. Schwartz, E. Schwartzer, Orrie E. Starr, Mrs. M. Teasdale Wheeless, Isidore Silverman, Nathan W. Herbst, Henry Andreasson, William Atkins, Leo M. Mosauer and Courtney L. Wood.

There are 53 apartments in the building of from 3 to 6 rooms each and 11 stores. Spotts & Starr were the brokers. The plan pursued in this deal is somewhat different than that contemplated in the early part of the negotiations. Instead of the purchase by tenants, it will be owned by all of the tenants. It is said that the purchase price per room is somewhere in the neighborhood of $500. This gives each tenant a perpetual ownership of his apartment plus a payment of a small rental in addition to the purchase price.

A syndicate of tenants bought from Samuel A. Herzon and Edgar A. Levy the northeast corner of Park avenue and East 82d street, a 12-story apartment house, on a plot 139.8x100, and comprising most of the block front. There are 35 duplex apartments of from 9 to 14 rooms. John S. Sheppard, lawyer, a tenant, is head of the committee which is buying the property. Others interested include Jennie Rumsey Sheppard and Blanche Rumsey Sheppard, Cornelia Baldwin Hoyt, Florence H. Leeds, Robert C. Hill, Ethel Zabriskie and Andree de Coppet.

Gramercy Park Club, a co-operative organization, sold to Madison Porter and B. Charles Hvass, for occupancy, each an apartment in the building 36 Gramercy Park East.

Beaconsfield Co-operative.

The Beaconsfield, a 6-story elevator apartment house at 587 Riverside Drive, south corner of 136th street, has been purchased by a number of business men for occupancy upon expiration of present leases. It has a frontage of 102,5 feet on the Drive and 109.4 feet on the street. This building contains four, six, seven, eight and ten-room apartments. The asking price was $350,000.

Sale of William St. Corner.

The Banca Commerciale Italiana of Milan, a banking institution regarded as the largest in Italy, bought from the Broadway-John Street Corporation, Elias A. Cohen, president, the Germania Building, an 8-story office structure at 62 William street, southeast corner of Cedar street, on a plot 32.2x123.9. The reported price was $1,200,000. The sale was effected by the Brown, Wheelock Co., Inc. The property was formerly the home of the National Liberty Fire Insurance Co. The Italian bank, which now has offices at 165 Broadway, will remodel the building and occupy it. An interesting phase of the deal is that the bank is able to obtain immediate possession of the premises.

Staats Zeitung Buys Parcel.

The New Yorker Staats Zeitung purchased from Henry C. and Kate Talmadge 229 William street, a 3-story building, on a lot 28.4x88.2. The seller recently disposed of the greater portion of its downtown realty holdings, including 184, 186 and 190 William street and 27 to 31 Frankfort street. The new purchase is between the Brooklyn bridge and New Chambers street.

Sherman 326-328 Bleecker street and 94 Christopher street, forming the southwest corner of the two streets, the first being two 4-story brick flats with stores, on a plot 40x59.11x47.6, and the second being a 4-story brick flat with store, on a lot 19x67.6.

Cogswell sold to the Coca Cola Bottling Co., now located at 339 East 46th street, has bought 340-344 East 47th street, two 4-story tenement houses, with stores, on a plot 40x100.5, together with the abutting property, 345 to 349 East 46th street, three 4-story tenement houses, with stores, on a plot 60x100.5. The buyer will eventually reimprove the site with a business building.

Sale of Spacious Dwelling.

Charles C. Allom, of Totteridge, West, England, bought from Susan D. H. Dakin the 4-story brownstone dwelling at 819 Madison avenue, on a plot 50x100. The price paid for the property, according to a contract filed in the Register's office, was $191,500. It is one of the largest homes in that section and is diagonally opposite the 11-story apartment house which replaced the Marquand residence at the northwest corner of Madison avenue and East 68th street. It is assessed at $215,000 and is now occupied under lease by Miss A. M. Allom, sister of the new owner.

New East Side Dwellings.

Douglas, Gibbons & Co. and Douglas L. Elliman & Co. sold for the Seventy-fifth Street Syndicate the 4-story flat, on a lot 18.9x102.2, at 159 East 75th street to a prominent New Yorker, who will replace the present building with a 5-story American basement dwelling. The same broker sold recently 157 to Miss Majorie Nott, who will erect a similar dwelling.

Mrs. Andrew Carnegie Buys.

Presumably for the purpose of insuring the use of the property, Mrs. Andrew Carnegie bought 9 East 90th street, a 5-story American

George A. Fleury Dead.

LONG prominent in the title insurance and financial circles of Brooklyn and Long Island, George A. Fleury, president of the United States Title Guaranty Company, died last Tuesday evening in Brooklyn Hospital after a nervous breakdown that had kept him away from business since last January. Mr. Fleury had been away to various southern resorts during the winter to recover his wonted health, but the recreation was unavailing. The distinctive feature of Mr. Fleury's career was the rehabilitation of the United States Title Guaranty Company within a few years after it had almost lost its identity. A group of the big financial men of Brooklyn selected Mr. Fleury for the presidency of the company on account of the brilliant record he had made with the Lawyers Title Insurance Company during the few years previous. The deceased was distinguished in real estate circles for the strong friendships he had among the big lending institutions; and these confidences were won by great ability, integrity and personality. Fleury's great energy first attracted attention to him. He is dead at the age of 44 years, dying on his birthday. He is survived by a son, George A. Fleury, Jr., a boy of five years, and one brother, John H. Fleury. Mrs. Fleury died last September.

Born in the north of Ireland, Mr. Fleury first came to this country in 1897. His whole career was identified with title insurance and banking. He was, at the time of his death, president of the Security Safe Deposit Company of Brooklyn, a director in the People's Trust Company, trustee of the Brooklyn Hospital, a member of the Adelphi College Association, a trustee of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn, a member of the Real Estate Board of New York, the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, the Hamilton Club, Brooklyn Club, Crescent Athletic Club, the Campfire, Apollo and Bankers clubs, and the Church Club of the Diocese of Long Island. He was a Mason and an Elk.

Mr. Fleury's funeral services took place last evening at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, Clinton and Montague streets, Brooklyn, Rev. J. Howard Melish officiating. The interment took place today at Jamesport, Long Island, where, for some years past, Mr. Fleury maintained a country estate overlooking Great Peconic Bay.

THE Atlantic Terra Cotta for the 13-story Apartment House illustrated was made before the war for an out-of-town customer. The building was stopped by war conditions. We are now permitted to sell at one-half present day prices.

As illustrated, the Atlantic Terra Cotta constitutes two complete 13-story facades on a right-angle corner, with a ground plan of 112 ft. x 70 ft. The material can be readily adapted to a larger or smaller building.

In any such adaptation our drafting department will co-operate with your architect.

The Terra Cotta is Atlantic Terra Cotta, of Atlantic quality and Atlantic service goes with it. It is grey in color, similar to the Terra Cotta used for the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York.

BUILDING SECTION

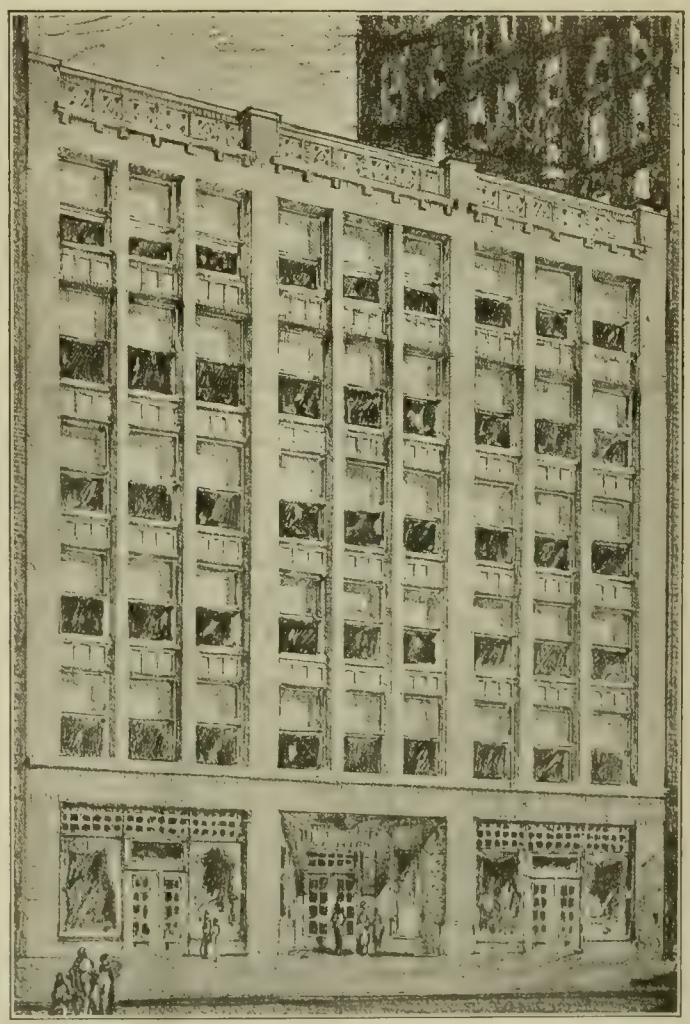
Building Planned to House Leather and Allied Trades

Six-Story Fireproof Structure in Gold Street, for Louis Goldstein, from Designs by Geo. and Edw. Blum, Will Soon Be Started

A SCARCITY of rentable space in that section of Manhattan located just south of the Brooklyn Bridge terminal, suitable to the requirements of the leather and allied interests, has been responsible for an interesting building project that will be commenced within a short time, according to an announcement made this week. It was further stated that this operation would very likely be the forerunner of considerable development in this particular section of the city, where the majority of the buildings are quite old and are lacking in modern business conveniences. Although a number of the old structures in this neighborhood have been altered and modernized, the present operation is the first entirely new structure to be erected for some years.

The new project involves the construction of a six-story and basement fireproof office and loft building, with stores on the ground floor. The building will be erected according to plans and specifications prepared by George and Edward Blum, architects, 505 Fifth avenue, who have planned the structure with the idea of providing modern loft and office accommodations for firms in the leather trades in need of more spacious quarters.

The plot on which this project will be located is at 92 to 96 Gold street, adjoining the Healy Building. This plot is irregular, with a frontage of 69.11 feet and a rear line of 72.1½ feet. The side dimensions are 96.6¾ feet and 96.3 feet, respectively. This structure, which will cost upward of $100,000, will be owned by Louis Goldstein, a prominent leather merchant, now located at 197 William street. Upon the completion of the new building Mr. Goldstein will occupy one of the ground floor stores as his business headquarters and will lease the remaining store and the space on the upper floors to firms in the leather and allied trades.



In this neighborhood the subsoil conditions are somewhat uncertain, but great stability for the new structure is to be assured by having the building rest on a foundation of steel and concrete piles, sunk to rock or hardpan.

Plans for this operation show ceiling heights of fifteen feet for the ground floor stores. These stores will extend back the full depth of the lot and will be lighted in the rear by large skylights that are to extend across the full width of the building. The upper floors, from the second to the sixth, inclusive, will have ceiling heights of twelve feet. The building plans also call for the installation of complete equipment to safeguard both tenants and property from the fire hazard, two large electric passenger elevators, one freight elevator and numerous other modern conveniences for the expeditious handling of freight and general business.

The designs for this operation shows a facade of simple yet pleasing appearance to be constructed of a light face brick with trimmings of Indiana limestone. In order that the upper floors may be equally divided into two separate lofts if desirable, the entrance to the building has been centrally located. The entrance corridor will be spacious and will be trimmed with imported marble wainscot, with tile and mosaic floors.

The ground floor stores have individual entrances and will have expansive plate glass windows, equipped with prism glass transoms so that adequate natural light is assured. The windows on the upper floors in both front and rear have been planned of exceptional size in order to allow the maximum amount of natural light and ventilation to the tenants who will occupy these lofts.

According to the present building schedule it is not the intention of the owner to award a general contract for the construction of this project. The architects will have entire charge of structural operations and intend to award separate contracts for the various branches of work as the job progresses and it is anticipated that the building will be entirely completed and ready for occupancy during the early part of 1921.

Beyond a doubt the facilities offered in this new building will be eagerly sought by merchants in the leather and allied trades who are now occupying quarters in ancient structures, many without modern conveniences, and in all likelihood the building will be fully rented before it is completed.

Lack of Essential Materials Halts Many Large Projects

Local Dealers Swamped With Orders and Inquiries But Supplies Are Unavailable on Account of Railroad Congestion

BUILDING operations in many parts of the Metropolitan District, with the exception of a relatively small proportion of alteration jobs, have been stopped because of the scarcity of essential structural materials and unless the freight congestion is speedily relieved the industry as a whole will be subjected to severe loss. The situation has now maintained for some weeks and, although relief has been promised by the railroads, it is anticipated that some time must elapse before the freight transportation facilities are again operating upon a normal basis, and until this occurs but little improvement in the local building situation is possible.

Reports from prominent building material dealers in Manhattan indicate slight improvement in the movement of certain materials during the past week but others, just as necessary to the building industry, are still unavailable because of the freight congestion and no general improvement is possible until all structural commodities are available in quantity that is sufficient to supply the demand,

At the present writing there is practically no building lime available in the city. Dealers are entirely out of stock and the prospect of getting deliveries from producers is not promising. It is predicted that no Rockland lime will be available for some time to come and Western lime is even more indefinite, owing to the badly retarded freight movements. Lately some lime has been shipped on open cars which have been side-tracked at points some distance from Manhattan and the dealers have brought it into the city and to the jobs by motor truck. In the first place this is a hazardous proceeding, owing to the danger of subjecting the lime in transit to rain and dampness and furthermore is quite a costly proposition on account of the long haul required by this method.

The Portland cement situation is somewhat easier than it has been recently, and it is hoped that before long this material will again be coming into New York in volume sufficient to supply the constantly increasing demand. The mills are in excellent shape, and for the most part have reserve stocks ahead, but they have been prevented from shipping, first, because of the shortage of freight cars and in the second place because it has been practically impossible to return used bags to the plants. At present there is a scarcity of cement bags at the mills, but it is hoped that the railroads will permit the shipment of used bags within a few days. On the Lehigh Valley Railroad the freight situation is greatly improved, and a number of cars of Portland cement have been sent through during the past week that somewhat relieved the famine. Other cement carrying lines have promised better service over their lines at an early date.

The settlement of the sand truck chauffeurs' strike has eliminated the sand scarcity on large building projects and the supply of this material is now assured. Producers have their plants in good working order and shipments are regular. Practically the same condition applies to broken stone, gravel and grit, and no further delays of a serious nature are anticipated at this time.

Dealers state that structural terra cotta is now available for practically all local building operations. The cars on which this product is transported are brought to various points in the city and the only difficulty at present is having these cars brought to convenient points for delivery rather than to any place easily available to the railroads. This has made long and costly hauls by motor truck necessary.

Vast Amount of New Construction Waiting for Materials

Statistics of F. W. Dodge Company Show Many Plans Completed and Numerous Contracts Awarded for Building Projects in Metropolitan District

ARCHITECTS and engineers in the Metropolitan district have not slowed down in their plans for new building and engineering operations notwithstanding the continued shortage of essential structural materials that for some weeks now has greatly hindered active progress on important work. The records of the past week indicate that a vast amount of new construction is being made ready for a start and that both architects and prospective builders are optimistic that the freight congestion will shortly be relieved and materials made more easily available than they have been recently.

According to the report of the F. W. Dodge Company showing the number and value of new building and engineering operations in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, for the week of May 22 to 28, inclusive, 444 new operations were announced in the early stages of planning. This will represent an outlay of approximately $22,085,100. During the same week and in the same territory a total of 207 contracts were awarded for building projects that will require an expenditure of $10,287,600.

During the past month a marked improvement has been noticable in the number of structural operations being planned and for which contracts have been awarded. There is no question but had building material been available the district including Greater New York and its environs would have witnessed one of the greatest building booms in history and even now it is predicted that before the end of the current year the entire industry will be pushed to its fullest capacity with work of the most urgent character.

The statistics of the past week show that among the 444 projected building and engineering operations there were 90 business and commercial buildings, $2,616,300; 10 educational projects, $1,456,000; 6 hospitals and institutions, $102,000; 34 factory and industrial buildings $1,670,000; 3 military and naval projects, $22,000; 8 public buildings, $155,000; 47 public works and public utilities, $11,186,100; 10 religious and memorial buildings, $280,000; 224 residential projects including apartments, flats and tenements and one and two-family dwellings, $4,069,700; and 12 social and recreational buildings, $528,000.

The list of 207 operations for which contracts were awarded during the week of May 22 to 28 inclusive comprised 46 business and commercial structures, $2,455,000; 8 educational projects, $747,700; 5 hospitals and institutions, $1,237,100; 20 factory and industrial buildings, $1,695,000; 1 public building, $25,000; 20 public works and public utilities, $2,531,500; 98 residential operations of various types, $1,381,800 and 9 social and recreational projects, $214,500.

Hathron Homes Corporation Reorganized.

Owing to the conditions in the mortgage market that have prevented the procuring of building loans to carry through the Laurelton development, the officials of the Hathron Homes Corporation have deemed it advisable, to safeguard the interests of the creditors and all concerned, to consent to the appointment of F. Colburn Pinkham, vice-president of the William J. Taylor Company, as temporary receiver of this company.

The Hathron Homes Corporation is not insolvent, and this action is not a bankruptcy proceeding. Its purpose is to conserve the valuable assets of the company until conditions improve in the mortgage market. The receiver will act under the direction of the United States Court, and is considering the immediate completion of the buildings now under construction. No liens have been filed and no suits are pending against the company, and its assets greatly exceed its liabilities.

Plans are now underway for the immediate reorganization of the company. Mr. Pinkham, who has been appointed receiver, is a man of broad experience in matters of this kind, and officials of the Hathron Homes Corporation feel confident that within a short time plans will be developed that will result in the payment of all creditors in full, and the discharge of the receiver, so that the reorganized company may take advantage of the present favorable market for its land and building operations.

At this meeting the heavy demand for lime for numerous uses, the critical car supply, and educational publicity will be discussed. The program as now outlined will include addresses by men of national prominence in this rapidly growing industry.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

PROGRESS in the local building industry continues to be severly hampered by the shortage of essential materials and as a result the past week was without notable incident. There is considerable work underway, but for the most the active construction is confined to relatively insignificant alteration projects, for which small lots of material are available. The larger jobs are being held up by the scarcity of cement, lime, fabricated steel and other commodities and no progress can be made until the railroad freight congestion is relieved and the lines are again running on a normal freight carrying basis. Although reports indicate that some of the railroads are slowly improving their freight service it will require some weeks before building materials will commence to come through in volume sufficient to supply the demand.

During the past week considerable new activity among the architects of the Metropolitan district was noticed, and many plans are being prepared for important buildings that are scheduled to start just as soon as the building material supply shortage is relieved. Although building activity in this city and its environs has been held up for some weeks now, the trades are generally optimistic that before long the industry as a unit will be engaged to its full capacity.

The local building material dealers are practically marking time. The New York market is almost entirely cleaned out of cement, lime, structural terra cotta and other items, and therefore the dealers have very little to do. Prices, where materials are available, are firm.

Common Brick.—The local wholesale market for Hudson River common brick was extremely quiet this week, owing to the general recession of building activity on account of the material scarcity. Buying interest was light, and but ten barges were disposed of. Dealers are of the opinion, however, that the present situation cannot last for a much longer period, and that within a few weeks the industry will again be able to proceed on a normal basis. Common brick prices remain firm at the $25 level, but it is predicted that the greatly advanced manufacturing costs of the current season will very likely make it necessary to increase the price for the brick of the 1920 season output. Yards along the Hudson River are now all in operation, and the rate of production, while relatively low as compared with years prior to the war, will be sufficient to supply any reasonable demand.

Summary.—Transactions in the North River common brick for the week ending Friday, June 4,1920: Condition of market: Demand light; prices firm and unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $25 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 10; sales, 10. Distribution: Manhattan, 1; Bronx, 1; Brooklyn, 5; New Jersey, 1; outside, 2. Remaining unsold in the wholesale market, 25.

Lumber.—Developments in the lumber market during the past week have been relatively unimportant. There is a fair volume of trade in both wholesale and retail departments of the business, notwithstanding the general apathy in the building industry brought about by the scarcity of lime, cement and other essential commodities. There is a vast amount of projected construction that is standing idle waiting for improved material supply conditions, and just as soon as this change occurs the building industry will experience a tremendous revival of activity. During the past week or so local lumber stocks have been put in better shape than they have been for some time. This is partly due to increased supplies coming into the market by water routes and also to the fact that the demand has slowed down to some extent because building operations have been greatly hampered by material shortages. Manufacturing consumers are still important factors in the lumber market and will continue to be for some time to come. Lumber prices are very firm and in some instances important advances have been announced.

Structural Steel.—There is but slight change in the structural steel situation, although some improvement in deliveries has been noted during the past week. Buyers are seemingly holding off pending a general readjustment of the building material supply situation. There is a vast amount of new construction in prospect, a large part of which is already under a general contract, but at the present time there is no indication of an early start on these jobs because so little material is available. Important awards for fabricated steel during the past week include 2,500 tons for the Ritz Carlton Hotel at Atlantic City to the Bethlehem Steel Bridge Corporation; 400 tons for the Cammeyer Company building on Fifth avenue to the Hay Foundry & Iron Works, and a number of smaller commitments for local building projects. There is a considerable amount of construction now out for estimates, and it is likely that awards for fabricated material to be used in these projects will be made within the next few days.

Electrical Supplies.—There is a strong demand for these materials despite the general sluggish building situation. Jobbers complain of badly depleted stocks that cannot be refilled while the railroad freight congestion continues and buyers are being forced to wait considerable time for deliveries. The shortage of conduit is acute, but wire is obtainable in fair quantity. Prices are firm and but few changes have been noted during the past week.

Roofing and Building Papers.—The demand for these materials has increased to some extent during the past week and business is quite active, but some of the local dealers have experienced considerable difficulty in getting stock from the manufacturers on account of the railroad freight congestion. Prices are firm and have undergone no change since the last report.

Nails.—There has been no change in the supply situation. Dealers are swamped with orders and inquiries, but are in a position to give but little hope that the supply will be increased for some time to come. The mills are overloaded with orders, some of which have been on their books for many months, and it will undoubtedly require a lengthy period to bring the supply up to a point where it can keep abreast of the demand. Prices are strong and altogether dependent upon the available supply.

Cast Iron Pipe.—The market is strong, with business steady and prices remarkably firm. Municipal business is light, but there is a large volume of private buying at present that is stabilizing the market. Plans for municipal improvements indicate a heavy demand from this quarter during the late summer and autumn months. Prices are unchanged.

Linseed Oil.—The linseed oil market is quiet, with buying interest lacking, but excellent prospects for the future. There is considerable oil available in the New York district and jobbers are not experiencing any difficulty in making prompt deliveries on all orders.

was "closed down" because an estimate recently submitted convincingly proved that Central Station Service would save several thousand dollars annually

This building, situated at 1272-1280 Broadway, a modern twelve story office structure has operated a private plant for several years. Edison Service showed such a marked economy that a contract for current to be supplied from Edison mains was signed

The building has an equipment of 2,500 lamps and 250 horsepower, the latter being required for the operation of elevators, a sidewalk-lift, exhaust fans, and circulating pumps

Let our engineers analyze your lighting and power needs with the possibility of a saving being effected

Honest Rating

It is quite possible for a 2-ton truck to carry a 4-ton load. But it is still only a 2-ton truck. The extra load is a strain. It is equally possible to develop a higher rating on a boiler than the natural capacity. But this does not change the real rating of the boiler

Boilers are purchased according to the rating. You cannot distinguish a rating by looking at the boiler. You have to take the manufacturer's word for it.

RICHARDSON & BOYNTON CO.'S Boilers are honestly rated to deliver continuous warmth with the least effort and fuel. Under pressure, this rating can be greatly enlarged. But that is not the way you want to run a heating plant.

Write us for heating manuals which show you how to avoid mistakes in installing an adequate heating plant.

Unlike other Building Units, Artificial Stone is a NON-CONDUCTOR of DAMPNESS, COLD and HEAT. It reduces building costs and expedites construction. A wide variety of facing effects produced with crushed granite, marble, brownstone, Indiana limestone, carborundum, etc., makes it a sightly stone for every type of structure and its durability insures the lowest possible maintenance cost.
We court investigation of the most searching kind, and are always pleased to go over the subject in greater detail with anyone interested in building for permanence, beauty and economy.

Outlook More Favorable

It is not unreasonable to believe that the period of stagnation in building is nearing its end. Local labor troubles are not likely to cause further serious interruptions in construction work once other handicaps are removed. That always great deterrent to business, the presidential outlook, will soon be clarified by the action of the national conventions of the two great parties. It is unlikely that either candidate will be a man whose election would be considered disadvantageous to the financial or commercial interests of the country. They will be men whose records are known. There will be no uncertainty about what they stand for. Labor will not effect an upset when the election is held, judging by the results of the senatorial contest in Iowa, where Senator Albert B. Cummins, against whom the professional laborites fulminated because of his participation in framing the new railroad law, has been renominated by a big majority. After all, party ties are stronger than the dictum of labor's walking delegates. Not yet are intelligent workmen ready to discard tested political procedure for the theoretical program of the agitators who make grandiloquent promises which seldom are fulfilled.

The government has allocated $125,000,000 to the railroads for equipment purposes, and it does not take long to build flat and box cars, of which a considerable number can be manufactured with this sum of money. The coal miners are in a reasonable mood for the arbitration of the remaining differences with the operators, so that we are not likely to have another fuel shortage scare this year.

The dock and longshoremen seem to be coming to a realization of the injury they are doing to their own interests as well as the general welfare of the city and ready to take advantage of a decision in their favor on a minor matter as an excuse for going back to work while their major contentions are arbitrated.

Ever since the armistice, over a year and a half ago, there has been one thing after another to prevent construction work on the important scale demanded by conditions of supply and demand. During this period there have been times when it seemed as if the way might be opened for a big building program. But there were too many obstacles to overcome. Now, however, it is within reason to feel that the building industry is about to be freed from the combination of unfavorable circumstances against which it was powerless to contend.

New York in 1920 Census

Census returns frequently hold surprises, just as turnstile figures vary greatly from amateur estimates of the attendance at baseball games. It is proverbially difficult for trained newspaper reporters to tell accurately the number of people in a crowd. Because we see our streets and stores, our trains and autos always jammed is no reason for over-calculation of our aggregate number. Taking one census with another the average number of omissions in the recording of residents always will take place. Every group of census takers is hastily recruited, generally as a matter of necessity, from among people not accustomed to regular or systematic work, and there are certain to be numerous inefficient employes, with the usual result of inaccuracy.

That there is reason for suspecting the recently taken census was any less accurate than those of 1910, 1900, 1890 or 1880 is unlikely. It is naturally much more difficult to count the people of New York City than to enumerate the inhabitants of small communities. Nowhere else is the population so constantly shifting and in no other city are the people so ignorant of their neighbors. But this was true ten years ago. There were complaints about the census of 1910 and there will be protests against the tabulation of 1930.

The difficulty of counting New Yorkers was shown by the police census taken to disprove the correctness of the state census of 1915. The returns from this census repose in a vault at police headquarters unfinished and untabulated. They prove nothing except that even so well-organized a force as the policemen of New York did not succeed in finding out as much about the actual population of the city as had the staff workink under direction of the Census Bureau. Whole districts were uncounted and evidences of hasty and improper canvass are numerous, as anyone who cares to investigate the musty and incomplete files may learn.

What the census of 1920 shows is of sufficient importance to more than offset any personal disappointment that New York has not actually reached the 6,000,000 mark. In the last ten years, including the war period, when it is probable the restriction of immigration and the housing problem have materially lessened the rate of increase, New York has added to its population 854,-268 persons, or more than the population in 1920 of each of the cities of St. Louis (773,000), Boston (747,-923) or Baltimore (733,626). The five boroughs share in this result as follows:

Manhattan, 2,284,103; decrease 47,439, or 2 per cent.
Bronx, 732,016; increase 301,036, or 69.8 per cent.
Brooklyn, 2,022,262; increase 387,911, or 23.7 per cent.
Queens, 466,811; increase 182,770, or 64.3 per cent.
Richmond, 115,959; increase 29,990, or 34.9 per cent.

The total for the city is 5,621,151.

There is inspiration enough in these figures to satisfy any real estate owner. And it is difficult to see how builders under existing conditions could possibly have met the tremendous demand for housing if the count had shown 6,000,000 within the city limits. What would have happened in that event would have made the present crisis look easy to cope with. It is probably fortunate for both real estate and building that there are not today 400,000 more men, women and children clamoring for homes in this city—the reaction might be extremely unhealthy and distinctly disadvantageous for all concerned. It is enough for New Yorkers to realize that since 1900, the first census after consolidation, this city has increased at the average annual rate of 109,197.

When the complete census figures are obtainable it probably will be proved beyond doubt that the metropolitan district contains the greatest aggregation of people on earth, within a given area. The figures from Brooklyn and the Bronx, when compared with those from Manhattan, show that the population is moving towards the perimeter of the circle of which Manhattan is the center. This expansion, which becomes more impressive and more insistent as years go by, is not stopped at the city's limits. The centrifugal force imparted to it by the whirl of business in the heart of the metropolis cannot be restricted by artificial bounds. But neither are the hundreds of thousands of families that find homes just outside the five boroughs during every decennial period segregated from the proper life of the city. The ties which bind them to its social and business existence remain unbroken. They depend on New York for a living and they are factors of importance in the building up of its commercial structure and continue to take a prominent part in all its varied activities.

Nor should anyone worry because the population of Manhattan is decreasing. The long expected at last has happened. And the "loss" is only a shifting of population to more favorable localities for residential purposes to make way for the conversion of living quarters into commercial structures. Certainly realty values do not suffer by this process.

Recognition of these facts implies the necessity of providing for the needs of the additional millions the city will surely have in a very short time. It is undeniable that if there were today 400,000 more inhabitants of the five boroughs the subways, already congested to the limit of endurance, would be clogged with the human tide and rendered more ineffective than they now are; the problem of supplies of food and coal would be even more serious than at present and the need of freeing the port from labor tie-ups and from ice embargoes still more pressing. More housing at any cost must be provided, and to do this transportation must be afforded for building materials; terminals and docks must be provided, subways extended and duplicated, and many other constructive programs put into operation.

The census shows that New York is growing at an amazing rate. The percentage of gain may be smaller than heretofore, as is the rule when cities have attained maturity. But each year an enormous addition is made to the number of those who write "New York" after their names in hotel registers. Instead of trying to find fault with the conclusion of the census-takers, it will be more to the point if city officials and business men unite in formulating plans to take care of inhabitants already here and the hundreds of thousands who will come in ever-increasing throngs if they are not turned to other locations by the difficulties encountered here in obtaining comfort and conveniences for healthful and pleasurable living.

The words "Six Millions" are not necessary to advertise New York—it is so big, its complex life is so attractive, it provides so many enjoyable things to do, that people will come here anyway if they can eat and sleep in comfort and go about the shops and fill the theatres without having all individuality crushed out of them.

Auction Sale of Lots in Burke Estate on Albany Post Road

OF more than passing interest is the announcement of the coming auction sale of 1400 lots on Tuesday, June 22nd and succeeding days in the Hotel Astor, Broadway and 45th street. The property is owned by the Burke Relief Foundation and is located on both sides of Boston Post Road, from Arnow avenue to East 212th street, bisected by Gunhill road, Burke avenue and other important thoroughfares.

This property came into the possession of the Burke Relief Association through the generosity of the late John Masterson Burke, who founded the institution in 1902, for the purpose of taking care of those who had been discharged from hospitals after serious illness or operations, and to afford them a place of rest for a few weeks where they could regain their health and strength before returning to work. The institution was name The Winifred Masterson Burke Relief Foundation in memory of the founder's mother.

Mr. Burke was a shipping merchant. He was actively engaged in business until he reached his seventy-fifth year, when he retired. He lived a plain simple life, and was intensively interested in many charities. The upshot of his philanthropic work was the founding of the Burke home. He was without kith or kin and lived to the age of 96 years. It was estimated that at his death his fortune totaled between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, most of which was invested in securities, the balance including the 1400 lots now to be sold by J. Clarence Davies and Joseph P. Day, agents and auctioneers.

The lots are located on high land being about 125 feet above the sea level. They are a short distance north of Pelham Parkway, and east of Bronx Park. A large portion of the tract is suitable for immediate improvement, and much of it is at cellar depth which relieves those desiring building from the cost of excavating.

The Burke Relief Foundation has done a wonderful work since its incorporation. An average of about 5000 people a year are taken care of. The following are the officers and directors which include Frank K. Sturgis, president; Otto F. Bannard, vice president; Frederick H. Denman, secretary; William F. Eldridge, treasurer; Adrian Iselin, Jr., R. W. DeForest; Edgar S. Marston; J. Woodward Haven; William Sloane; W. W. Emlen Roosevelt; James S. Alexander and Erskine Hewitt.

Mr. Davies and Mr. Day said yesterday: "An opportunity is going to be given to the investing and speculative elements, to acquire choicely located Bronx properties at their own price. There must be the satisfaction to purchasers at this sale, to realize that not only are they getting value received for what they buy, but also the money expended will go to help support an institution which is doing such noble work.

"There is no doubt but that this property will be sold for far less than its actual worth, but nevertheless no matter how cheap the property goes, it will be disposed of to the highest bidder without reservation. The purchasers at this auction sale will make their own prices and the 1400 lots will be sold to the highest bidder."

National Significance of New York's New Rent Laws

Proposal That Association of Real Estate Boards Shall Have a Permanent Bureau at Washington to Protect Interests

By RICHARD O. CHITTICK,
Executive Secretary, The Real Estate Board of New York.

[Extracts from a paper read at the thirteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, held at Convention Hall, Kansas City, Mo., June 2-5, 1920.]

THE National Association of Real Estate Boards has on the program of this, its thirteenth annual convention, many topics of great interest and importance to real estate brokers and to owners of real property throughout the United States. I doubt, however, if any one of these touches the life of the great mass of our people at so many angles as the subject of high rents, and the resultant focusing upon this point of the attention of national, state and local legislative bodies.

This subject is so closely related to the existing housing shortage that it is difficult to consider them separately. I will endeavor to confine myself strictly to the rent legislative feature, touching the housing situation only so far as to make intelligible the conditions that led up to legislative interference affecting New York City and State, and the effect of this upon the housing problem.

For a number of years prior to 1914 there was an annual over-production of housing, both residential and business. This was the normal condition. In 1909, for instance, all previous records of construction had been far outdone. Moderate rents, frequent renewals of interior decorations and various concessions to tenants were the rule. In these years income returns were either non-existent, negligible or low. Foreclosures were common. It never occurred to landlords to assail the legislature with pleas for assistance. They took the risk incident to the use of their own judgment and the operation of the law of supply and demand.

When the Great War broke out in 1914 the financial situation became unfavorable to building. Construction slowed up.

Between 1914 and 1917 much of the "slack" had been taken up and rents had shown considerable improvement.

When the United States entered the war in the spring of 1917 the changed situation had been clearly reflected in higher rents and by the spring of 1918 it began to be evident that a real undersupply of space would result in the near future.

At this time the Federal Government placed a ban on the production of all but essential construction. It was pleased to include residential housing among the unessentials. The Real Estate Board of New York, co-operating with other organizations in the hope of reversing this ill-advised policy, made a survey of available housing in New York City. The result of this survey showed that:

> During the years 1913 to 1916, inclusive only sufficient new apartments were provided to accommodate the normal increase in population; that in 1917 provision was made for only 50 per cent. of the normal requirement and that for the first half of 1918 less than 25 per cent. of the requirements for the normal growth of the population was actually under construction.

In the latter part of 1918 the Board of Aldermen threatened an investigation of renting conditions, but took no action. By the spring of 1919 the expression "rent profiteer" had found a definite place in the varnacular. The Governor appointed a Housing Commission to investigate and make recommendations. The mayor appointed a Rent Profiteering Committee, which later found that its well intentioned offices were being abused by persons with Bolsheviki tendencies. It became necessary to break up certain exotics known as Soviets and to jail some of their adherents who insisted on keeping the landlord out of his house and collecting the rents for him. The chairman of the committee stated publicly that 90 per cent. of the landlords were perfectly respectable and fair-dealing citizens.

Meantime all of the conditions which had created the housing shortage—scarcity of material and labor, high cost of material and labor, the attitude of labor demonstrated in numerous strikes, and the discouragement of capital had become reflected in a high rental level and the 90 per cent. of respectable landlords were being placed in the same category as the 10 per cent. who were undoubtedly gouging the tenants. All were classed as "rent profiteers."

It is not difficult to understand how with the public mind in this inflamed condition, a flood of proposed rent legislation made its appearance almost the minute the legislature was convened. Every legislator with a mission to benefit humanity and further a great reform (and the percentage of latent reformers in every legislature is amazingly large, as you all know) had a bill ready—the only bill. They all were meant to have "teeth in them." Many of them had only gums.

I think there were approximately 100 bills introduced during the session. From January to the end of April it took all of the time of the Legislation and Taxation Committee of the Real Estate Board of New York, working overtime, to convince the legislature that the bills were either plainly harmful to tenants as well as to landlords; or that they were unconstitutional, or that they were useless.

These bills provided for rent commissions, for a fixed net return on capital, for exempting new construction from taxation, for a statutory lease, and so forth.

Rent legislation was not, however, to be averted. Many of the legislators did not believe in their own bills, or in the principle of rent regulation. This privately—but publicly they thundered aganst the "rent profiteer" and were all for annihilating him. They felt they dared not go back home to face the music of the tenant-band unless they could by bringing home the scalp of the landlord, change that doleful music into a paen of joy. They did it—though I am fearful that the joy, just now unconfined, will take on a shriller and less pleasant note as time goes on.

The Legislature was not satisfied to come to the aid only of the great mass of rent payers holding under "monthly tenancies" and "tenancies from month to month." It attacked the problem in a large way. Scrapping the miscellaneous contributions of various senators and assemblymen, but saving out of the wreck something, and adding thereto something more, it produced twelve bills.

No efforts of logic or persuasion on the part of the Real Estate Board could turn the legislators from their purpose.

How are the laws being administered?

Although the law sets 25 per cent. as a measure, and not as a limit of increase, it is probably true that a great many cases, if not the majority, are settled below the 25 per cent. basis, with stays varying from three months to a year.

One Municipal Court judge ruled that when profits are fair there can be no rent increase, not even 25 per cent., which the law inferentially allows.

Tenants have, in some cases where larger increases than 25 per cent. were demanded, offered the landlord 25 per cent., and been advised by a Municipal Judge to "sit tight, as they had done their legal duty."

Certain tenants declined to pay the increase demanded and the judge decided to grant a stay of one year (the legal limit) at the old rent.

A landlord asked an increase from $35.00 to $40.00 per month or 14.4 per cent. He claimed, rather stupidly, that the increase taxes warranted this. The tenants swore there was an agreement to increase only to the amount necessary to cover the taxes, and that this was 50 cents per apartment per month. The judge allowed the 50 cents—$35.50—or an increase of 1.43 per cent.

A defendant-tenant was lessee of a boarding house. The landlord raised the rent. The judge refused the increase of $1,900 to $2,800 (about 50 per cent.). The landlord announced he would institute proceedings against the Justice to recover the $1,400 difference on the ground that the defendant boarding house keeper was conducting a business.

A landlord asking an increase of $35 to $60, or 71.4 per cent., on the ground of increased wages to employees, was allowed $43.50 or 24.2 per cent.

A landlord asking 100 per cent. increase ($30 per month to $60) on the ground of increased costs was granted 50 per cent. or $45. It was proved that he had spent $190 in the tenant's apartment. The increase allowed for the rental period brought him $180 and left him $10 short.

Serious complications are arising where contracts for sale or lease to other than the existing tenants had been executed prior to the enactment of the new rent laws.

Twenty-five per cent. is a purely arbitrary limit, without any scientific basis. It may be too much or far too little, according to circumstances. Thus, elected judges are, in effect, forced to pose as expert accountants and as experts in real estate. Judges probably mean to be fair; but the element of luck seems to play its part.

What has been the effect of rent legislation in New York City?

It must be born in mind that the imposition of the Federal and State Income Tax on the interest on mortgages has had a steadily increasing tendency to cause the withdrawal of funds from real estate mortgage loans, which cannot compete with tax free government securities; and that strikes have been frequent and the cost of labor and material have steadily increased. Both these factors have discouraged construction. The latter has enormously increased its cost.

But, aside from this, there can be no question of the fact that the New York Rent Laws of 1920, coming as they did as a climax to these conditions, have produced certain definite results.

The outstanding fact is that for the first time in the history of New York, and as far as I know, of any State in the Union, control of residence property, from the standpoint of tenancy and income return, has in practice passed from the owner of the fee and is now lodged, to a certain extent, jointly in the owner, the Justices of the Municipal Courts and the tenant. That is the legal effect. And this has reacted to produce certain economic effects. These are:

First—They have placed a check on unscrupulous landlords and temporarily have done good in reducing the number of evictions.

Second—They have further discouraged the construction of two-family houses and tenements.

Third—They have checked the sale of dwellings and all multi-family houses. Tenants, driven under pressure of high rents to become home buyers, have, since April 1, been lulled into false security because they cannot be evicted without long stays which will carry them into the fall, when the housing shortage will become graver even than at present.

Fourth—They have made it possible for unscrupulous landlords to exact increases of nearly 25 per cent. and to do this again next year, while the fair-dealing landlord, whose low rents, fixed three or five years ago may warrant a very great increase, perhaps much greater than 50 per cent., is at the discretion, not to say mercy, of the Municipal Court Judge.

Fifth—By tending to check construction, they will also tend to increase the average of rents, in both old and new housing, until supply catches up with demand.

Does the experience of New York hold any lesson for other States?

I believe it does.

Could this legislation or some rent legislation have been averted by any other attitude on the part of the landlords of New York?

Would it have been wiser for the legislature to have acted differently in the premises?

It is my personal opinion that simpler legislation involving, for instance, a statutory lease that would have checked actual rent profiteering upon "monthly tenants" and "tenants from month to month" would have served the purpose without having the bad effects that the legislature was warned the new laws would have, and that they are actually having. Beyond question also the legislature should have enacted a law as it was urged to do by the Real Estate Board of New York—repeating a warning given in 1919—to grant total exemption of the interest on mortgages from the provisions of the State Income Tax Law. This would have encouraged lenders and to that extent encouraged building; and it would also have encouraged Congress to enact legislation along the same lines.

This brings me to a closing word. The housing situation creates a great opportunity for the National Association of Real Estate Boards. More than that, it imposes a duty upon the National Board. Congress is now considering the Calder and McLaughlin bills for the exemption of mortgage interest from the Income Tax. I am aware that the National Association was represented at a hearing on this subject, held Wednesday of last week, as was the Real Estate Board of New York.

Congress is considering an additional tax on real estate in connection with the blanket bonus scheme for soldiers.

The Senate has appointed a committee to investigate the housing situation, with Senator Calder of New York as chairman, to see what, if any, remedial legislation can be enacted.

The Income Sur Tax takes an enormous portion of the profits on real estate sales.

The Excess Profits Tax bears heavily on real estate corporations.

All this calls for vigorous concerted action.

I am also aware that President Weaver represents the National Association at Washington, his home city, and I have no doubt that the National Association is represented.

But this is, of necessity, a temporary arrangement. Has not the time arrived with burdens piling up on real estate, for the national association to maintain a regularly equipped permanent bureau in Washington, to keep intimately in touch with legislative matters, to keep its members informed on what is taking place, to collect sentiment and opinion on these matters and to focus this national real estate sentiment upon the senatorial and congressional mind?

I venture not only to make this suggestion, but to urge it upon the convention, confident that it will be given fair consideration and confident also that the affiliated local boards, the Real Estate Board of New York among them, would respond willing to support the necessities of such a legislative bureau at Washington.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Great Activity Characterized the Market, Many Dwellings Were Sold, While Commercial and Apartment Buildings Were in Strong Demand

CONSIDERING that the season has arrived when real estate activity wanes as a rule, it is timely to state that the week just ended was prolific with sales of real property and that the total number of transactions surpassed the aggregate of the week before. The situation would seem to bear out what was prophesied several weeks ago, that market activity would continue strong throughout the summer. Certain the momentum has not yet slackened appreciably. There appears to be a good market for income property as well as for speculative parcels. The sale of private dwellings was heavy and the movement extended from Greenwich Village to Washington Heights as well as throughout the East Side, Yorkville and Harlem. The Park avenue district witnessed the sale of one very costly dwelling and numerous high class ones of the less costly. It is an unusual week when so many Park avenue dwellings change hands.

The notable large sales were the Hotel Weston, on Madison avenue; the Hotel Regent, on East Thirty-second street; the Lakeview apartment house on Cathedral Parkway; the Market and Fulton Bank building on Fulton street; a 12-story apartment house on West End avenue; half a block front of flats and stores on Eighth avenue; numerous substantial loft and mercantile buildings uptown and downtown, while many large leases were also a conspicuous feature of a week whose activity was a surprise. Many tenants continue to buy the houses they occupy, one distinctive case being that of a tenant who has occupied a dwelling in Harlem for thirty years. A sale that attracted notice was that of the Park avenue home of George W. Perkins. William R. Hearst added to his already extensive realty holdings near Columbus Circle. Some more apartment houses went under cooperative ownership. The extension of the negro home colony in Harlem was threatened by the renting of some apartment houses to negro tenants in a heretofore white tenant block.

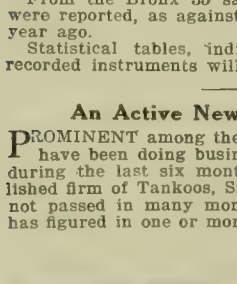
In buying the Hotel Weston J. Clarence Davies indicated an appetite for good Manhattan holdings, and, although most of his real estate career has been identified with the Bronx, he is a keen observer of market matters in the premier borough. Undoubtedly Mr. Davies, when he bought the Weston, had in mind the fact that in the not remote future an immense new department store will be on Fifth avenue, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth streets, that the Hotel Ambassador is in course of construction at Park avenue and Forty-eighth street, that the Ritz Carlton, the Hotel Chatham and other distinctive improvements are adjacent, and that the tendency for this quarter of the city to become a great business, hotel and club center is growing.

The Chinese benevolent organization known as the Lau Gar Society bought 23 Pell street. The fact would not seem to show an exodus of Chinese from this old-established Oriental quarter of town, as has been predicted by some observers. When the new Court House site, which is but a stone's throw from the Chinese settlement, was chosen, certain experts predicted that the toning up of the neighborhood would drive out the gentlemen from China, as they did not desire too close Caucasian contact. The purchase by the Chinese society mentioned is an earnest of the fact that no marked exodus of the race from that part of town is likely for a long time to come. It is an anomaly of New York's cosmopolitan life that all other nationalities have shifted their established quarters from time to time, but the Chinese have clung to their original metropolitan colony. How much the circumstance has impaired fee values in Chatham Square and the lower Bowery is problematical.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week was 130, as against 100 last week and 96 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 65, as compared with 46 last week and 33 a year ago.



The number of sales north of 59th street was 65, as compared with 54 last week and 63 a year ago.

From the Bronx 35 sales at private contract were reported, as against 20 last week and 81 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments will be found on page 782.

An Active New Realty Firm.

PROMINENT among the brokers downtown who have been doing business to a marked degree during the last six months is the newly established firm of Tankoos, Smith & Co. A week has not passed in many months but what this firm has figured in one or more transactions reported. Their activity has ranged from the sale of a commercial building to the leasing of strategic business locations throughout the city for long terms to lessees of prestige in the commercial world.

S. J. TANKOOS.

The senior member of the firm, Samuel J. Tankoos, was born in New York on March 10, 1890, and he is demonstrating that young men can negotiate big transactions in real estate as well as the older heads of the business. He started as an office boy and messenger for Pease & Elliman in 1904, when 14 years old. He progressed to the extent that in 1915 he was made manager of the downtown office of Pease & Elliman. The following year Mr. Tankoos was elected a director of the corporation after a competitive test for having earned the largest amount of individual commissions for the fiscal year. On March 1, 1917, he resigned to accept the vice-presidency of the Schulte Realty Co., which is the real estate subsidiary of the Schulte Cigar Stores Co. He is now general manager of all the realty of this cigar company in various states. Mr. Tankoos served in the United States Army from June to December, 1918.

H. C. SMITH.

Upon his discharge he organized, on January 1, 1919, the S. J. Tankoos Real Estate Co., during which period he negotiated leases for Horn & Hardart, owners of the Automat restaurants, along with other business. On March 15, 1920, Mr. Tankoos formed a partnership with H. Clayton Smith, who also had been connected with Pease & Elliman, and later with the United States Realty & Improvement Co. The offices of the firm are at 11 John st.

Mr. Tankoos was married in 1918 to Miss Daisy Walsh, of Brooklyn.

H. Clayton Smith, like his partner, saw war service, having been a member of Squadron A, and, upon being mustered out of the army, he formed the partnership with Mr. Tankoos. Mr. Smith has effected numerous important real estate transactions.

Kennelly's Sales Successful.

LAST Monday and Tuesday, Bryan L. Kennelly successfully disposed of 552 lots and four dwellings in the East Bronx and 157 lots and two large dwellings and a garage in the Spuyten Duyvil section. The sales were held in the Exchange Salesroom, 14 Vesey st. The first was a liquidation sale of the former estate of Joseph Mapes, deceased, and the second was to close out the real estate holdings of the late Isaac A. Singer and Joseph H. Godwin.

Lots on East Tremont av, which were offered among others, brought on an average from $2,300 to $3,500 each; on the White Plains rd, from $1,200 to $1,500 each; on Leland av from $1,000 to $1,200 each; on Thierot av, from $700 to $1,200 each; on Guerlain st, a plot 50x100, with dwelling, 50 feet west of Leland av, sold for $5,650. Most of the lots in Guerlain st brought an average price of $1,000. Matho Capobianco bought the 2-sty dwelling on a plot 75x100, on the east side of Leland av, 169 feet south of Guerlain st, for $5,800.

The sale of the West Bronx holdings on Tuesday was well attended, as was the first sale, and the West Bronx parcels brought a total of $225,000. Notable among the sales was that of the old mansion of the late Joseph H. Godwin, which was sold to William J. Smith for $32,500; it occupies a plot of 17 lots extending from Kingsbridge av to Godwin Terrace, just north of 230th st. The next best sale was that of the northeast corner of Broadway and 230th st, which sold for $12,000 to the Practical Garage Co. There were numerous buyers at the general bidding.

To Auction Homes at Waldorf-Astoria.

AT this period, when the demand for private houses is keen, the Seimor Homes Corporation, whose stockholders are realty experts, has acquired some choice dwellings on both the East and West sides of Manhattan ranging in value from $13,000 to $65,000. Their locations are of the best for the money. In the light of the fact that there will be a house hunting movement among prospective buyers all summer so as to insure a newly desired home by next autumn, the Seimor Homes Corporation is to offer at auction numerous 3 and 4-sty brick and brownstone dwellings on both the East and West sides.

The sale will be held on the evening of Wednesday, June 16, in the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf-Astoria. One of the essential conditions in the present house selling movement is to get immediate possession, and that has not always been possible. The houses to be sold at this auction will be immediately available. All of them are easily accessible to modern transit facilities. The terms of sale are within the reach of anyone able to buy a Manhattan home.

Joseph P. Day is the auctioneer and the M. Morgenthau, Jr., Co. is associated with him.

The Story of Queens Borough.

"Queens Borough, New York City, 1910-1920," an attractive book of 240 pages published by the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce, has just been issued. Every page is filled with interesting and valuable information regarding the borough, picturing its rapid growth both from a residential and an industrial standpoint during the last decade. The publication was compiled and edited by Walter I. Willis, secretary of the Chamber.

Various chapters are devoted to presenting, in a convincing manner, the facts relating to the improvement and the commercial possibilty of the 200 miles of waterfront of Queens, the new rapid transit extensions from Manhattan and Brooklyn, including a rapid transit map in three colors; an industrial census of the borough, together with a list of the articles manufactured, showing the number of employes in each factory; the transportation facilities for freight and passengers on the Long Island and Pennsylvania Railroad System and the New York Connecting Railroad, and a roster of the membership containing the names of 700 business men who have helped make Queens one of the leading industrial centers of the United States.

The Chamber of Commerce of Queens has augmented the material growth of the borough.

Hearst Adds to His Holdings.

Having long owned valuable realty on and adjacent to Columbus Circle, William R. Hearst, through his holding company, the Veronica Realty Corporation, has added to his holdings there by purchasing 337-339 West 58th st, two 4-sty brownstone flats, on a plot 42.10x100.5, one-half block from the Circle, from Henry Moeller and Albert Beyer; and, also, from Mr. Beyer 328 West 59th st, a 5-sty brownstone flat, on a lot 25x100.5, one-half block from the Circle.

With these acquisitions the company has a frontage in 59th st of 165 feet, having previously held title to 312 to 324. The intervening house at 326, a 5-sty flat on a lot 25x100, owned by Solomon Cohen, is understood to be under contract. On 58th st it now has an unbroken frontage of 283 feet, including 315 to 339. Mr. Hearst began assembling this site about 7 years ago, when it was reported that he planned eventually to erect a building to house his various magazine publications.

His other holdings in this section include the American Circle Building, bounded by the Circle, Broadway, Central Park West and 61st st, and the small block at the south of the Circle, between Broadway and Eighth av.

Davies As An Investor.

J. Clarence Davies bought from the Hotel Securities Co., the Hotel New Weston, at the northeast corner of Madison av and 49th st, a 12-sty steel, fire-proof construction building, 80 feet on Madison ave and 85 feet on 49th st. The building was erected by the Merritt Construction Co. about 15 years ago and is modern in every respect. It is one of the family hotels, occupied by a very high class of tenants and is in line with the trend of improvements taking place on Madison av north of 42nd st.

Activity on Eighth Av.

M. & L. Hess, Inc., sold for Mrs. Julia Metzger 392 Eighth av, a 4-sty flat with store, on a lot 20x100.3; for Louis Schwargel 394 Eighth av, for Samuel Blank 396 Eighth av, for the estate of Ralph McCormich 398 Eighth av, the latter at the southeast corner of West 30th st, all 4-sty flats with stores, on a plot 63.6x60; also, for the Klages estate and Oestreicher & Wolf Realty Co. 256-258 West 30th st, adjoining the southeast corner of Eighth av, two 4-sty flats with stores, on a plot 40.3x63.6.

Sells Fine New Dwelling.

Pease & Elliman sold for George G. Bourne of Glen Cove, L. I., the new 6-sty dwelling at 604 Park av, on a lot 27x75. The house, one of the finest in the district, occupies the site of two smaller houses sold by Pease & Elliman to H. H. Pease about ten years ago and resold by the latter to Mr. Bourne about 13 months ago. The new house was built by Mr. Bourne on plans drawn by Edson Gage. It is said the house brought a sum approximating the asking price of $225,000. Douglas L. Elliman & Co., Inc., represented the seller. The buyer is a prominent New Yorker.

Sale by George W. Perkins.

John E. Berwind bought from George W. Perkins 76 Park av, a 5-sty American basement dwelling, on a lot 25x100. Mr. Perkins had owned the house since October 1, 1909, when he bought it from Austin Corbin for $135,000. The contract of sale filed in the Register's Office shows that the new owner paid $150,000 for the property. Mr. Perkins has spent most of his time at his Riverdale home.

Old Tenants Buy Their Quarters.

Henry Lane Eno sold through Horace S. Ely & Co. to Arthur, Mountain & Co., stationers, for occupancy, 111 Liberty st, a 5-sty loft building, on a lot 25.8x101.1, adjoining the northwest corner of Church st. The buyers have been the tenants for about 30 years.

Erected in 1916, the 12-sty apartment house, on a plot 100.5x100, at the north corner of Fifth av and 63d st, has been sold by the Fifth Avenue and Sixty-third Street Co. The apartments each contain 22 rooms and 10 baths each and are among the most costly in the city. The property is 100 per cent. leased. Formerly on the site was the residence of the late James B. Haggin. Joseph P. Day and the Charles F. Noyes Co. were the brokers. The purchase price is reported to be $2,750,000.

Tenants Get the Lakeview.

Owned by the Crown Operating Co., the 6-sty apartment house, known as the Lakeview, on a plot 150x100, at 35 to 43 Cathedral Parkway has been bought by the tenants on a cooperative basis. The property is assessed at $250,000. Bernhard D. Goldstein, J. Salzberg and S. Waldbaum are the directors of the new corporation, which is capitalized at $150,000.

Lau Gars Buy in Pell St.

BUILDING SECTION

Slight Decline Noted In Building Operations for May

Statistics of F. W. Dodge Company Indicate Decrease of Nineteen Per Cent. When Compared With Previous Month, But General Outlook Good

BUILDING operations in the month of May showed a decline of 19 per cent. from the operations of the previous month, according to statistics compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company. According to this company's figures, contracts awarded during May in the territory east of the Missouri and north of the Ohio rivers amounted to $247,186,000, compared with over $300,000,000 for the months of March and April.

This slackening of activity can scarcely be more than temporary. Its principal causes are four: Disputes over adjustments in the wage scale, principally in Chicago and the Central West; freight congestion, which is felt principally in the East; the increasing difficulty of financng building operations, and the belief that prices of materials are due to drop.

These factors, though they seriously handicap building operations, can scarcely be of more than temporary nature. The problems of wage adjustments and freight congestion may be solved very speedily. The difficulty of financing building projects, while it is great, is not insurmountable. The public has already begun to see that declines in commodity prices can only be slow, at best, and it will soon realize that, in face of the enormous demand for construction of all kinds and the prospect of increased freight rates, building materials are likely to remain high longer than any other group of commodities.

The outstanding factor in the building situation, which overshadows all the difficulties and disturbing elements, is the accumulated demand for buildings. During the first five months of 1920, the F. W. Dodge Company reported contemplated and projected work amounting to $2,500,000,000, as against contract awards amounting to one-half that sum.

In the face of the enormous construction job this country has on its hands it is not going to pack up its tools and quit, but it will rather solve the difficulties one by one, and push the work to completion as rapidly as the adverse circumstances will permit.

Building contracts awarded in May in the New England States amounted to $38,271,000, an increase of 33 per cent. over the figure for April, although slightly less than the figure for March.

In detail the May figures show the following items: $13,352,000, or 35 per cent., for residential buildings; $11,946,000, or 31 per cent., for industrial buildings; $7,322,000, or 19 per cent., for business buildings.

Contemplated projects amounting to $46,386,000 were reported in May, bringing the total of contemplated work reported from January 1 to June 1 up to $291,844,000, including $72,479,000 for industrial buildings, $60,693,000 for residential buildings and $50,983,000 for business buildings.

In New York state and northern New Jersey, building contracts in May amounted to $51,052,000, a decline of 35 per cent. from the April figure, although it is greater by $10,000,000 than the total for May, 1919.

The total for May, 1920, included the following items: $14,374,000, or 28 per cent., for public works and utilities; $12,064,000, or 23 per cent, for residential buildings, and $10,497,000, or 20 per cent., for business buildings.

Contemplated work amounting to $106,573,000 was reported in May. From January 1 to June 1, the amount of contemplated work reported was $510,438,000, compared with contracts let amounting to $296,104,000. The great excess of projected work is indication that the May decline in contracts is probably a temporary prenomenon. Projected work for the first five months of the year include $138,097,000 for residential buildings, $119,241,000 for business buildings, $105,993,000 for public works and utilities, and $74,210,000 for industrial plants.

May building contracts in eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, the District of Columbia and Virginia, amounted to $25,549,000, a decline of 45 per cent. from the figures for April.

The May figures include the following items: $9,272,000, or 36 per cent, for residential buildings; $5,494,000, or 22 per cent., for public works and utilities, and $4,053,000, or 16 per cent., for industrial plants.

Contemplated work reported during May amounted to $54,989,000, bringing the total of contemplated work reported from January 1 to June 1 up to $415,983,000, which includes $100,070,000 for residential buildings, $99,221,000 for public works and utilities, and $77,445,000 for industrial plants.

Building contracts let during May in western Pennsylvania, West Virgina and Ohio amounted to $44,731,000, a decrease of 9 per cent. from the April total, although it is greater by $16,000,000 than the total for May of last year.

The May, 1920, figures, include: $11,811,000, or 26 per cent., for residential buildings; $9,972,000, or 22 per cent., for public works and utilities, and $9,650,000, or 22 per cent. for industrial.

Tempel Beth El in Borough Park to Cost About $750,000

Imposing Edifice, from Plans by Shampan & Shampan, Will Be Splendid Addition to Churches of Brooklyn

A NOTABLE addition to the ecclesiastical monuments of Brooklyn will be the new Temple Beth El, that is now being erected at the southwest corner of Fifteenth avenue and Forty-eighth street, in the Borough Park section. This project is proceeding from plans and designs by Shampan & Shampan, architects, who have entire supervision of all construction and decoration and who are working under the direction of M. Napelbaum, chairman of the building committee; Morris Beinstock, president of the congregation, and L. J. Robbins, treasurer.

Shampan & Shampan, Architects.

PERSPECTIVE OF NEW TEMPLE BETH EL.

This structure, which will cost approximately $750,000, according to the estimate of the architects, is to be thoroughly fireproof and will have ground dimensions of 85 by 110 feet. The building will occupy a plot having a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 120 feet. The imposing dome will have a height of 85 feet above the grade line.

The facades of the temple have been designed with a blending of several styles and periods of architecture, more or less related, and is termed a first century design. To carry out this feeling and to give to the structure a feeling of antiquity, as though it were one of the old temples of Palestine, the architects have selected a seam-faced granite which has a beautiful natural texture and which will run in colors of yellow, buff, tan and dusty purple, for use in the construction of the facades.

The predominating feature of the front of Temple Beth El will be the main portal, richly ornamented with a suggestion from Moorish and Egyptian sources, which will ease the otherwise severe aspect of the facade.

According to the plans the basement will be utilized as a large auditorium for daily services, room for trustees, social room, living quarters for janitor, coal storage, heating and ventilating plant and general toilet accommodations. In plan the main auditorium is square, with a grouping of pilasters spaced around the walls, highly enriched with low relief ornaments from which decorative pendentive brackets are projected for the support of a perpendicular wall.

Material Shortage Slows Down Work of Building Plans

Figures of F. W. Dodge Company Show Decrease in Both Planning Activity and Contracts Awarded During Week of May 29 to June 4.

REPORTS from the offices of architects and engineers in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, for the week of May 29 to June 4, inclusive, showing the number and valuation of new building and engineering operations for which plans are being prepared, show a decided decrease when compared with the figures for the three or four previous weeks. The situation is not alarming, however, as there is a vast amount of proposed construction for which plans are completed and still considerable projected building already under contract but which is being held in abeyance pending a readjustment of the material supply situation which for the past five or six weeks has been almost intolerable. Notwithstanding the indicated decrease in planning activity among architects and engineers in this territory the building industry is satisfied that just as soon as adequate building materials and supplies are available for the new construction already contracted for and in immediate prospect all trades will be busy to full capacity.

During the week of May 29 to June 4 inclusive there were 368 new building and engineering projects reported to the F. W. Dodge Company in the local territory. This work will involve an outlay of approximately $14,858,400. The contracts awarded for the same week included 183 operations that will require an expenditure of about $13,534,400.

War Alters U. S. Standard of Art.

Changing standards of art in America as a result of the war are reflected in the courses in architecture to be given at Columbia University in the summer session, John J. Coss, director, announced this week. The architectural school, which this summer offers more than twenty intensive courses, has adopted many of the army methods of training men in both theory and practice for practical work.

The courses have been so arranged as to be of particular value in view of the evident portent of the coming building boom which will make a great demand for practical architects. H. V. Walsh will be departmental representative for the work which will count toward the degree in architecture for students who have satisfied the entrance requirements and are open to all qualified students without examination.

The elements of freehand drawing, lettering, drawing geometrical figures from dictation or diagrams, ornament forms in outline, simple architectural details, isometric projections, outline sketching from flat casts and from models will be taught by George Marcus Allen, instructor in graphics at Columbia, in a course which covers the requirements of the College Examination Board in freehand drawing.

Prof. Charles A. Harriman will give two courses in the element of design, in one of which he will be assisted by Mr. Allen. Courses in elementary design, intermediate design, and advanced design will be given under M. Maurice Prevot and A. E. Flanagan.

For students beginning the study of architecture a course in architectural drafting covering drafting as seen from the architectural point of view, visualization, use of instruments, alphabets and lettering, standard drafting practice, symbols and indications of frame, brick and stone construction, materials and fixtures, working drawings, large scale drawings, architectural and structural details, sizes and space allowances for fixtures will be given by Mr. Allen.

Prof. Harriman will give courses in charcoal drawing, pen and ink drawing and pencil drawing, and Joseph Lauber will give an elementary and advanced course in water color drawing. Courses in shades and shadows and perspective will also be offered. Surveying courses to be given at Camp Columbia, Litchfield County, Connecticut, will be open to students in architecture.

The courses at the university, which begin on July 6, are part of the group of more than a thousand courses to be taught by several hundred teachers which Columbia will offer in the twenty-first summer session.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

OPTIMISM was certainly not the keynote of the quarterly meeting of the building material dealers and manufacturers, held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel this week, and the feeling seemed to be quite prevalent that a complete paralysis of building will in all likelihood follow the present period of freight congestion, scarcity of mortgage money, labor difficulties and other important factors that seem to be operating in harmony to prevent what otherwise would have been a building season of unusual progress and prosperity. The dealers and manufacturers have just cause for complaint, as it is fully realized that conditions could not possibly have been worse than they have been during the past month or so.

Slightly improved movement of freight during the past week, however, has brightened the building material supply situation to some extent, as considerable freight, destined for building projects, has been released. This change has brought about a more cheerful mental attitude on the part of contractors, subcontractors, building material and supply dealers, and practically everyone identified with construction work in the Metropolitan district, and although the situation is still far from normal and it will be many weeks before supplies are again available in volume sufficient to supply the demand, the industry is optimistic. Building statistics show a falling off in the number and value of new structural projects placed under contract during the past week or so, but this was mainly attributable to the scarcity of essential commodities and not because of a dearth of projected building. Architects and engineers have hundreds of important operations on their schedules, but they will not be released for either estimates or contracts until the material supply is assured.

Common Brick.—Business in the wholesale market for Hudson River common brick, while relatively light for this season of the year, was up to the average of the past three or four weeks, and although inquiries denote a vast amount of business in prospect none of the dealers are willing to express an opinion as to when the conditions will become sufficiently settled to permit builders to go ahead with their scheduled operations. Common brick price levels remain unchanged and no decided fluctuations is anticipated for some time to come. Upriver the manufacturing season is progressing quietly, with the majority of the producers shorthanded and greatly in need of additional labor. At that brick is being piled up and it appears as though a goodly reserve would be soon available for a building boom of any proportions. In a few of the yards manufacturers have commenced to burn their brick and it will not be long until stock of the 1920 season is available for the market.

Summary.—Transactions in the North River common brick market for the week ending Friday, June 11, 1920. Condition of market: Demand fair, prices firm and unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $25 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 15; sales, 11. Distribution: Manhattan, 2; Brooklyn, 4; New Jersey points, 3; Astoria, 2. Remaining unsold, 29.

Lumber.—Conditions in both wholesale and retail departments of the local lumber market have not changed to any extent during the past week or so. Railroad shipments are very slow and prospect of improvement is uncertain. Water shipments, however, are coming through in good style, and lumber merchants are generally in a position to give customers what they desire with but little difficulty. The demand from building sources has eased off somewhat owing to the general recession of building activity throughout the metropolitan district, but manufacturing consumers are still an important factor in the market and business as a rule is steady. Prices are firm, but in some lines seem to have weakened slightly, but it is thought that this is but a temporary condition that will change just as soon as building is resumed in considerable volume.

Structural Steel.—Locally the demand for fabricated material has not been up to expectations, and while there is a vast amount of new construction planned and a fair percentage of it already under a general contract, it is not anticipated that the structural steel orders will be placed before next autmun on account of the generally demoralized building material situation. Architects and engineers are hesitating about getting their projects started while there remains a doubt about the constancy of a supply of essential materials, and this feeling is responsible for holding back on a number of large operations that should have been started months ago. The outlook for a vast amount of business for steel fabricators during the fall and winter months is excellent provided freight shipments on a normal basis are possible by that time. Quotations for mill shipments of fabricated material remain unchanged.

Roofing and Building Papers.—The demand for these materials are firm and the market seems to be in a healthy condition despite the fact that dealers are not over supplied with stock. During the week, however, orders placed with manufacturers some time ago have come through and this has relieved the tension to some extent, but there still remains a scarcity that is preventing dealers from taking lull advantage of the demand. Prices are holding firm and are unchanged since last week.

Linseed Oil.—The local market is quiet and but slight improvement has been noted in the demand during the week. Better freight movements have increased the available supply to some extent, but buying interest is lacking and will undoubtedly be light until building is again resumed in volume. Linseed oil prices are weak and have declined somewhat during the past week.

Electrical Supplies.—Shipments of incoming freight have been better during the past week than for the past month or so, but the situation is still far from normal and considerable time must be allowed before the railroads are again in a position to deliver goods without serious delays. Harbor traffic is also improved, with the result that the accumulation of freight in railroad yards is gradually being reduced. The demand for electrical supplies holds firm despite the small volume of new construction being started, and dealers are looking toward a vastly increased amount of business just as soon as available building materials make it possible to commence large structural operations. Prices in this line are firm and some slight advances have been noted during the past week.

Window Glass.—There has been practically no improvement in the glass situation for a number of weeks. Stocks are very low and out of practically all of the popular sizes. At the same time the demand is keen for both plate and window glass, and consumers have been obliged to wait for supplies. At this writing the outlook is not promising for many months to come.

Nails.—No change of consequence has occurred in the nail situation, and consumers are being forced to buy wherever possible in exceedingly small lots. The demand for nails is tremendous, but jobbers are unable to get deliveries.

The book is an abridged edition of another equally valuable handbook just issued, "Everything in Insulation." Among the different subjects treated are structural waterproofing compounds, pitch, asphalt and similar hydrocarbons, as well as insulating waxes and compounds, asbestos, varnished materials, and the like. The editions are limited and distribution will be restricted to those who can use to advantage and profit. Copies of either book may be secured without cost by addressing the company on business letterhead.

Every boiler is given a rating which shows the point where these three equations meet—that is—time, power, fuel.

You men who are buying boilers should know something about boiler ratings. RICHARDSON & BOYNTON CO. Boilers are honestly rated.

Why Large Buildings Install
MARBLELOID
"The Ideal Composition Flooring"
Marbleloid is being put into an ever increasing number of important buildings because it is a satisfactory and efficient flooring. Hard, dust-proof, durable, slow to chip or crack, it has the close texture that repels moisture and the pleasing appearance that brightens the office. Easily applied and inexpensive, it pays dividends from the day it is laid.
Where may we send you full information, samples and a list of Marbleloid installations?

Winning Out for the Public

Perhaps the most significant development of the week in the strike of the coastwise longshoremen has been the handling of merchandise in large quantities by the Citizens' Transportation Committee. Hundreds of tons of merchandise, held at various piers since last March because of the refusal of union truckmen to handle it, has been delivered to its owners by the businessmen's new organization. At the same time large quantities of merchandise awaiting shipment have been hauled to the piers and loaded.

These are hopeful signs to citizens who insist that public necessity requires the prompt movement of merchandise in this port. An early end of the prolonged labor difficulties at the docks is predicted in some quarters, but that outcome, highly desirable as it is, is not yet assured. It would have been wise if the strike leaders had accepted Governor Smith's suggestion and returned to work several weeks ago. But they failed to take advantage of this opportunity, and thereby forced the business-men of New York to demonstrate that large quantities of merchandise can be handled and commerce kept moving, strike or no strike.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the effect which the decision of Supreme Court Justice Fawcett has had on the situation. In enjoining certain deep-sea steamship companies from refusing to handle merchandise barred by union labor, Justice Fawcett rules:

"The representatives of the companies who decline to furnish service are violating the law, and the employers where strikes are threatened to compel them to violate the law are engaged in an illegal combination. The carriers have aided and encouraged the unions by seeking to evade their duties to handle plaintiff's goods without discrimination.

"While a man may enter any vocation he chooses, yet if he selects a field indissolubly linked with the rights of the public, such as a common carrier, he must subserve his own rights to that of the public welfare.

"The combination violates the United States Shipping Act and Section 5440 of the Revised Statutes. Under these statutes a refusal of the carriers to transport the plaintiff's merchandise is a crime, and the unions are engaged in an unlawful conspiracy when they induce, aid or abet the carriers in committing the same, and it is no excuse to the carriers that the employes threaten to strike."

The Burgess Brothers Company, dealers in lumber, had applied to Justice Fawcett for an injunction forbidding steamship companies to refuse to accept products not approved by union labor. In passing on this application the jurist gave an illuminating exposition of the legal principles involved in this controversy. Justice Fawcett's ruling applies with equal force to many other strike problems affecting the public interest. He declares that any combination to discriminate against open shop products is against the public welfare and a crime. The complaint in the Burgess Brothers Company case charged certain steamship companies and certain trade unions with engaging in a combination to exclude the plaintiff's goods from transportation by the defendant common carriers, both where the plaintiff is a shipper and where its customers act as shippers. If this combination is lawful, Justice Fawcett rules, "it is impossible to truck in New York and vicinity except on such terms as the unions permit." He declares such a combination to exclude open shop merchandise from the channels of trade and the markets of the nation as "a conspiracy against public welfare" which "deprives the public of their sovereign right of choice to purchase what they see fit."

Even before this important decision was rendered by Justice Fawcett, public sentiment had aligned itself overwhelmingly behind the business-men in their controversy with the longshoremen strikers. This sentiment has been greatly strengthened by subsequent developments. It becomes more evident every day that the 6,000,000 residents of the Metropolis have some rights which even strike leaders may be compelled to respect.

Hotels Versus Offices

That so good a hotel man as Mr. John McE. Bowman should dispose of one of his group of hotels in the Grand Central zone to a financial institution to be transformed into a commercial building indicates either that the type of hotel of which the Manhattan is a sample, has outgrown its usefulness and productivity as a lodging-house, or that the demand for office space in the Midtown District is so great as to make it pay to reconstruct any but the most modern hotels for business purposes.

With the final acquisition of the Manhattan by the National City Company there is added another famous landmark in the section north of Twenty-third street to the list of dismantled hotels, which includes the old Fifth Avenue, the Hoffman House, the Holland House, the Earlington, the Grand Union and the Knickerbocker. That the very up-to-date conveniences and luxuries of the Pennsylvania, the new Commodore and the addition to the McAlpin have crowded out their old-fashioned rivals is not so likely as that the restricted areas upon which most of the old-time hotels were erected can be made to produce greater revenues by covering them with office buildings, which do not have to devote so much space to general uses of the occupants as is the case with hotels. Parlors, reception rooms, banquet and dining rooms, soda water bars, peacock allies and kitchens utilize space that can be made to return several dollars per square foot without giving so much service as the hotel guest demands.

There have been a number of hotels built in the midtown section since the demolition of the Fifth Avenue started the razing of so many of the city's best-known hotels. But it is extremely doubtful if the addition to the number of rooms, taking into consideration the loss through the closing of the hotels mentioned, is in proportion to the increase in population and to the increase in out-of-town visitors. The difficulty of getting accommodations unless bookings are made far in advance of arrival indicates that New York is underbuilt in this respect as it is in other lines of construction.

New hotels must be erected and they must be centrally located. Times Square and Pershing Square are natural centers near which they must be built. They are as important to the welfare of the city as apartment houses, because our out-of-town visitors do not come here simply for pleasure. They come to do business, and even if they come only for pleasure they make business. Therefore it is good business to provide them with comfortable quarters while New Yorkers do business for and with them.

Ordinance Requires Operators of Ice Machines to be Engineers

THE Real Estate Board of New York calls the attention of taxpayers to an ordinance now before the Board of Aldermen (Int. No. 524), introduced by Alderman Farley. It bears a modest title indicating that it is "to amend Article 1 of Chapter 18 of the Code of Ordinances relative to persons to be licensed as engineers."

Actually, however, it would require every person who should take charge or operate "any ice machine or gas compressor of five tons or greater capacity; any machine used for hoisting purposes or cable ways, irrespective of motive power, used for construction work," to be licensed as a steam engineer, and it would prevent any person to be "in charge of or operate any boiler or other machinery used for heating or motive power unless such person is duly licensed as an engineer in accordance with the provisions of Section 342 and the laws of the State of New York as may be applicable thereto."

It would inflict a penalty of $25.00 or a jail sentence of twenty-five days or both of these penalties upon those who should violate the Ordinance.

The Real Estate Board has opposed this ordinance in cooperation with the Hotel Managers Association and other organizations and has been in touch with several of the business interests, restaurant keepers and others who would be directly affected by the ordinance.

The Board has opposed it on several grounds; one of these is that in so far as it affects ice machines, it is covered by the provisions of Subdivision 5 of Section 220 of Chapter 10 of the Code of Ordinances which require the qualifications of the operator of such a machine to be tested and certified to by the Police Commissioner.

Many Buyers For 2,000 Lots at Jamaica Auction Sale

AFTER an auction offering of the 2,000 lots that comprised all that remained unsold privately of the hill development in Jamaica known as Jamaica Estates, that lasted four days, Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, announces that the total amount realized is $400,189. There was a total of 612 buyers of this property that was owned and developed by the Matawok Land Co., in which the late Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff and others more or less prominent were long interested.

Prominent among the buyers at the auction sale, which began on the premises last Saturday, was Charles F. Noyes, the well-known New York real estate broker, who purchased an entire block of lots bounded by Holliswood avenue, Huntley drive and Troon place. Emanuel Bach, a well-known Manhattan real estate operator, also bought a block of lots.

In the light of the present building situation, vacant property is not in very strong demand, and, considering the fact, the prices obtained were fairly good. The total averaged more than $200 a lot. These lots are within easy access of the Hillside station of the Long Island Railroad, at East Jamaica, and they are within easy riding distance of the main Jamaica station. They are in the finest suburban part of Jamaica, being on the high ridge known as "the backbone of Long Island."

The principals for whom Mr. Day acted were satisfied with the results of the sale. There is a fine entrance lodge to Jamaica Estates and considerable work on municipal improvements was made there a few years ago. The property has an extensive frontage on Hillside avenue, one of the leading automobile highways through Long Island. Michael J. Degnon, the well-known contractor, has a fine home on the property, as well as numerous New York business men.

Many Fine Residences Sold at Night Auction

INSTEAD of the usual feature of banquet tables surrounded by diners in evening dress, the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, last Wednesday evening, was the scene of a night auction of real estate conducted by Joseph P. Day, but under the auspices of M. Morgenthau, Jr., Co. The attendance and the bidding demonstrated the practicability of night auction sales. It showed that good purchases of real property are sought in leisure as well as business hours.

Properties offered are in the Washington Square section and from the better parts of the upper East and West Sides, and they ranged in value from $13,000 to $65,000 each. Three and four-story dwellings, of various widths and depths, comprised the eighteen parcels disposed of. The total amount realized was $570,750. Many home-seekers bought as well as operators. The sale was an interesting event in this era of New York real estate activity.

The three 3-story dwellings, 169 to 173 West 12th street, each on a lot 21x103.3, brought $23,000 each. C. B. Bretzfeld bought the 4-story and basement brownstone dwelling, 77 East 55th street, on a lot 16.8x75.10, adjoining the northwest corner of Park avenue. The price was $51,000. The 16-foot front 3-story and basement dwelling 1610 Lexington avenue, adjoining the southwest corner of East 102d street, sold for $9,500. A full report of the results of the sale will be found in the regular auction sales column of The Record and Guide.

Both Mr. Day and Mr. Morgenthau were fully satisfied with the results of this innovation in auction dealing.

With a view to determining the physical characteristics of various subgrade soils, thereby obtaining a scientific measure of their bearing value, an investigation is now being carried on by testing engineers within the Bureau of Public Roads. The work includes taking samples of soil at spots in the subgrade of highways where failure has begun, and studying surrounding geological conditions to determine in what manner moisture reaches the subgrade, thus destroying its value.

In this investigation it is hoped that co-operation will be secured from various state highway departments. The Bureau of Soils is co-operating with the Bureau of Public Roads in the investigation.

So far samples of soil have been taken from the Washington-Baltimore Road in Maryland, and are now under observation. Later the work will be extended beyond Baltimore and on other roads in Maryland. Some progress has been made in laboratory testing, a number of samples of subgrade material having been examined already.

Neither Unions Nor Shippers May Interfere With Business

Justice Fawcett's Decision in Case Brought by Lumber Company of Far-Reaching Importance in Protecting Rights of Public

THE decision of Justice Lewis L. Fawcett in the Supreme Court, Second Judicial District, in the injunction proceedings brought by the Burgess Brothers Company, a lumber concern, against organized labor and shipping companies to restrain them from interference with its business, is of such importance the Record and Guide reprints it in full.

In his opinion and decision Justice Fawcett said:

"The moving papers herein show that all of the parties are engaged in a combination having for its object the exclusion of plaintiff's merchandise from transportation by defendant carriers, both where plaintiff is the shipper and where its customers are the shippers. The continuance of this condition makes it impossible for plaintiff to carry on export trade in any form. (If combinations of this character are lawful, then it is impossible for any trucking to be done in New York city and vicinity except on terms that the truckmen's union permits, and it becomes entirely practicable for the truckmen's union to decide what merchandise it will haul, and what merchandise it will not haul.

"The affidavits of the union defendants generally admit the specific acts charged and assert their legality. The affidavit of defendant Joseph Ryan, vice-president of the International Longshoremen's Union and secretary of Local 991, states that the Transportation Trades Council is composed of checkers, clerks, foremen, lighter captains, coal handlers, scalemen and weighers, and it is generally admitted that it includes the truckmen and chauffeurs. This trades council adopted unanimously the following policy:

"'None of the members would handle any non-union goods or any goods transported in any way by firms, corporations or individuals who refused to employ union labor or refuse to enter into a contract to transport their goods under union terms.'

"The affidavit of James T. Hennessey, business agent of Local 874, Commercial Checkers Union, states the policy of the affiliated unions as follows:

"'That no union member should thereafter work with any non-union labor and that they should not handle the products of any non-union labor and should not assist in the transportation of any goods to be forwarded by any firm, individual or corporation which either refused to employ union labor or refused to enter into contract or agreement with the various unions represented by the Trades Council.'

"And it further states that 'as transportation of goods throughout the city was distributed among various trades unions all of whose work was a necessary link in said transportation and as the interests were identical that which hurt one would hurt all and that which helped one would help all.'

"The affidavit of defendant, George Campbell, business agent of Steamship Clerks Union, Local No. 975, makes similar assertions and admits he left lists of the unfair concerns at the piers of the defendant carriers.

"This seems to me to be a combination to gain control over transportation and to blockade the channels of trade against all but union merchandise and against all concerns which do not make union contracts. Such a combination to exclude open shop merchandise from the channels of trade and commerce and from the markets of the nation is a conspiracy against public welfare and deprives the public of their sovereign right of choice to purchase such goods as they want, because by artificial methods it keeps such goods out of the

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Wide Latitude to Dealing North of Fifty-Ninth Street in Apartments and Dwellings While Large Sales Anywhere Were Scarce

WITH the real estate operators and brokers contemplating their Fourth of July holiday, the real estate market this week displayed the best kind of activity: a large number of sales of medium class properties instead of numerous large transactions. This indicates a strong undertone to the market, and the indications are that the volume of dealing will be just as heavy next week. The unusual deals of this week were the sale of some buildings on Broadway running through to Crosby street, the sale of an elevator apartment house in the Upper West Side, the leasing of a Fifth avenue store at the rental rate of $1,500 a front foot—which is equal to the front foot fee value in Pearl street, near Wall street—and the sale of a row of apartment houses in Harlem. The major part of the activity in important buildings was south of Fifty-ninth street. Numerous commercial buildings of small sizes figured in the dealing. The wide scope of the market, however, was north of Fifty-ninth street.

The sale of 550 to 556 Broadway, which follows other sales made in that part of Broadway this year, indicates a revival of interest and of values there. A few years before his death, former Mayor Seth Low sold some loft buildings in the vicinity that he had long owned, because he foresaw a depreciation of values. If there was any pronounced reduction of fee values there the rapid transit route through Broadway south of Fourteenth street and the paucity of loft building construction, together with the gradual shifting of certain trade centers, has dissipated the alarm felt by property owners in Low's time.

A lease of exceptional character was filed during the week. The premises 2503 to 2509 Broadway, comprising a one-story taxpayer, and adjoining a five-story building at the northwest corner of Ninety-third street, was leased by Eugene Higgins, of Paris, France, to Anthony E. Stieger for a term of two hundred years. The lessor has owned the property since 1876, when that part of Broadway was a wilderness. The rest of this block front is owned by William R. Peters, whose holdings are improved. It will be recalled that Mr. Higgins was one of the executors of the will of the late James Gordon Bennett, but he resigned because his duties as such interfered with the care of his private interests.

It is to be observed that there is a good demand for properties in the old woolen and white goods district in Worth street. First developed in 1869, this district was unfavorably affected by the exodus of merchants to the Fourth avenue neighborhood a few years ago. It looks now, however, as though there would be a strong district downtown as well as uptown of this character. Many merchants in the white goods, cotton goods and converting business are making long leases in the Worth street district.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported but not recorded in Manhattan this week was 150, as against 130 last week and 98 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th stree twas 60, as compared with 50 last week and 23 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 90, as compared with 65 last week and 75 a year ago.

From the Bronx 20 sales at private contract were reported, as against 35 last week and 49 a year ago.

Statistical tables, including the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 813.

A New Landlord Decision.

AN interesting decision by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Second Department, in a case involving a particular construction of the new landlord and tenant law, has just been handed down. It pertains to the case of Joseph Shanik, landlord, appellant, against Edward Eckhardt, tenant, respondent, which case was tried in the Municipal Court in Brooklyn. The Greater New York Taxpayers' Association, of which the appellant is a member, retained Abraham J. Halprin to argue the appeal.

The point involved was as to the right of a landlord to maintain a summary proceeding. Various Municipal Court judges have held that in such an action that unless a landlord could establish that the rent he sought to recover was the same as the previous month's rent and not more than 25 per cent. more than the rest of the particular premises as it existed a year before the institution of the proceedings that he could not dispossess the tenant at bar.

In reversing the decision of the lower court and granting a new trial, the Appellate Division held that it is not incumbent on a landlord to show that the rent has not been raised above that of the preceding month and that the rent demanded is not more than 25 per cent. above the rent of the corresponding month of the preceding year; but, that the landlord has only to establish either that the rent has not been increased more than 25 per cent. in a year or that it is not more than that of the preceding month.

This case hinged on Section 136 of the Laws of 1920; and, the higher Court held that the word "or" in this section must not be read to mean "and," that having been the construction placed upon it by the lower Court.

Important New Lease Delayed.

PLANS to convert the Hotel Manhattan, at the northwest corner of 42d street and Madison avenue, into an office and mercantile building, for which purpose it has been leased by the National City Company, a subsidiary of the National City Bank, have been delayed by the Transportation Club, which subleases the thirteenth floor, refusing to surrender the balance of its term, which has several years yet to run. The Bowman interests that run the Manhattan also have an interest in the lease on the property.

It develops that alteration of the hotel into an office and business building cannot be made under the terms of the club's sublease, as that document calls for kitchen facilities to be provided by the hotel management so that the club can run its restaurant properly. This is for the term of the sublease.

In order to overcome this setback the Bowman interests have offered the Transportation Club first class quarters in the Hotel Biltmore, one offer being the Italian Room on the second floor of the Biltmore, but the club rejected it on the ground that the exchange would not be desirable largely on account of being too close to the street. Then part of the eighteenth floor of the Biltmore was offered, and this offer is now under consideration. It is understood that the Transportation Club wanted a premium for leaving the Manhattan. August Hecksher, who owns the Hotel Manhattan property, is a member of the club.

John McE. Bowman, head of the Hotel Manhattan and of the Biltmore, is now in Europe, but counsel is attending to his interests in the premises.

As illustrated, the Atlantic Terra Cotta constitutes two complete 13-story facades on a right-angle corner, with a ground plan of 112 ft. x 70 ft. The material can be readily adapted to a larger or smaller building.

In any such adaptation our drafting department will co-operate with your architect.

The Terra Cotta is Atlantic Terra Cotta, of Atlantic quality and Atlantic service goes with it. It is grey in color, similar to the Terra Cotta used for the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York.

BUILDING SECTION

The Mayor's Committee Has Promises of Money and Land

Mortgage Loans for Building Purposes Offered by Financial Institutions and 1,000 Lots May Be Had for Home Sites

THERE was a lively, if not large, attendance at the meeting of the Mayor's Committee on Housing that was held in the Board of Estimate Chamber of the City Hall last Wednesday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to learn the sentiment of large lending institutions about lending money extensively on mortgages in order to expedite building apartment houses and other types of homes through the greater city.

The Mayor was absent from the meeting, and in his place Walter Stabler, Assistant Comptroller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who is of the Mayor's Committee, presided. He opened the meeting by stating that the Metropolitan had decided to confine its loans to building operations for some time to come, and that it has $50,000,000 ready for that purpose.

Much enthusiasm was aroused when Tenement House Commissioner Mann made a motion that the meeting adopt a resolution to petition Congress and the state Legislature to amend the income tax law of the nation and the state by abolishing the income tax upon real estate mortgages entirely. The resolution was adopted.

The representatives of the various lending institutions present were agreed that the income tax on mortgages is driving mortgage money rapidly from the market and that a crisis in this field is approaching. Clarence H. Kelsey, president of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, argued that lending institutions cannot control the average lender of money on mortgage who sees, as he does now, a more inviting investment field in other kinds of securities that are free from an income tax.

During the meeting Walter Stabler asserted that he had recently visited a dozen large cities in various parts of the country, and that the building and labor situation in them was similar to the situation in New York. He phophesied an improvement in the general condition in the near future and said that he had reports about it from various places.

Much chagrin was manifested when Gerald R. Brown, of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, said that his company would not commit itself to any particular or approximate sum that it would lend out on real property for construction purposes.

Some of the lenders present stated that they are lending on fifty per cent. of the value, and that just now they are waiting to see just how much mortgage money will be available after July 1, an interest period. The Metropolitan has given up investments at larger rates of interest than mortgages produce for the time being.

A representative of the New York Life Insurance Company said that his company is now making mortgage loans and stand ready to make more in New York and elsewhere. The Guardian Life Insurance Company announced through its spokesman that it had loaned on mortgage during the last five and a half months $600,000, and that its loans would total more than $1,000,000 by the end of the year. That would be its limit, as it was all that it could do.

The Prudential Savings Bank of Brooklyn said that it now has ten building loans on new buildings pending and that it gives a preference to new structures. S. W. Strauss & Company, bankers, said that they have loaned between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000 on buildings, mostly new ones, and that this year it will lend mostly on apartment house construction. The Bowery Savings Bank has been lending on mortgage at the rate of $1,000,000 a month during this year, principally on apartment houses and dwellings. The Franklin Savings Bank is putting out money mostly on tenement property. Declaring that his bank loaned up to 45 to 50 per cent. of the value, Jarvis Hicks, president of the Long Island City Savings Bank, also asserted that during the last four years the bank had loaned on mortgage more than $8,000,000 and that before long its total outstanding would be $11,000,000. He said that 1,286 buildings of various kinds in Queens had been finished as a result of this policy, and that 18,000 persons were newly housed as a result.

Present, and committing their institutions to lending mortgage money, were representatives of the Franklin Savings Bank, the Mechanics Bank of Brooklyn, the Central Savings Bank, Lawyers' Title and Trust Company, the Maiden Lane Savings Bank, the Metropolitan Trust Company and the East New York Savings Bank, the latter of which announced that it had already loaned the limit of its resources, about 65 per cent. on real estate mortgages, all it could do.

Activities at the meeting of the sub-committee of the Housing Conference Committee that met in the rooms of the Real Estate Board, last Thursday afternoon, were of a somewhat different character than those that characterized the meeting of the Mayor's committee in the Board of Estimate chamber the day before.

Employers were urged to take membership in a loan association organized by the committee for the purpose of building homes for their employees, with lending institutions pledging about 60 per cent. of the cost of a dwelling and owners of property subordinating the land, valued at 20 per cent., on first mortgage. Employers will be requested to advance the remainder or much of it, so that employees may have homes built for them with their good character and reputation for honesty as security. A meeting will be held in about a week for the purpose of urging employers to join in this proposed movement.

It was also decided at the meeting to petition the Legislature to grant some exemption from taxation on new construction for a given period to be determined; and tax the land alone. Also, it was decided to urge the federal and state government to exempt real estate mortgages from the income tax. Amendments to the rent profiteering laws were also favored.

William E. Harmon, one of the sub-committee, offered 1,000 building lots in the southern suburban area of Brooklyn as sites on which homes could be built, subordinate to first mortgage, so that cash payment for land by new home owners would be obviated.

It was argued by Mr. Harmon and others that if exemption from regular taxation could happen to new construction for some stated period it would tend to offset to a degree the excessive cost of construction at this time. The idea prevailed at the meeting that the peak of high cost of building materials had been reached and that there would soon be a recession. It was suggested that the remission of the local annual tax of 2½ per cent. for a term of five or eight years would result in the saving of from 12½ to 20 per cent. on the construction cost.

market. They will not permit any one but themselves to handle shipments.

"The affidavits of the defendant carriers deny the statements to the effect that lists of unfair lumber dealers were left at the piers, while the union defendants admit that such lists were left there and that one union officer was suspended for failure to distribute this information in one instance. The United Port Service Company was shown to be an agency of Norton Lilly & Co. and the Overseas Shipping Company was an agency employed by the United States Steel Products Company. These terminal agencies and facilities are expressly dealt with by the United States shipping act just as if they were common carriers. The representatives of those companies who declined to furnish service are clearly violating the law and their employees who strike or threaten to strike to compel them to violate the law are clearly engaged in an illegal combination.

"The affidavit of Thomas P. Alder for the United States Steel Products Company says: 'I am informed and believe that if the Overseas Shipping Company should attempt to enforce any orders or regulations upon the checkers or stevedores employed by it contrary to instructions of the unions to which those men belong, such action would precipitate a strike and would prevent the operation of the stevedores of the United States Steel Products Company to its great loss and to the detriment of the best interests of th general public.'

"It appears the carriers knew of the rule laid down by the employees and so far as the papers go have acquiesced in them without any protest. Common carriers owe affirmative duty to perform impartial service, and it is unlawful to subject plaintiff to undue prejudice. Their duties call upon them as common carriers to serve the plaintiff and not discriminate against it. If the carriers and their terminal agencies, instead of joining with the unions in this combination by submitting to this discrimination for fear of a strike, had stood squarely for the performance of their public duties, it is doubtful if the plaintiff would now be in court.

"The carriers appeared to have aided, abetted and encouraged the unions by seeking to evade their duties to handle the plaintiff's goods without discrimination.

"It appears in this case the defendants are all engaged in a combination and a conspiracy to commit a tort against the plaintiff. Just as the carriers are bound to serve the public indiscriminately, so are their employees—and rightly so, for if the inhibition against discrimination did not apply equally to the employees as well as against the carriers themselves, the protection afforded the public would be negligible.

"It does not follow, however, that the relief sought by the plaintiff would impose involuntary servitude upon members of the defendant unions. No employee is forbidden to quit work by the injunction, or to accept better employment if the may find it or to change his position as often as he sees fit. Every citizen is entitled to the same opportunity to procure a living that is accorded any other. Equal protection is afforded every one under our laws. The law cannot force any man to remain in the service of the public, but he has certain obligations when engaged in public service and is bound by public statutes as well as his employer.

"While it is indisputable that a man may enter any vocation that he chooses, yet if he sees fit to select a field indissolubly linked with the rights of the public, such as that of a common carrier, he must subserve his own rights to that of the public welfare, and must at all times stand ready and willing to assume all of the exacting duties which he knows are owed the public. When he enters the public service he impliedly acquiesces in assuming all of these obligations. He must either get out of the transportation business or serve all alike.

"Employees of steamships and those employed in and about the docks and all others associated in or connected with and necessary to the conduct of business of common carriers, should perform their usual service regardless of whether the merchandise is worked upon or handled, received or delivered by union or non-union men, and such service should be impartial and uninterrupted.

"The plaintiff is not asking anything unjust or unfair in insisting upon the free use of the transportation lines. It does not lie with union leaders to lay down the proposition that the last word in deciding what merchandise shall or shall not be transported, should vest exclusively in them.

"This is a case where the court may properly say to the members of these defendant unions, 'You are not constrained to remain in the employ of the common carriers, but if you choose so to do, your duty is to serve all members of the public alike and you must handle the lumber of this plaintiff as well as that of any other members of the community.' (In re Lennon, supra.)

"It appears herein that the carriers, whatever be their motive, have united with the unions in an unlawful scheme, contrary to positive statutory provisions, to bar the plaintiff's goods from transportation. The nature of the inducements offered by the unions in order to prevail upon the carriers to join the unlawful party, is immaterial. Economic pressure, like threats of injury to business, has induced many competitors to join the unlawful combination which threatens injury to their business, but such circumstances do not relieve the yielding party from responsibility for his acts.

"The acts complained of, if they were committed, present a combination of unions and common carriers engaged in an unlawful conspiracy and illegal discrimination against the plaintiff under the authorities to which reference is hereinbefore made. The plaintiff is entitled to relief even though there is some doubt as to the outcome off this action. The subject matter of the litigation should be preserved pendente lite.

"The papers sufficiently establish, for the purpose of the present application and until the rights of the parties and the issue herein can be determined on a trial, the existence of an unlawful conspiracy on the part of the defendants and therefore the preliminary injunction as prayed for herein is granted."

Material Shortage Results in Fewer Contracts Placed

Figures of F. W. Dodge Company Show Decided Drop in Actual Building Commitments During the Past Few Weeks

REACTING to the recent trend of building activity in the metropolitan district, architects and engineers have slowed down considerably in their preparation of plans for new structural projects. The chief influence responsible for this is the continued scarcity of materials, difficulty of obtaining mortgage money and various labor disturbances in different parts of the local territory. Although the drop in the number of new projects being planned is considered but a temporary matter that will change with a readjustment of the local building material supply situation, it is feared in some quarters that large projects will be forced to remain in abeyance for a long time to come and that practically all of the new construction to be undertaken during the remainder of the current year will be relatively small projects and such other work as cannot possibly be postponed further.

According to the figures of the F. W. Dodge Company for the week of June 5 to 11, inclusive, showing the construction proposed and contracted for in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, architects and engineers were at work on plans for 487 building and engineering projects that will require an outlay of approximately $13,245,200 during the week and at the same time contracts were awarded for 211 operations that will call for an expenditure of $8,021,800.

Among the 487 projects being planned during the week of June 5 to 11 were 104 business and commercial projects of various types, $2,663,500; 8 educational buildings, $345,500; 5 hospitals and institutions, $161,000; 40 factory and industrial operations, $2,643,200; 5 military and naval projects, $40,000; 7 public buildings, $78,000; 56 public works and public utilities, $1,784,300; 8 religious and memorial buildings, $163,000; 237 residential projects, including apartments, flats and tenements and one and two family dwellings, $4,321,700, and 17 social and recreational projects, $1,045,000.

The group of 211 projects for which contracts were placed during the week involved 44 business buildings, $1,306,000; 6 educational projects, $1,423,700; 1 hospital, $5,000; 22 factory and industrial buildings, $2,005,500; 1 project for the United States Army, $38,200; 1 public building, $7,500; 27 public works and public utilities, $1,352,100; 2 religious and memorial buildings, $85,000; 106 residential operations of various types, $1,791,300, and 1 social and recreational project, $7,500.

Universal Lumber Grading Rules.

An intensive campaign for the adoption of uniformity in grading lumber and in the stock sizes as a means of bringing about more efficient distribution is the aim of the newly organized American Wholesale Lumber Association. Any movement for standardization comes from the consumers, and L. R. Putnam, directing manager, states that the American Railway Engineering Association, the Western Society of Engineers and the American Institute of Architects have already made urgent requests for standardization. The new organization of wholesalers is working in co-operation with the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association. Committees will soon be named.

Savings and Loan Associations.

Savings and loan associations in this State, according to the annual report of the secretary, Archibald McEwen, grew more than $11,000,000 last year, and for the first time in their history have reached the hundred million mark. Nine associations of the city have assets of more than $1,000,000. Included are the Franklin Society, with assets of $3,700,000; the Railroad Association, $3,150,000; the South Brooklyn, $1,625,000, and Atlantic, $1,595,000. The New York and Suburban of Manhattan and Westerleigh of Richmond crossed the million line in 1919. Among the boroughs of the city, Richmond, population considered, gained most in assets.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

LITTLE change in the local building situation was noted this week, and although there has been some improvement in the movement of freight and the railroads seem to be making a real effort to move building commodities promptly, the supply was so far behind and the local scarcity so acute that it will undoubtedly require some weeks before conditions again get back to normal. There is no doubt of the volume of proposed construction, but architects and owners are hesitating about starting planned operations while the material shortage exists.

Another factor that has prevented considerable building in this territory is the extreme difficulty encountered in obtaining mortgage money. This applies with particular force to housing construction, for which the demand is heaviest. Commercial and industrial enterprises are not experiencing this financial difficulty so keenly as in the majority of instances the structures planned are urgently needed for business expansion and the funds are secured from private sources or are already in the hands of the owners.

The building material market showed renewed signs of life this week, but it is a long way from normal. The outlook, however, is better than it has been, owing to the increased movement of building materials, and dealers are hoping for the best. Prices are very firm in all lines.

Common Brick.—The wholesale market for Hudson River common brick evidenced new signs of life this week and dealers are considerably more hopeful than they have been. Nineteen barge loads were disposed of during the week and the increasing number of inquiries indicate a renewed demand for this commodity. The change in conditions is largely due to the increasing supply of Portland cement and the real efforts on the part of the railroads to move building materials with despatch. Common brick prices are firm at the $25 a thousand level and dealers anticipate no change for the present. The manufacturing season along the river is progressing without notable events other than the continued shortage of labor that is preventing the yards from producing at a high rate, but still the manufacturers are of the opinion that the production of the current season will be ample to provide for all building demands.

Summary.—Transactions in the North River common brick market for the week ending Friday, June 18, 1920. Condition of market: Demand improved; prices firm and unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $25 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 11; sales, 19. Distribution: Manhattan, 8; Brooklyn, 6; New Jersey points, 5. Remaining unsold, 21.

Lumber.—Business in both wholesale and retail departments of the local lumber market has dropped off to some extent during the past few weeks. The condition is largely due to the railroad congestion, embargoes on shipments from mill points and a decided slacking off in building activity in the metropolitan district. Owing to the serious freight situation dealers are unable to get stock and unless immediate relief is afforded it will not be long before many of the retailers are entirely out of certain items. Lumber prices have eased to some extent and dealers are willing to make concessions in order to move material, but the demand from building sources is light and will not greatly improve until the shortage of cement, lime and other items is relieved. Owing to the local market conditions the production end of the lumber business shows considerable promise. Orders dropping to a new low level, combined with an output said to be nearly 60 per cent. of normal has permitted the manufacturers to clean up a vast amount of business that has been on their books for many months, and before long it is felt that the production will be abreast of the demand.

Structural Steel.—The local demand for fabricated material for building projects is light and no change will take place until there has been a decided improvement in the general building situation throughout this territory. There is a vast amount of construction planned and in a number of instances practically ready for a start, but no progress will be made while there is doubt about the constancy of the building material supply or while money for building is as difficult to obtain as it is at present. The monthly report of the secretary of the Bridge Builders and Structural Society shows that during the month of May, 1920, sixty-one and one-half per cent. of the entire capacity of the bridge and structural shops of the country was contracted for.

Roofing and Building Papers.—A fair demand for these materials maintains and inquiries denote a considerable volume of new business that will be released just as soon as building activity is again resumed on the scale that marked the early part of the present season. Dealers are complaining of low stocks and much difficulty in replenishing them on account of the serious freight situation. Prices are firm and have not changed during the past week.

Nails.—During the past week several carloads of nails were received by local jobbers, and this has to some extent relieved the famine that has now existed for a long time, but the demand is still far in excess of the supply and there is likely to be a scarcity for many weeks to come. The mills are loaded with orders, some of which have been on the books for a long time, and with the slow progress being made in untangling the freight congestion the prospects for better supply are not promising. Nail prices are very firm and altogether dependent upon the stocks on hand.

Cast Iron Pipe.—Business in this line has increased materially during the past two weeks and some important lettings have been announced. There is any amount of business in prospect, according to the number of inquiries being received, and this fact has held prices remarkably steady. There is no indication of a break at this time.

Linseed Oil.—The market is decidedly dull, with demand light and inquiries few and far between. The recession of construction, due to the lack of essential materials and supplies, is partly responsible and no change is anticipated until there has been a general improvement in the local building situation. Prices are steady and slightly higher than they were last week.

Window Glass.—There has been practically no change in the glass situation. Supply is low and manufacturers are loaded with orders, but there is little prospect of increasing either the output or the stocks of the local jobbers.

Portland Cement.—Considerable improvement in the supply of this important material was noted this week and building interests were considerably heartened. The dearth of Portland had held up a vast amount of construction during the past two or three weeks that will now be able to proceed. Manufacturers have announced an advance of 30 cents a barrel for this material and gives as a reason the steadily mounting operating costs, especially for fuel.

No Question About It

During the first four months of 1920, twenty-three big buildings closed down their private generating plants in favor of Edison Service

During the same period forty-seven new buildings contracted for Edison Service

These seventy buildings have an electrical installation equivalent to 284,955 fifty-watt lamps

When old buildings are giving up the private plant idea, and new buildings are deciding against it at the very outset, there can be no question about the superiority of Central Station Service

Honest Rating

It is quite possible for a 2-ton truck to carry a 4-ton load. But it is still only a 2-ton truck. The extra load is a strain. It is equally possible to develop a higher rating on a boiler than the natural capacity. But this does not change the real rating of the boiler.

Boilers are purchased according to the rating. You cannot distinguish a rating by looking at the boiler. You have to take the manufacturer's word for it.

RICHARDSON & BOYNTON CO.'S Boilers are honestly rated to deliver continuous warmth with the least effort and fuel. Under pressure, this rating can be greatly enlarged. But that is not the way you want to run a heating plant.

Write us for heating manuals which show you how to avoid mistakes in installing an adequate heating plant.

Artificial Stone is growing in popularity

Unlike other Building Units, Artificial Stone is a NON-CONDUCTOR of DAMPNESS, COLD and HEAT. It reduces building costs and expedites construction. A wide variety of facing effects produced with crushed granite, marble, brownstone, Indiana limestone, carborundum, etc., makes it a sightly stone for every type of structure and its durability insures the lowest possible maintenance cost.
We court investigation of the most searching kind, and are always pleased to go over the subject in greater detail with anyone interested in building for permanence, beauty and economy.

Accurate

or are you losing money by not having your meters properly read, tested and calibrated in your apartment houses and loft buildings?

We maintain a special department for reading, testing and inspection of electric watt-hour meters, on a yearly contract basis, and keep their accuracy to a high standard at all times.

No expense in money or engineering skill has been spared to make these Laboratories the best of their kind.

We are a long established, absolutely independent organization.

Neglect of the Port

Announcement by the Cunard Steamship Company that it proposes to spend $40,000,000 for a dock terminal in Hoboken provided it acquires certain riparian rights, again calls attention to the neglect of the Manhattan side of the port by the city authorities. Building up-to-date wharves on the Jersey side of the river with private capital will not injure New York, but neither will it be of as great service to the city as if proper accommodations were provided along the Manhattan shore by the municipality. Whatever helps Jersey will help New York, but it will be Jersey that will reap the greater return.

The Port of New York is undivisable. It is an entity that cannot be separated into ports called New Jersey, New York or Staten Island—into North River or East River. This makes it all the more necessary that its development should be conducted on a comprehensive plan, a fact that is unnecessary to restate except for emphasis.

Some day the city administration may find it a somewhat difficult task to explain why so much time and energy has been expended in muddling up passenger traffic on the city's very efficient surface and underground lines while neglecting the opportunity to provide proper facilities for handling the deep sea and coastwise freight and passenger business of the port, which is of such great importance to every inhabitant of Greater New York.

Continuing an Old Scandal

The State Board of Equalization, as was brought out in the 1920 Equalization Table which appeared in the Record and Guide last week, has established 85.9361 + as the state equalization rate for the current year. This means that the state authorities have found the average rate of real estate assessments to be about 14 per cent. below actual value, taking the state as a whole.

The new equalization table shows that, as in former years, real estate in New York City is assessed at a higher rate than in other part of the state. New York County is credited with assessments of 95 per cent. of full value, Kings with 94 per cent., Bronx with 93 per cent. and Queens and Richmond with 89 per cent. each. The only other counties in the state approaching these percentages are Niagara, credited with 91 per cent., and Erie, credited with 90 per cent. Monroe remains at last year's rate of 82 per cent. and Albany 89 per cent. Onondaga, given last year at 80 per cent., is figured this year at 78.

Various of the up-state rural counties seem to have done a little better this year than formerly in their assessments. Allegany, for instance, is credited with raising its assessments from 68 to 71 per cent., Cattaraugus from 63 to 64 per cent., Delaware from 50 to 57 per cent., Orange from 53 to 62 per cent., and Clinton from 37 to 47 per cent. Sullivan retains the inglorious distinction of having the lowest assessments of any county in the state, it being credited again this year with assessing at only 22 per cent. of actual value.

Justice to all realty owners demands that assessments be made at full and fair value throughout the state. Perhaps this ideal condition will not be realized until the millennium, but its approach would be hastened if a few of the up-state assessors were to be prosecuted for violating their oaths of office in making improperly low assessments. If for political or other reasons many up-state assessors are unwilling to place valuations on a proper basis, they should resign their jobs or be put out of the important positions through which they do such injustice to the honest taxpayers of the state. The work of some of these up-state assessors continues to be a public scandal, as is shown by the latest state equalization table.

Trade Balance

With exports in the last eleven months exceeding those of the corresponding period in 1918-19 by $1,170,000,000, and with the exports for May showing an increase over the previous month of $55,000,000 and of $135,000,000 over May, 1919, there should be little perturbation over the general business conditions of the country. These figures show that the foreign trade is growing quite as rapidly as it can be taken care of. It is waxing greater and greater as the world slowly settles back to normal. It is becoming more and more a determining factor in commercial circles as merchants acquire knowledge of the necessarily peculiar requirements of this class of business and as quickly as it can be successfully financed. Already we are trading with our neighbors to an extent that equals about one-seventh the internal trade of the country.

The foreign trade of a nation acts as a balance wheel for its internal business. The two are conducted along somewhat different lines and affected by dissimilar conditions, either favorably or adversely. Not always is foreign business dull when internal trade is slack. There is also the very essential fact that much of the foreign trade is of the character known as seasonable, so that when business is at low ebb here because of the period of the year, it may be at its height in a foreign country, thereby making it possible to transact business throughout the twelve months and lower overhead charges appreciably.

These facts are well known to the initiated. It is important, in trying to size up the future, that they be taken into consideration by those whose activities are entirely local but who would be affected by any general commercial depression. With our foreign trade aggregating 15 per cent. of our home business, and not only increasing in value rapidly but becoming more varied and extending more widely throughout the world, there is less occasion to look for "bad times" ahead in general business circles.

Imports were $1,883,000,000 more in the last eleven months than a year ago. We bought more abroad because we had the money with which to purchase luxuries of all sorts. We are exporting necessities and there is no reason to believe these commercial movements will be curtailed in a considerable time. The balance of trade continues in our favor and is so big as to be beyond the mental grasp of most people. It now amounts to $17,000,000,000 against the whole world outside our boundaries, and has been built up since 1914. This huge figure is several billions in excess of the total balance in favor of the United States for forty years previous to the war. With such a balance in its favor there need not be much fear of panic in the commercial world for some time to come.

Another Lease for 200 Years Made by Eugene Higgins

THE exclusive announcement in the Record and Guide of last week that Eugene Higgins, of Paris, France, had leased for a term of 200 years his property at 2503 to 2509 Broadway, near 93d street, aroused much interest in investment circles. Anthony E. Stilges, the lessee, is president of the Chelsea Exchange Bank. The lease is his personal investment. The lease is really for two 10-year terms, at a graduated rental ranging from $8,500 to $10,000 a year; and calls for nine 20-year renewals at rentals based on a reappraisal of the land at the end of each renewal.

It is estimated that if values along that part of Broadway continue to enhance then the rental for the entire term of 200 years will amount to considerably more than $2,000,000, which would be the minimum rental if no increments take place, which latter circumstance is unlikely.

Mr. Higgins has negotiated several leases of a similar character during recent years. He controls numerous large properties on the middle west side, some of which have been leased for terms as long a 999 years. He never sells his realty.

Last April Mr. Higgins leased to Thomas Healy for 200 years, at a rental aggregating $6,000,000, the vacant plot, 40x125, at the northeast corner of Broadway and 94th street, and the adjoining plot, 100 by 120, extending through to 95th street, and including the corner of West End avenue. This plot adjoins the old Astor Market property, which Mr. Healy bought four years ago, and is to be improved with a four-story business building on Broadway, and a 16-story hotel on West End avenue.

A few years ago a similar lease was made with Harry Schiff, covering a plot on the east side of Broadway, north of 94th street where the lessee has since erected an addition to the Hotel Apthorp.

Woolworth Heirs Borrow Money to Pay Inheritance Tax

THE tremendous effect of the state inheritance tax upon real property values was saliently illustrated this week when the Prudential Insurance Company, of Newark, N. J., loaned, through William A. White & Sons, to the estate of the late Frank W. Woolworth the sum of $3,000,000 in the form of a mortgage for that amount on the 60-story building at Broadway, Barclay street and Park place. The loan was made as part of an $8,000,000 state and federal inheritance tax to be paid by the Woolworth estate, the estate not having sufficient liquid assets on hand to meet the obligation. It will pay 6 per cent. interest on the Prudential loan; in other words, after the estate has paid these millions to the government it will continue to pay interest annually until the loan is liquidated, which in effect is a burden as well as a double tax. Then there is a tax on the mortgage.

At the time the site of the Woolworth building was assembled for the building of the world's highest office structure, the story gained wide credence that the erection of the building was a stock company proposition and that subscriptions to the stock were being made in various European as well as American cities. Just about the time that this report was circulated Mr. Woolworth returned from a trip to Europe and denied that there would be any money invested in the Woolworth building except his own, and the property was until the day of his death one of his pet hobbies. It covers almost an acre of ground and is assessed by the city for $9,500,000. It is understood that its total cost, including the land, was $14,000,000.

How the Twin Park-Madison Skyscrapers Are Financed

SOME details of financing the twin thirty-one story Park-Madison skyscrapers to be erected by the Weaver-Crawford Syndicate on the unused Grand Central Terminal property and to be owned co-operatively by tenants was announced. There will be no mortgage on the structures. The syndicate states that the sale of $18,900,000 capital stock of the 383 Madison Avenue Corporation will provide for the entire cost of the building, including architects' and builders' fees, carrying charges until completion, insurance, rent, taxes

As contractor the Weaver-Crawford Corporation will deliver to the 383 Madison Avenue Corporation as owner a lease of the site for three periods of twenty-one years, each subject to the right of the railroad company to purchase the building at fair market appraisal at the end of the second period. The ground rent after the completion of the building will be $325,000 a year.

Associated with Douglas L. Elliman & Co., the managing brokers, are the following real estate firms, authorized to sell stock under the co-operative ownership agreement and to rent space in the building: Albert B. Ashforth, Inc.; Daniel Birdsall & Co., Brett & Goode Company, Cross & Brown Company, William Cruikshank's Sons, Cruikshank Company, Joseph P. Day, Frederick Fox & Co., Inc.; Harris, Vought & Co., Charles F. Noyes Company, Pease & Elliman, Alfred E. Schermerhorn, Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., & Co., Inc., M. & L. Hess, Inc., and Frank D. Veiller and J. L. Robertson.

Way Discovered to Increase Adherence by Cement to Gypsum

Researches have recently been carried on by the U. S. Bureau of Standards, looking into the subject of the adherence of cement plaster to gypsum.

"There seems to be no detrimental reaction between the two materials; the tensile strength of the mixture of gypsum and cement is very nearly equal to their combined tensile strengths dependent upon the proportions of ingredients.

"The suction of the surface to which the plaster is applied is an extremely important factor; for example, if gypsum plaster is applied to a dry concrete surface, the suction of the concrete will take so much water out of the gypsum that it will prevent its proper hardening.

"The expansion of neat cement when wet is of an entirely different order from the expansion of neat gypsum, and a bond between the two materials can be permanently maintained only when enough sand is added to both materials to reduce the same for both."

Experiments to determine the effect upon the strength and permeability of concrete due to curing at different periods of time in solution of magnesium fluosilicate and sodium silicate indicate that rich concrete mixtures may be improved in strength by curing periods in magnesium fluosilicate.

Burke Relief Foundation Sale Aggregates $502,000

Total of 1,386 Lots in the East Bronx Sold at Auction Largely to Small Investors after Spirited Bidding

JOSEPH P. DAY and J. Clarence Davies held a most successful auction sale in the Hotel Astor on Tuesday afternoon, Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon, at which time 1,386 lots in the East Bronx belonging to the Burke Relief Foundation were sold for a total of $502,000. The average price per lot was $362.

It took the auctioneer just sixteen hours to dispose of the property, which is at the rate of about 87 lots an hour.

At Wednsday's session, which began shortly after noon and ended at 5.30 o'clock, 381 parcels were sold for $162,725. On Tuesday 1,005 lots brought $339,275 in a spirited session which laster eleven hours.

The first lot knocked down was at the southwest corner of Colden and Duncan avenues, which went to John Liferts for $725. The same buyer also took the three adjoining lots on Duncan avenue for $450 each.

The high price of the day was realized for the triangular plot, 182 by 184 by 135 at the junction of Boston Road, Gunhill Road and Yates avenue, which went to Brown, Wheelock & Co. for a client for $9,900. The triangular plot at the northeast corner of Boston road and Gunhill road sold for $2,000. The big plot at the northwest corner of Boston road and Laconia avenue sold for $4,350. Inside lots on Boston road between Gunhill road and East 211th street ranged in price from $250 to $350 each, considered decidedly low.

At the evening sale the northeast corner of Burke and Paulding avenues brought $775 and the northwest corner of Burke avenue and Hone avenue brought a similar figure. The triangular plot at the junction of Burke avenue, Boston road and Lurting avenue sold for $1,900. Lurting avenue lots, between Burke avenue and Duncan street, brought from $300 to $350, and on Lavonia between Burke avenue and Duncan street, for $550.

Among the other buyers were J. Cobin, J. C. Flynn, Harry Harris, Peter Florio, Catherine C. Murray, Rose Ferrara, Alice Garrison, John L. Sullivan, S. H. Tyson, John Liberto, Peter Quinlan, James A. Thomas, W. Stager, John Vogler, Eugene A. McNutly, Benjamin Kaplan, Mary Bivens, A. A. A. Gleason, Jr., Harry M. Golden, Carl A. Geib, Mary H. Byrne, Mrs. J. A. Bell, Andreas Caputto, Miller & Wohman, Aron Richards, Rosse & Drusin, Mrs. Roy Dailey, Nathan A. Sherman, Walter A. Scholl, S. S. Spiro and Theodore J. Joffe.

The same class of purchaser, the small investor, appeared in greater numbers on the second sales day and paid even higher prices than prevailed on Tuesday. The very first lot offered, at the southeast corner of Gunhill Road and Paulding avenue, attracted sixteen bids before it was knocked down for $900. The three lots adjoining on Gunhill Road went for $650 apiece. Two lots adjoining, at the southwest corner of Gunhill Road and Hone avenue, were sold in one parcel for $1,950. The lot at the opposite southeast corner of Gunhill Road and Hone avenue brought $1,275. One buyer took the seven adjoining Guhill Road lots, extending to and including the southwest corner of Lurting avenue, at $825 each. The lot at the southwest corner of Gunhill Road and Hering avenue was sold for $1,250.

Two lots and a small building, on a plot with a frontage of 50 feet on Boston Road, near Burke avenue, were knocked down for $3,850 in one of the liveliest bidding tilts during the sale.

The southwest corner of Burke avenue and Boston Road was sold for $1,650. The plot at the northwest corner of Gunhill Road and Boston Road brought $1,350 and the northwest corner of Yates avenue and Boston Road was knocked down for $825.

Among the buyers were Dr. Frank Cantino, Pasquale Palumbo, John T. McNichol, Hugh Flatler, John J. Cronin, Emily Stone, Albert Eisler, Henry J. Franklin, Alexander King, George Kline, Max Steuber, Max Herman and Moses Wilstein.

The rapid fire bidding which characterized the entire sale attested the prevailing interest in New York real estate. Auction room observers declared that one of the most important contributing factors to the success of the sale was the generous financial terms offered by the trustees of the Foundation, which enabled people of small means to make their selection of sites at their own prices and leave 80 per cent. of the amount on mortgage for three or five years. The fact that the property enjoys subway and surface transit facilities also influenced the purchasing, which registered general satisfaction on the part of both buyers and sellers. Frank A. Sturgis, president of the Foundation, expressed himself as gratified at the result of the sale and declared that it indicated the opening of a new field for the small investor.

Proceeds of the sale will be used by the Foundation to carry on its charitable enterprises, among which is the maintenance of a home for convalescents in Westchester County.

Mayor's Committee Asks Labor to Aid Housing

THE builders' sub-committee of the Mayor's Housing Conference Committee met at Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann's office Thursday and discussed the relation of labor and material costs to the housing shortage. It had been announced that Robert P. Brindell, head of the Building Trades Council, representing the building trades workers, had been asked to be present, but he did not appear.

It was the opinion of the builders that the erection of houses would be accelerated if labor would co-operate with "a fair day's work for a fair day's pay," if building material prices were stabilized at reasonable figures, and if money-lending institutions advanced loans for housing construction purposes based on the present cost of construction.

Commissioner Mann said that Thomas J. Burke and Henry Huebner, officials of Local 314 of the Building Plasterers' Union, had promised to call a meeting to place before the members the question of abrogating the scale limiting work. It was said that Local 314 was the only plasterers' union thus limiting the labor output.

French Lumber Use

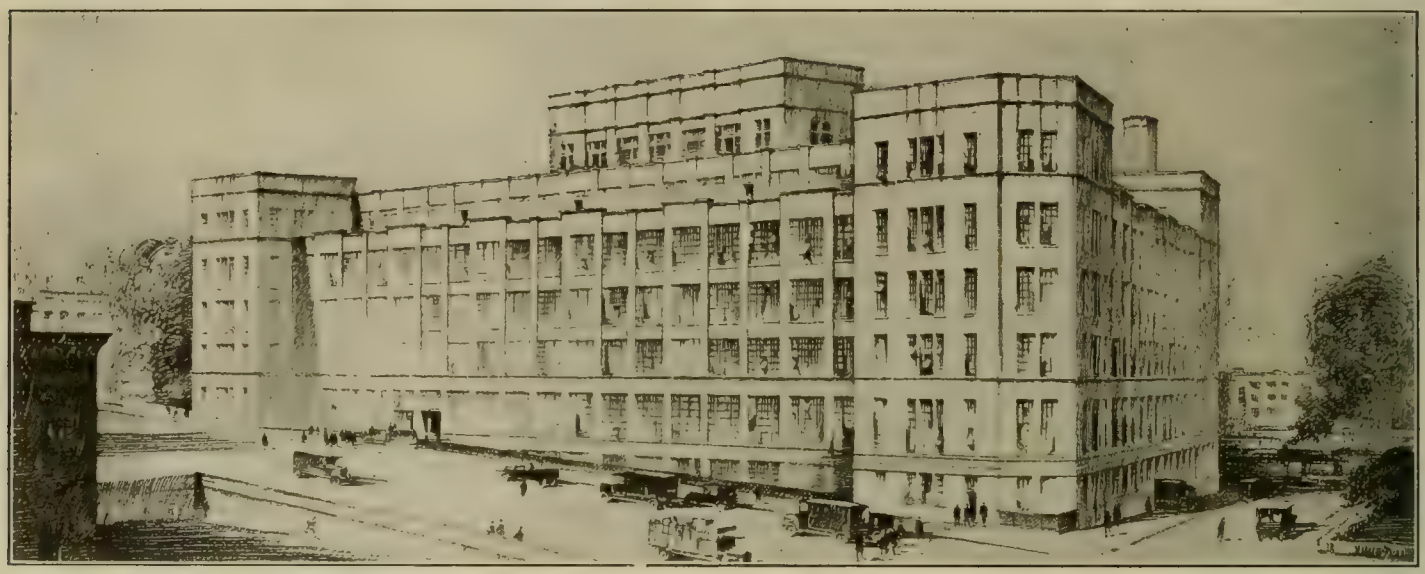
Notwithstanding the intensive care France gives to her forests, she is compelled to import from 30 to 40 per cent. of the lumber she requires. Most French farmers get along with the identical buildings of their great grandfathers. The annual per capita consumption in France is not more than 100 board-feet per capita or less than one-third used by Americans.

Printing Plant for Metropolitan Life Insurance Company

Million-Dollar Structure Being Erected in Long Island City by Turner Construction Company from Plans by D. Everett Waid

WORK on the concrete pile foundations is now under way for a large reinforced concrete building being constructed near the Queensborough Bridge in Long Island City. This structure, which will be seven stories in height, including the basement, is planned to house the printing plant of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. The building is being erected under a general contract by the Turner Construction Co., from plans by D. Everett Waid, architect, and will cost more than $1,000,000, exclusive of the value of the land.

The building is peculiar in that it covers a triangular plot, fronting 531 feet on Thomson avenue, 394 feet in Court street, opposite the Court House, and 382 feet on the Long Island Railroad right-of-way. A private spur track extends into the building reaching an interior shipping platform approximately 300 feet long. On the Court street side of this building are shipping and receiving platforms for motor trucks, each tenant having a private platform and receiving room and also storage space for trucks. The railroad and motor truck platforms connect and are accessible to five large freight elevators and the private shipping and storage rooms.



According to the present plan the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. will occupy about one-half of the structure for the accommodation of its printery and bindery and the remainder has already been leased to three tenants, large printing and engraving firms, each of which will occupy one entire floor or more. Each story in this building will have a floor area of 65,000 square feet and will have ceiling heights of 14 feet in the clear. The large windows of steel are to be glazed with wire glass. The building will be equipped with an up-to-date standpipe and sprinkler system and fire alarms, watchman, time clock and interior telephone systems. Protection from the fire hazard is most complete. A clear unobstructed floor space of 50,000 square feet in a single room is of great advantage in a printing plant, and yet it is made as safe as if divided by fire partitions, by means of concrete fire curtains which hang three feet down from the ceiling. These fire curtains separate the ceilings into sections confining heat and smoke to the area where a fire originates and enables the sprinklers of that particular area to operate quickly and control a possible outbreak of fire.

The temperature of the building will be maintained automatically as uniformly as desired by means of thermostatic control of radiator valves. There will be ample toilet and rest room conveniences for employes and exit facilities will exceed legal requirements. Elevators and stairs are so distributed as to minimize horizontal travel and the principal stairs are of the duplex type, that is, two independent stairs in one shaft, smoke proof and fire proof and with access doors well separated. Floor construction is calculated to allow 250 lbs. live load per square foot throughout the building.

The structure will rest on concrete piles about 30 feet long. The basement is especially waterproofed around the walls and under its entire area in order to provide dry storage for printers' stock.

The Metropolitan is said to be the largest life insurance company in the world. Regarded merely as a great business organization, it is remarkable. Since it has 22,000,000 policies in force (one for every eighth man, woman and child in the U. S. and Canada), its printing plant must produce an enormous amount of material. It consumed last year about 4,000,000 lbs. of paper and 14,500 lbs. of ink. There was turned out 250,000,000 forms, circulars, booklets, etc., aside from a periodical for its policy holders. This periodical alone requires for just one issue a web of paper 2,134 miles long weighing 300,000 lbs. The printing plant is being increased so rapidly that it will undoubtedly occupy within a few years the entire space in the new printing building.

The home office building of the same company, occupying the entire block on 23rd street between 4th and Madison avenues, has been outgrown and a new sixteen-story office building is now under construction at 24th street and Madison avenue to provide additional clerical space.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Co-operative Buying of Apartment Houses Reached High Water Mark and the General Trend of the Market Is Good

MOST distinctive among the movements of the real estate market this week were the numerous sales of high-class apartment houses to co-operative buyers. Washington Heights, especially, loomed strong in this regard. The news columns will indicate the particular properties that were disposed of. Some months ago specialists in this line of selling predicted that the co-operative movement would gain impetus, and the selling this week would seem to bear out their statements.

One daily paper, last Sunday, asserted that the commercial supremacy of New York threatens the utter elimination of home life in the lower sections of Manhattan. To a degree this is true, but, on the other hand, we point to the fact that a renaissance of private housing conditions is now taking place in Greenwich Village, on the lower West Side; that the private house sections of Yorkville, west of Third avenue, are being restored, and that there is a tendency for old dwellings elsewhere whose tone had been lowered, to "come back" and hold their own again. The excessive high rentals of apartments has something to do with the movement. It is true that the central part of the city north to Central Park is being fast captured by trade. But there are spots away from this zone that are intact for residential purposes. The sale of hundreds of private houses during the last two months, for occupancy by the buyers, show how far reaching the private house movement is. Only this week eleven private dwellings in one block in Greenwich Village were sold for occupancy.

Notable among the large transactions of the week were the sale of two 12-story apartment houses, a group of mercantile buildings on Broadway near Spring street, a large loft building on Great Jones street, numerous corner apartment houses in the upper reaches of the city, a Times Square corner building to the lessee, and the sale by Trinity Church Corporation of some of its original real estate holdings that were part of a royal grant to the Church by King George. Several moving picture theatres were also sold, and the investment values of substantial buildings of this character is enhancing yearly.

The dealing in medium-sized mercantile buildings downtown was not so marked this week as last. Sales, generally, were not so numerous as during the week before, but there is still good bottom to the real estate market and it is likely that the coming week will prove it in the form of some interesting sales in various parts of the city.

Of marked real estate interest was the subleasing, for the balance of the term, of the store in 13 West Forty-second street. When the lessees removed there thirty-six years ago they were the first business firm to locate on the block and their rental then was $1,500 a year, while today stores adjacent to it are renting under present valuations at the rate of $1,500 a front foot a year.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week was 110, as against 150 last week and 83 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th street was 40, as compared with 60 last week and 27 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th street was 70, as compared with 90 last week and 56 a year ago.

From the Bronx 20 sales at private contract were reported, as against 20 last week and 50 a year ago.

Statistical tables, indicating the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 846.

Have You Ordered the Annual Number for 1919 of Record and Guide Quarterly?

THE Annual Number of the RECORD & GUIDE QUARTERLY contains in this, the final issue of the year, all the data contained in the preceding three plus those of the fourth period, making in one compact volume, a complete transcription of all Conveyances, Miscellaneous Conveyances, such as Release of Mortgages and Dowers, Contracts, Agreements, Consents, Assignments of Rents, Power of Attorneys, Designation, Resignation and Appointment of New Trustees and Executors, etc., Mortgages, Extension of Mortgages, Participation and Subordination, Agreements of Mortgages, Assignments of Mortgages, Satisfied Mortgages, Leases, including consents, assignments, cancellations and surrender of leases; Real Estate Appraisals, Auction Sales, Wills, New Buildings and Alterations with cross references for the entire year, Borough of Manhattan. These records are arranged geographically, chronologically and alphabetically, so that the subscriber may, at a moment's notice, find the desired information. In order to make these records more complete the attorney's name is inserted in all Mortgages and a geographical cross reference to the Real Estate Appraisals is given. This permits the user in searching for the appraised value of a given parcel, and not having the name of the deceased, to obtain the information instantly. Years of experience have demonstrated that by using the RECORD & GUIDE QUARTERLY time and annoyance are saved. It is equally valuable to the broker who maintains an elaborate system of keeping records, or the man who must condense his plant.

CHARLES F. NOYES CO. leased for the Zabriskie Estate, the 5-sty office building 133 to 137 Liberty st, northeast corner of Washington st, for 21 years at an aggregate rental of approximately $500,000. The property has frontages of 90 feet on Liberty st and 51 feet on Washington st. The lessees have engaged Sommefeld & Steckler, architects, to make extensive improvements. New fronts will be installed, and the building converted into a high grade office structure.

CHARLES F. NOYES CO. leased for Edmund L. Dwight and Charles D. Hilles the ground floor of the new Employers' Liability Insurance Company Building, 120 William st and 79 John st, for ten years from December 1, to T. Y. Brown & Co. at an aggregate rental of about $125,000.

CHARLES F. NOYES CO. leased for William K. Vanderbilt to Arthur S. Lewis, for a term of years, the ground floor store in 130 Nassau st, part of the Vanderbilt building; also, for a client to the Clifford Brass & Copper Co. the 5-sty building 259 Front st, at the southwest corner of Dover st.

OLD COLONY CLUB, an organization of several thousand business men, which during the last 3 years has occupied quarters in the Hotel Manhattan, on 42d st, will take new quarters in the Hotel Biltmore on July 19 next. The removal is caused by the leasing of the Manhattan to the National City Bank.

MARK OTTINGER and others leased to Young Bros., hatters, the store in 1456-1458 Broadway, adjoining the Hotel Knickerbocker, for a term of 21 years, at an aggregate rental of $600,000; also, the second and third floors to Doyle Billiard Parlors, and roof sign space to O. J. Gude. The rentals total $1,000,000. The property was leased to Schulte Cigar Stores and later subleased to the C. & L. and the St. Regis Restaurant companies.

PEASE & ELLIMAN leased for the Marcus Loew Realty Co. to the International Millinery Co., the store and basement in 1548 Broadway, adjoining the southeast corner of 46th st, and part of a plot covering almost the entire east block front on Broadway from 45th to 46th sts on which Mr. Loew is erecting a 16-sty store and theatre building. The lease of this store is for 20 years, and it brought about the rental at which it was held, $36,000 a year.

M. RAWLE CO. leased from William Goldstone 823 Seventh av, a 4-sty brownstone building, covering a lot 25.1¼x100, adjoining the northeast corner of West 53d st, for a term of 10 years, with option of purchase, at a rental of $7,000.

ROMAN-CALLMAN CO. leased for the Long Island Carpet Cleaning Co., 15,000 square feet on the second floor of their factory building at Webster and Seventh avs, Long Island City, to G. Piel Co., Inc., manufacturers of auto accessories.

JOHN H. SCHEIER leased the two 6-sty elevator buildings at 243 to 249 West 47th st for a term of 30 years and renewals, at a rental approximating $2,000,000, and is now completely renovating these properties into modern business structures.

SCHULTE CIGAR STORES CO. leased through Tankoos, Smith & Co. for a long term of years, at a rental aggregating $125,000, the entire property at the southeast corner of West Broadway and Reade st, and upon expiration of existing leases and completion of extensive alterations, will occupy the corner portion of the property as a branch establishment. The remainder of the ground floor and upper floors will be offered for lease.

HENRY A. C. TAYLOR leased to the Broadway Central Securities Corporation the store in 1656 Broadway, for a term of 21 years.

THE UPTOWN MOVEMENT of trade in recent years is strongly illustrated by Augustus W. Clarke, art dealer, leasing from Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt 42-44 East 58th st, the 2-sty building, covering a plot 50x100.5, and known as the Club De Vignt, as his business headquarters. The term is for 21 years. During the past 10 years Mr. Clarke's gallery has been at 5 West 44th st and for many years previous to that it was in Liberty st. The new quarters were long used as a dancing academy. The main part has a stage at one end. Mr. Clarke has made plans for a unique transformation of this stage. He will cut away the old floor and install a stage that revolves on a pivot. This will be divided by a partition. An object that is being sold will occupy the half of this stage that is next to the audience. When the hammer descends, the attendant will press a button and the stage will revolve, disclosing the next item, which has been put in place "behind the screens." At the same time an electric announcer will flash the catalogue number of the object.

MRS. FLORA L. Thomas, of Buffalo, N .Y., leased for a term of 21 years, to M. Montgomery Maze the southeast corner of Broadway and 63rd st, a 4-sty building on a plot 116.2x148.4. The total rental is $1,500,000. Joseph P. Day represented the lessor.

THE FORMER STABLE of the Fiss, Doerr & Carroll Horse Co. at 149 East 23d st has been leased by S. L. Frank for a term of 21 years at a net rental involving $130,000, to the C. & M. Lunch Co. Mr. Frank purchased the property at a foreclosure sale several months ago. Extensive alterations are planned.

The Extended Social Zone.

SOME of the private dwellings that figured in the voluntary auction sale at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Wednesday evening, June 16, are in the extended residential social zone that has been built up in recent years in the Sixty and Seventy streets east of Park avenue almost to Third avenue.

The shortage of medium-sized houses in the Fifth avenue residential neighborhood has driven many of the younger members of New York's social set further east for homes, with the result that a structural evolution has taken place among many of the old three and four story dwellings in this extended zone, and the new environment there is being added to weekly. Many of the sales in that section reported this week in The Record and Guide are to persons who will modernize and renovate their purchases.

NEW HOME OF M. MORGENTHAU, Jr.

M. Morgenthau, Jr., who has been instrumental in furthering the high class selling movement in this part of New York, has bought a four-story dwelling at 135 East 64th street, at the northwest corner of Lexington avenue, for occupancy. Frank Eaton Newman, architect, has prepared plans for the remodeling of this dwelling, together with the adjoining one, which will be merged with it, and it is herewith illustrated as it will look when completed.

The architect will endeavor to retain the colonial character of the houses, both in exterior and interior. The entrance will be on East 64th street, through a vestibule, and will open into a large foyer, from which there will be an entrance to the dining room, which will have a southerly and westerly exposure. An unusual feature of the house is that the floor below the street level, which is usually a cellar, opens up to the yard, and these yards are unusually airy, as there are no extensions on any of the houses in this group. The entire second floor will be used for living room and library, with the upper floors given over to masters' and servants' bedrooms and baths. In order to acquire this plot, which has a frontage of 80 feet on 64th street and 34 feet on Lexington avenue, it was necessary to purchase the adjoining four houses, 848, 850, 852 and 854 Lexington avenue. As these are not required, they were resold at the Night Auction Sale last Wednesday evening, June 16, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

BUILDING SECTION

Freight Rate Increases on Building Materials Unfair

National Federation of Construction Industries Petitions Interstate Commerce Commission to Correct Existing Inequalities

APPLICATIONS for increased revenues for railroads have been placed before the Interstate Commerce Commission by carriers from all parts of the United States. Should the Commission decide to grant an increase over the railroad freight schedules now in effect, it is felt by those interested in the progress of the building industry that these advances should be so applied as to distribute any inequalities in rates which have developed since 1914 with respect to some construction materials.

In order that the entire industry may benefit by an equitable readjustment of freight rates the National Federation of Construction Industries, comprising practically all of the national and other associations of business and professional men in the construction industry, has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission in the matter of the application of carriers for increased revenues for railroads which reads in part as follows:

"The National Federation of Construction Industries recognizes that at the present time the requirements of industry, commerce and agriculture are in excess of the capacity of the equipment and facilities of the railroads.

"It recognizes that until the rehabilitation of the railroads has been effected, every possible economy in the present use of equipment should be practiced through a fuller loading of cars and promptness in their loading and unloading.

"The construction industry, with the exception of agriculture, is the largest shipper in this country. The influence of its condition upon other branches of business is marked. Its activities extend into the smallest settlement. It is, however, essentially an industry which can flourish only in times of peace, and, accordingly, its contribution from the standpoint of warfare was for the most part classified as 'non-essential' during the period of the World War. As a result of this condition a heavy shortage of buildings, especially for residence purposes, now exists.

"In addition to the restrictions placed upon the industry during the war because of this classification, a number of the branches of the industry suffered a handicap from the standpoint of transportation through advances in freight rates, especially for short hauls, which in some cases amounted practically to an embargo of shipment.

"During the period of attempted national readjustment following the termination of active war, conditions apparently have been such as to have precluded the downward revision of these freight rates.

"It is asserted by some branches of the industry that if increases in freight charges on commodities in general between the years 1914 and 1920 were to be compared with the increases in freight charges, through the same period of time, on certain construction materials, it would be found that the increases in rates on the construction materials in question would be twice, and in some cases more than twice, the average increase in rates on all commodities.

"It is proposed that should the Commission determine that increases in freight rates are necessary to an improved transportation situation at this time, the distribution of additional freight charges should be so made as to eliminate any existing inequality of charges which affects adversely not only the producers of the construction materials in question, but also indirectly many other interests in the industry, and the consumer.

"It would be unnecessary to burden the Commission with the examination of such data as our constituent associations would wish to lay before it, unless the Commission had determined to grant additional freight charges.

"Should the Commission, however, decide upon such an action, the question would then resolve itself into one of determining what would be the most equitable distribution of such additional charges in order to produce the increased revenue found to be necessary. In the determination by the Commission of such equitable distribution of additional charges, the National Federation of Construction Industries and its constituent associations are strongly of the opinion that it would be necessary for the Commission to take into account the existing inequalities in freight rates above described and to examine the data above questioned.

"Wherefore, Your petitioner respectfully prays your honorable body, should the Commission decide to grant the applications of the carriers to give them increases in revenues through increased freight rates, that before a schedule of increased freight rates is made effective, the Commission will arrange for the Federation and such of its constituent associations as may desire to be heard, to present to the Commission their data and arguments relative to the transportation costs to be placed upon their respective construction materials."

Changes in Workmen's Compensation Insurance, June 30

New Manual of Rules, Classifications and Rates for Risks to Which They Apply Approved by Jesse S. Phillips, Superintendent of Insurance

JESSE S. PHILLIPS, Superintendent of Insurance, announces that he has approved the new manual of rules, classifications and rates for Workmen's Compensation Insurance submitted by the Compensation Inspection Rating Board, and effective June 30, 1920, as adequate for the risks to which they respectively apply.

Under Section 67, New York Insurance Law, the Superintendent of Insurance is not charged with the duty of making rates, nor is he, as is the case in some other states, charged with the responsibility of approving such rates as reasonable. Under the above section of the law his duty is limited to the approval of classifications and rates as adequate for the risks to which they respectively apply.

However, the question of adequacy necessarily depends to some extent upon a proper and equitable distribution of the premium load over the various classifications. Accordingly, the Actuary of the Insurance Department has participated in the proceedings of the various committees under whose direction the revision of the classifications and rates were made in order that the department might have a general knowledge of the accuracy of the statistical data and of the operations involved in producing rates therefrom.

The task of revising the manual and rates for New York and various other states was handled through the machinery of the National Council on Workmen's Compensation Insurance, which is a federation of the rating boards and bureaus throughout the United States which have to do with the Workmen's Compensation rate administration.

The combined experience upon which the new rates are based represents an aggregate payroll exposure of approximately $12,000,000,000, and losses of approximately $79,000,000 (about $116,000,000 after conversion to the New York level), which is the most comprehensive experience that has ever been compiled for the determination of Workmen's Compensation rates. The legislature of 1920 amended the compensation law in several respects increasing the benefits 10 per cent. The most important influence tending to reduce the pure premium cost is the general rise in wage levels since 1917. The factors (other than legislation) tending to increase the pure premium cost more than offset this influence. Some of the factors tending to increase the cost are an approximate 50 per cent. increase in the cost of medical treatment since 1917; the elimination of direct settlement; a court decision changing the basis of compensation in certain kinds of cases involving hand injuries; a new policy adopted by the State Industrial Commission with reference to compensation for certain finger injuries; and a growing tendency on the part of the Commission to make decisions and awards generally upon a much more liberal basis than formerly. These offsetting factors alone produce a net average increase of 4 per cent. in the collectible rates. The net result therefore of the revision is an average increase of 14.4 per cent. in the collectible rates, approximately 10 per cent. of which is due to the amendments above mentioned.

Out of 703 manual classifications involving over 88 per cent. of the New York payroll exposure, the rates have been decreased 15.1 per cent. on the average in 365 of the classifications involving 62 per cent. of the payrolls, while the rates have been increased 27.9 per cent. on the average in 335 classifications, involving 38 per cent. of the payrolls. Manual rates on the entire 703 classifications are increased on the average 5.2 per cent.

Architects and Engineers Report Many New Projects

Figures of F. W. Dodge Company Show Decided Increase in Number and Value of Proposed Operations for Local Territory

PREPARATION of plans for new building and engineering projects to be erected in the Metropolitan district took a decided spurt during the week of June 12 to 18, inclusive, despite the continued scarcity of cement, lime and other essential structural commodities. During the same week there was also a material increase in the volume of new construction actually placed under contract and, although building conditions are still upset on account of the intolerable freight situation and mortgage money is difficult to obtain, still the outlook is promising and as a whole the building industry is looking forward to better times within a short period of time.

Figures compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company, showing the number and value of new building and engineering projects in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, indicate increased activity in the architects' offices. Reports of 455 new operations were obtained from June 12 to 18 that will require an expenditure of approximately $16,253,900. During the same period 204 contracts were awarded representing a total commitment of $13,236,200.

The list of 455 projected building and engineering projects was divided as follows: 112 business buildings such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $4,489,000; 17 educational projects, $823,000; 9 hospitals and institutions, $212,000; 24 factory and industrial building, $1,414,000; 8 structures for the Army and Navy, $1,860,000; 4 public buildings, $67,000; 46 public work and public utilities, $2,160,000; 9 religious and memorial buildings, $449,500; 211 residential projects including apartments, flats and tenements and one and two-family dwellings, $3,535,900; 14 social and recreational projects, $1,238,500 and 1 miscellaneous, $5,000.

Among the 204 projects for which contracts were placed during the week of June 12 to 18 were included 47 business buildings of different types, $936,200; 13 educational projects such as schools, colleges, libraries, etc., $1,377,100; 6 hospitals and institutions, $735,000; 11 factory and industrial buildings, $896,000; 4 public buildings, $217,200; 24 public works and public utilities, $6,793,500; 4 religious and memorial projects, $190,000; 92 residential structures of various types, $2,037,200 and 3 social and recreational operations, $55,000.

Y., and after completing his studies in the public schools in that city entered the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, where he made a special study of the theories governing the manufacture of iron and steel, upon completion of which he became associated with James A. Farrel, now president of the United States Steel Corporation. When the American Steel & Wire Company was formed he became a salesman, covering a large territory and handling all lines of the company. Later he was for eight years manager of the company's sales office and warehouse in Buffalo.

Why Lumber Costs Are High.

In 1913 men's wages in the lumber industry were $28 to $32 per month; in 1919 they were $70 to $85 per month (both being in addition to board and housing), according to the New Brunswick Lumbermen's Association in accounting for the high cost of lumber, as quoted by the U. S. Consul at New Brunswick in Daily Commerce reports of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

"In 1913," the article continues, "stumpage was $1.50 and mileage $8; today we pay $3.50 stumpage, $8 mileage and $3.20 per mile for fire protection; also we have workmen's compensation for logging, river driving, rafting, milling and loading, with a separate rate on each, and this still further adds to the cost; in addition, we have the heavy business Dominion war tax."

The cost of the principal supplies that enter into a logging operation has increased on an average of more than 100 per cent. in 1920, as compared with 1913. This is true of flour, which advanced from $4.90 in 1913 to $11.20 in 1920, and of many other food articles; of hay and oats, as well as of axes, saws and other similar equipment.

Reject Court House Bids.

The Board of Estimate, at a special meeting Thursday, rejected the bids for granite work and steel construction on the new court house. Guy Lowell, chief architect for the Court House Commission, had previously told the Finance and Budget Committee that the granite work bid was excessive and that the bids for the foundation work and steel work were also high, but he added that inquiry among the larger concerns engaged in foundation and steel work had disclosed that the bids would be even higher if readvertised.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

ALTHOUGH some slight improvements in the general building situation, and particularly in the supply of structural commodities, have been noted during the past two or three weeks, much of the ground gained has been lost during the latter part of this week by the increased freight congestion in local railroad yards that has resulted from the revival of the yard workers' strike. Cement, lime, terra cotta, lath and other items are practically out of stock and dealers are absolutely unable to keep up with the demand. A further complication to the already intolerable building material situation is the shortage of coal at manufacturing points that is seriously handicapping the production of greatly needed building commodities. Local building material dealers are unable to predict early improvement in the situation and are making every effort to relieve the material famine where possible by making long hauls by truck. In some instances Portland cement, consigned to New York, has been side-tracked at Newark and other New Jersey points and dealers are hauling it in to the jobs in Greater New York. This involves a loss of time and also heavy delivery costs, but it is the only possible means of supplying jobs that otherwise would be forced to remain idle.

Common Brick—The past week in the wholesale market for Hudson River common brick has been rather a quiet period. Arrivals have not been up to the average of recent weeks and sales have fallen off also. One week ago considerable new inquiry indicated an early increase of buying activity throughout the Metropolitan district, but the railroad freight developments of the week seem to have affected buyers and as a result the market outlook is not so promising as it was. Common brick prices hold firmly to the $25 a thousand level and it is thought that this price will maintain until an advance is imperative on account of the increased manufacturing costs of the current season. Plants along the Hudson River are progressing quietly with the season's output, but the producers are troubled with the problem of inadequate labor supply and during the past week there have been rumors of fuel scarcity that, if true, will likely cause some further difficulty to the manufacturers.

Summary—Transactions in the North River common brick market for the week ending Friday, June 25, 1920. Condition of market: Demand slower; prices firm and unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $25 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 19; sales, 16. Distribution: Manhattan, 6; Bronx, 1; Brooklyn, 5; New Jersey points, 1. Remaining unsold, 24.

Portland Cement—During the past week the scarcity of this commodity became more acute as a result of the new embargoes placed by the railroads on all incoming freight and dealers are entirely out of stock. The situation is now so serious that jobs are being held up pending the delivery of cement and dealers are being forced to have shipments unloaded at Newark and other New Jersey points and making deliveries from there by motor truck. At the present writing there is but little prospect of an improvement in the cement supply situation until the freight situation has been readjusted and is again back on a normal basis.

Lime—Dealers are cleaned out and practically no new supply is coming into this city on account of the freight congestion in the local yards. Manufacturers are prevented from making new shipments on account of the embargoes, but dealers are endeavoring to have the cars side-tracked at Mt. Vernon and will deliver by truck from this point. At the present time the shortage is holding up a vast amount of residential construction, particularly in the Bronx and Queens, that had been planned for early autumn occupancy and speculative builders are suffering severely through a loss of time and interest on their investments while waiting for the required lime to complete their operations.

Gravel—Producers have again advanced the price on this commodity from $3.50 to $4.25 a cubic yard for deliveries in Greater New York. There is a fair demand for this material, but it is nothing like it would be if building operations were not generally hampered by a shortage of essential materials.

Structural Steel—The market is quiet as far as structural inquiries are concerned and no improvement is anticipated until there is a general revival of building activity in the Metropolitan district. At the present time large projects that would require heavy tonnages of fabricated material are being held up because of the scarcity of cement, lime and other items and although there is a tremendous amount of new work already planned and a large percentage of it actually under contract, it is doubtful if it will go ahead until next spring. The season is now quite late for the commencement of large structural operations and it is the general feeling that the majority of the jobs being held in abeyance will not go ahead until next spring, by which time it is hoped that the material supply situation will be readjusted and mortgage money will be more easily available than at present. New York prices for mill shipments of fabricated material are unchanged.

Roofing and Building Papers—Buying activity in this line has slowed down materially during the past week as a result of the recession of building brought about by the shortage of cement, lime and other essentials. Local dealers have also experienced considerable difficulty in obtaining deliveries from manufacturers and this has also been a contributing factor to the quietude of the market. There is no doubt of the vast amount of projected construction and dealers are assured of a tremendous increase in demand just as soon as these operations are able to get started. Roofing and building paper prices are firm and without change.

Nails—No change of any account has occurred during the past week. Nails are just as scarce as they have been despite promises of new mill deliveries and builders are considerably hampered in their plans by the famine. Advices from manufacturers indicate that no improvement in the nail supply is possible until the demand for heavy steel is somewhat abated and producers are again in a position to turn their attention to small items. Current prices for nails vary considerable and are altogether dependent upon the ability of the dealers to deliver.

Electrical Supplies—Business has been fairly brisk and dealers have excellent inquiries. Goods are being received from manufacturers in better volume and conditions will soon become normal it is thought if the freight situation continues to improve. Locally the demand from new building sources has fallen off to some extent, but this is largely due to the general shortage of essential structural commodities and will not maintain for any great length of time, as there is a vast amount of new construction planned that must be started as soon as supplies are available. Prices for electrical supplies are generally firm.

One Broadway

Another chapter was added recently to the interesting history of One Broadway when the Washington Building was purchased by the International Mercantile Marine Company. Alterations now under way will change this well known structure into an office building of the most modern type

Among the several changes, one of the most important is the passing of the private electric generating plant and hydraulic elevator equipment and the installation of Edison Service and motor driven elevators

An operating study by Edison Engineers showed the low cost of a Central Station served electrical equipment as compared with the old practice and resulted in the decision to change

If you are planning the alteration of an existing building or the erection of a new one we shall be glad to submit estimates of the cost of Edison Service

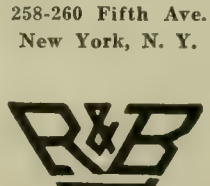
Let Us Tell You Something



Nobody can tell the rating of a boiler by looking at it. And nobody knows whether the rating placed upon it by the manufacturer is adequate or not until the boiler gets into actual operation. By that time it is usually too late to make a change.

RICHARDSON & BOYNTON CO.'S boilers are honestly rated. Besides that, they are famous as economical heaters. In the buildings that you are concerned with, it is important that you make no mistake on the rating of your heating system.

Write us for heating manuals which show you how to avoid mistakes in installing an adequate heating plant.

Why Large Buildings Install
MARBLELOID
"The Ideal Composition Flooring"
Marbleloid is being put into an ever increasing number of important buildings because it is a satisfactory and efficient flooring. Hard, dust-proof, durable, slow to chip or crack, it has the close texture that repels moisture and the pleasing appearance that brightens the office. Easily applied and inexpensive, it pays dividends from the day it is laid.
Where may we send you full information, samples and a list of Marbleloid installations?
